Reds Gain on Western Front Seoul Is Once Again in Peril

It Was Really Big Business for Horse Players, Say Raiders

The local set-up for playing horses raided yesterday afternoon was classed as an elaborate affair, with lines of communication extending to all sections of the country where the major race-tracks are located. Detective Clarence Brophy, left, examines one phone system with two officers from the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, Leonard Belmore, identifications officer, and Under-sheriff Clayton Vredenburgh. Police Raids Bring Eight Arrests on Gambling Charges

Three Places Are Visited by Officers; Bail Is Fixed by City Judge

A police move 10 days after the Chambers street catch, yesterday netted eight arrests and alleged horse room equipment in raids on three uptown places.

The raids came only a few hours after five men arrested following the police visit to 48 Chambers street on April 14, paid fines totalling $2,050 in City Court yesterday morning.

Switch board and telephone equipment, believed as elaborate as any ever confiscated in this area, were taken from upstairs quarters at 124 North Front street where the eight men were arrested.

Telephones Taken

Police also took telephones from a room at 43 Lucas avenue where doors were broken to gain entrance, but nothing was found at 356 Washington avenue. Officials are proceeding under the theory that all were under the one operation.

Arrested on charges of violating Section 986 of the Penal Law which deals with bets on the results of horse races were:

Alfred Mones, 48, of 188 Pearl street.

Edward Fenton, 41, town of Hurley.

Ben Coakman, 31, of 95 Green street.

Richard Margolis, 41, 63 Hasbrouck avenue.

Max Rosenberg, 46, of 95 Green street.

Samuel Stein, 53, of 565 East End avenue, New York.

Charles Fisher, 34, of 188 Pearl street.

Cases Adjourned

The men appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today without counsel and the case was adjourned until next Monday to allow them opportunity to be represented. Attorney John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office.

Bail was fixed yesterday at $500 each for all but Dolan and Rosenberg. It was set at $100 for the former and $250 for the latter. Today, however, bail for Rosenberg was boosted to $500, and was continued for the others in that amount.

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren said today the raids were conducted on "certain information" received by him. They were conducted with the cooperation of District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Sheriff Cluett Schantz.

Moore Group Receives Praise of Leading Teacher Units

The 1951 session of the New York State Legislature, following the pattern set during the last eight years, added another chapter to the glowing record in behalf of education compiled by the present Republican state administration, Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, said today.

"Now that the 30-day bill period is over and it is possible to assay the entire legislative picture," Senator Wicks said, "it might be a good time to point out the great forward strides made in education since 1943 and at the same time answer those carping critics who speak with factless, footloose and fancy-free phrases.

Revised Upward by Dewey

"The Friedsam formula, on which state aid to education is based, remained unchanged for 20 years under the Democrats and it was not revised until the Republicans took over the state government. State aid for education has been revised upward many times since Governor Dewey first took office with the result that appropriations have grown from $117 million in 1943-44 to $255 million for 1951-52.

"Recognizing that the children of today are our citizens of tomorrow, and that their education depends on a competent and happy force of teachers, the administration has taken broad steps to make certain that New York state children would have the best teachers possible.

"In 1947, the Republican Legislature passed and Governor Dewey signed a law increasing salaries from $300 to $800 a year and setting up a single salary schedule

Bard's President Says Many Are Too Young for College

JAMES H. CASE, JR.

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
(AP Education Reporter)

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—Most college students are too young for their breeches, says an outspoken American educator.

James H. Case, Jr., president of Bard College, says "It might be wiser if the average high school graduate waited until he was a little more mature before he began his college career."

The question is pointed up by current discussions concerning universal military training.

"The year or more a youth spends away from home and academic halls may mean the difference between aimless course-taking and education with a purpose," the educator explained in an interview.

The teens are the most turbulent years in life, Case pointed out, and "boys and girls in these stages for the most part lack purpose or motivation.

Still Are Undecided

"They are still undecided what their vocations should be. They are responsive to almost everything. They will accept almost anything fed to them by their instructors."

But a year or two later, "after social experiences such as army life has to offer, and partly because of the age difference, boys

Sharp Arguments on Korean Policy Hit New Peak in Congress

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Republicans called today for the bombing of Red China bases. Democrats questioned a report that Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had urged use of Chinese Nationalst troops in battle.

Hot argument over the conflicting views of President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur on how to fight the Korean war hit a new peak in Congress as a Communist offensive smashed at allied lines some 10,000 miles away.

In the oratorical infighting here, Senator Wiley (R.-Wis.) proposed that the United Nations be asked to approve aerial attacks on the Manchuria base "sanctuaries" about which MacArthur complained before Mr. Truman fired him as Pacific commander.

Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) asserted that if the UN "ever is to be victorious in Korea," Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa must be used in the battle against the Communist foe.

MacArthur has urged the use of Nationalist troops, air operations over Manchuria and blockade of the China coast. He told Congress it was his understanding that top military men—including the chiefs of staff—had shared his views in the past, from a military standpoint.

Agrees With Truman

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, has made it clear, however, he agrees with Mr. Truman such measures for expansion of the Korean fighting might lead to World War 3.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's chief adviser, tossed some flaming gasoline on this controversy. At a news conference in New York yesterday he

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson said today the American military aid to Chinese Nationalists on Formosa is being sent under an agreement that will be used for "internal security" or "legitimate self defense."

Board Increases Tuition Charge for Students in County

Yearly Costs Through 12th Grade to Be $88 per Pupil; Previous Price $40

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held Tuesday the tuition of non-resident students in the 7th through the 12th grades attending city schools has been increased to $88 per year or $44 per term. The previous charge was $40 per year.

This action is based on the 1951-52 school budget in which the estimated cost for educating a student is $362.14. The city will receive state aid in the sum of $274 and the tuition of $88 will make the total received for non-residents $362 per year.

Notice of the increase has been sent to all district superintendents and to trustees of school districts.

The increase, which is the first in 20 years, is due to the increased cost of education and is based on a state formula established through an appeal which was taken by Seneca Falls to a tuition increase. In that case the State Education Department laid down a rule upon which to base the cost of tuition. This rule is in accordance with Section 3605 of the Education Law. In making an increased charge for non-resident students the Kingston Board of Education based its tuition rate on the formula established by the Seneca Falls case.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, clerk of the board, sent the following communication to trustees and district superintendents today in which the reasons for the increase are cited:

It is generally known that the cost of operating and maintaining the public schools has increased considerably. During the past ten years, teachers salaries have increased over 100%. Fuel prices have increased over 50%. The prices paid for textbooks, school supplies, janitors supplies, etc. have all shown a similar rise in cost. Wages paid non-teaching personnel have also increased about 100%.

However, during all this period the Kingston Board of Education has made no change in its non-resident tutition charge, which rate was estabilised over twenty years ago. But now it is necessary to raise this rate.

Therefore, based upon the formula approved by the State Education Department, beginning in September 1951 the non-resident tutition charge for students attending the public schools in the city of Kingston will be at the rate of $88 per year, i. e. $44 per term. This rate was established by the Kingston Board of Education at a special meeting held on Tuesday, April 24th, 1951.

Army Discloses Drop in June Draft Call to 20,000 Men

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee approved today a $6,468,206,000 emergency defense budget and readied itself to consider another military request which may exceed $70,000,000,000.

The amount recommended today for House consideration starting tomorrow is for emergency purposes growing out of the stepped-up tempo of war in Korea. Most of it will be spent during May and June.

It is in addition to $48,000,000,000 already voted the military by Congress for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Military Budget to Come

In the immediate offing is the regular military budget for the year starting July 1. Military spokesmen have predicted it may reach almost $80,000,000,000, but the Appropriations Committee looks for it to be closer to $70,000,000,000. Even the lower figure would be $10,000,000,000 more

General Tells Soldiers of Their Superiority in Everything Save Big Numbers

Men Withdraw Rapidly and Rearguard Units Are Trapped

Tokyo, April 25 (AP)—Communist troop masses crushed forward alon the entire western half of a 100-mile battle front today in their third invasion of South Korea.

But to the east, counter-attacking allied tank columns stopped the Reds in their tracks and even hurled them back at some points.

On the west central front, United Nations pulled back abruptly and broke contact with the Reds. The withdrawal was so rapid some rear elements were trapped.

One was ambushed by Communists wearing white civilian garb or the blue denim uniforms of South Korean supply bearers.

In the extreme west, allies fell back in orderly fashion before swarms of Chinese, exploiting their Imjin river crossing. They were less than 25 miles north of Seoul, South Korean capital out of which refugees poured in dust clouded columns.

A tank-led relief column fought its way to a trapped UN battalion south of Imjin.

Forces Counterattack

Some UN forces counterattacked as Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, told his troops, "in three days of battle (you) have proven your superiority" over the 400,000 attacking Reds.

He expressed confidence the battle would be won by the allies' "enormous superiority in fire power and all types of weapons, in fact a tremendous superiority in everything except numbers."

The bulk of the Chinese in the west were pouring down the Yonchon-Uijongbu invasion route. This highway also leads to Seoul. Allied fighter planes and bombers attacked them all day long.

The most abrupt UN pullback was to the east of this road, in the west-central sector. There the allies broke contact with the Chinese just south of the 38th Parallel. Then they withdrew to new lines north of the threatened Seoul-Chunchon highway which approaches the capital from the east.

Ambush Is Sprung

The ambush by the disguised Reds was sprung during this withdrawal, just east of the Kumhwa - Uijongbu road. Allied artillery and warplanes cut up the Reds. But field dispatches said at least three Chinese divisions were streaming southward.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported the Reds made no frontal attack on the west central front. The only sound of battle came from allied artillery and the roar of airplanes.

Allied reinforcements and counterattacks plugged the hole on the central front. An estimated 100,000 Chinese, including big strapping fellows from the Manchurian plains, were halted seven miles south of 38.

A heavy allied counterattack smashed into Reds pouring down the main road toward Chunchon. A fierce battle began early in the morning and still raged in mid-afternoon.

Path Is Blasted

Southwest of abandoned Hwachon, U.N. artillery blasted a path for a counterattacking column. Allies who pulled back from the reservoir city wheeled and hit the Reds on the flank.

Communists attacking Yanggu at the eastern end of 11-mile-long Hwachon reservoir were stopped in their tracks.

And on the eastern battlefront, a UN tank column rolled northward into the town of Inje. Korean Reds who had captured the city abandoned it, choosing to fight instead from nearby hills. AP Correspondent Stan Carter said the allies appeared to have stabilized their line below the town.

Red advances were made by leap-frogging one division over another. Fresh troops pushed through dead wounded and fa-

Aide Says General Desires No Office

Whitney Reports Boomers Might as Well Quit Their Ballyhoo

New York, April 25 (AP) — An aide says those who insist on booming General Douglas MacArthur for the presidency had better "go home."

Major Gen. Courtney Whitney made the statement yesterday when asked by newsmen about a MacArthur-for-President Club opened here Monday.

During the day, MacArthur had visits from Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-Ohio), publisher Henry H. Luce, and the Right Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York.

MacArthur was expected to remain in his hotel again today, but his wife and their son, Arthur, 13, planned to see the New York Yankees play the Philadelphia Athletics at Yankee Stadium.

At the news conference yesterday, Whitney answered questions on the MacArthur-for-President movement.

MacArthur said in San Francisco last week he did "not intend to run for any political office" and that he hoped his name "will never be used in any political way."

Would Refer to Bible

Whitney said that if any one raised the question, MacArthur would tell the questioner to "go home and read the Bible," particularly the part about "doubting Thomas" (St. Thomas).

(Thomas was one of the 12 apostles. He refused to believe the resurrection unless he could feel with his hands the wounds left on the Risen Christ by the cross.

Rollback on Factory Charges Is Aim of Curb; New Move Will Come

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Nearly one-fourth of the American economy today went under a single sweeping price order which the government said was designed to roll back "the general level of manufacturers' prices."

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle expects the factory ceilings, covering 75,000 plants, to wipe out part of the runaway price boom that followed the Korean invasion.

The country will find, DiSalle predicted, that his office of price stabilization has "not been playing pat-a-cake with prices"—that in the months ahead people will realize "the whole program is tougher than they have been led to believe."

OPS will follow up with three more major ceilings within a week. These will cover machinery,

Corporation Counsel Asks Limiting of Sidewalk Suits

In a letter to be read at the next Common Council meeting, May 1, Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly will recommend the study of the advisability of a new local law limiting liability in cases concerning falls on sidewalks.

A copy of the letter made available to the press notes that in the past several months a great many claims have been filed against the city because of alleged defects in sidewalks, resulting in falls.

"The increase has been not only in the number of claims filed, but also in the damages sought," Connelly points out, recommending a solution to the liability problem.

Connelly also stated in his letter that he has made an investigation of the law in other cities and finds many have limited their liability. He cited investigations made in two communities, Poughkeepsie and Geneva.

The letter addressed to the Common Council follows in part:

"The slightest uneveness in a sidewalk might predicate a cause of action. I have been observing sidewalks throughout the city and it is my observation that very few sidewalks are smooth as glass and that most sidewalks have some slight uneveness. Almost all such uneven sidewalks present no hazard to the passerby. Thousands of people might use a sidewalk with a small hole in it, one person might fall and sue.

"The City of Kingston has the power under the Charter to cause

Sharp Arguments on Korean Policy Hit New Peak in Congress

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Republicans called today for the bombing of Red China bases. Democrats questioned a report that Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had urged use of Chinese Nationalst troops in battle.

Hot argument over the conflicting views of President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur on how to fight the Korean war hit a new peak in Congress as a Communist offensive smashed at allied lines some 10,000 miles away.

Board Increases Tuition Charge for Students in County

Yearly Costs Through 12th Grade to Be $88 per Pupil; Previous Price $40

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held Tuesday the tuition of non-resident students in the 7th through the 12th grades attending city schools has been increased to $88 per year or $44 per term. The previous charge was $40 per year.

This action is based on the 1951-52 school budget in which the estimated cost for educating a student is $362.14. The city will receive state aid in the sum of $274 and the tuition of $88 will make the total received for non-residents $362 per year.

Notice of the increase has been sent to all district superintendents and to trustees of school districts.

The increase, which is the first in 20 years, is due to the increased cost of education and is based on a state formula established through an appeal which was taken by Seneca Falls to a tuition increase. In that case the State Education Department laid down a rule upon which to base the cost of tuition. This rule is in accordance with Section 3605 of the Education Law. In making an increased charge for non-resident students the Kingston Board of Education based its tuition rate on the formula established by the Seneca Falls case.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, clerk of the board, sent the following communication to trustees and district superintendents today in which the reasons for the increase are cited:

It is generally known that the cost of operating and maintaining the public schools has increased considerably. During the past ten years, teachers salaries have increased over 100%. Fuel prices have increased over 50%. The prices paid for textbooks, school supplies, janitors supplies, etc. have all shown a similar rise in cost. Wages paid non-teaching personnel have also increased about 100%.

However, during all this period the Kingston Board of Education has made no change in its non-resident tutition charge, which rate was estabilised over twenty years ago. But now it is necessary to raise this rate.

Therefore, based upon the formula approved by the State Education Department, beginning in September 1951 the non-resident tutition charge for students attending the public schools in the city of Kingston will be at the rate of $88 per year, i. e. $44 per term. This rate was established by the Kingston Board of Education at a special meeting held on Tuesday, April 24th, 1951.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported the Reds made no frontal attack on the west central front. The only sound of battle came from allied artillery and the roar of airplanes.

Allied reinforcements and counterattacks plugged the hole on the central front. An estimated 100,000 Chinese, including big strapping fellows from the Manchurian plains, were halted seven miles south of 38.

A heavy allied counterattack smashed into Reds pouring down the main road toward Chunchon. A fierce battle began early in the morning and still raged in mid-afternoon.

Path Is Blasted

Southwest of abandoned Hwachon, U.N. artillery blasted a path for a counterattacking column. Allies who pulled back from the reservoir city wheeled and hit the Reds on the flank.

Communists attacking Yanggu at the eastern end of 11-mile-long Hwachon reservoir were stopped in their tracks.

And on the eastern battlefront, a UN tank column rolled northward into the town of Inje. Korean Reds who had captured the city abandoned it, choosing to fight instead from nearby hills. AP Correspondent Stan Carter said the allies appeared to have stabilized their line below the town.

Red advances were made by leap-frogging one division over another. Fresh troops pushed through dead wounded and fa-

Aide Says General Desires No Office

Whitney Reports Boomers Might as Well Quit Their Ballyhoo

New York, April 25 (AP) — An aide says those who insist on booming General Douglas MacArthur for the presidency had better "go home."

Major Gen. Courtney Whitney made the statement yesterday when asked by newsmen about a MacArthur-for-President Club opened here Monday.

During the day, MacArthur had visits from Sen. Robert A. Taft (R.-Ohio), publisher Henry H. Luce, and the Right Rev. Horace W. B. Donegan, Protestant Episcopal bishop of New York.

MacArthur was expected to remain in his hotel again today, but his wife and their son, Arthur, 13, planned to see the New York Yankees play the Philadelphia Athletics at Yankee Stadium.

At the news conference yesterday, Whitney answered questions on the MacArthur-for-President movement.

MacArthur said in San Francisco last week he did "not intend to run for any political office" and that he hoped his name "will never be used in any political way."

Would Refer to Bible

Whitney said that if any one raised the question, MacArthur would tell the questioner to "go home and read the Bible," particularly the part about "doubting Thomas" (St. Thomas).

(Thomas was one of the 12 apostles. He refused to believe the resurrection unless he could feel with his hands the wounds left on the Risen Christ by the cross.

Rollback on Factory Charges Is Aim of Curb; New Move Will Come

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Nearly one-fourth of the American economy today went under a single sweeping price order which the government said was designed to roll back "the general level of manufacturers' prices."

Price Director Michael V. DiSalle expects the factory ceilings covering 75,000 plants, to wipe out part of the runaway price boom that followed the Korean invasion.

The country will find, DiSalle predicted, that his office of price stabilization has "not been playing pat-a-cake with prices"—that in the months ahead people will realize "the whole program is tougher than they have been led to believe."

OPS will follow up with three more major ceilings within a week. These will cover machinery,

Army Discloses Drop in June Draft Call to 20,000 Men

Washington, April 25 (AP)—The House Appropriations Committee approved today a $6,468,206,000 emergency defense budget and readied itself to consider another military request which may exceed $70,000,000,000.

The amount recommended today for House consideration starting tomorrow is for emergency purposes growing out of the stepped-up tempo of war in Korea. Most of it will be spent during May and June.

It is in addition to $48,000,000,000 already voted the military by Congress for the fiscal year ending June 30.

Military Budget to Come

In the immediate offing is the regular military budget for the year starting July 1. Military spokesmen have predicted it may reach almost $80,000,000,000, but the Appropriations Committee looks for it to be closer to $70,000,000,000. Even the lower figure would be $10,000,000,000 more

Corporation Counsel Asks Limiting of Sidewalk Suits

In a letter to be read at the next Common Council meeting, May 1, Corporation Counsel James G. Connelly will recommend the study of the advisability of a new local law limiting liability in cases concerning falls on sidewalks.

A copy of the letter made available to the press notes that in the past several months a great many claims have been filed against the city because of alleged defects in sidewalks, resulting in falls.

"The increase has been not only in the number of claims filed, but also in the damages sought," Connelly points out, recommending a solution to the liability problem.

Connelly also stated in his letter that he has made an investigation of the law in other cities and finds many have limited their liability. He cited investigations made in two communities, Poughkeepsie and Geneva.

The letter addressed to the Common Council follows in part:

"The slightest uneveness in a sidewalk might predicate a cause of action. I have been observing sidewalks throughout the city and it is my observation that very few sidewalks are smooth as glass and that most sidewalks have some slight uneveness. Almost all such uneven sidewalks present no hazard to the passerby. Thousands of people might use a sidewalk with a small hole in it, one person might fall and sue.

It Was Really Big Business for Horse Players, Say Raiders

The local set-up for playing horses raided yesterday afternoon was classed as an elaborate affair, with lines of communication extending to all sections of the country where the major race-tracks are located. Detective Clarence Brophy, left, examines one phone system with two officers from the Ulster County Sheriff's Department, Leonard Belmore, identifications officer, and Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburgh. Police Raids Bring Eight Arrests on Gambling Charges

Three Places Are Visited by Officers; Bail Is Fixed by City Judge

A police move 10 days after the Chambers street catch, yesterday netted eight arrests and alleged horse room equipment in raids on three uptown places.

The raids came only a few hours after five men arrested following the police visit to 48 Chambers street on April 14, paid fines totalling $2,050 in City Court yesterday morning.

Switch board and telephone equipment, believed as elaborate as any ever confiscated in this area, were taken from upstairs quarters at 124 North Front street where the eight men were arrested.

Telephones Taken

Police also took telephones from a room at 43 Lucas avenue where doors were broken to gain entrance, but nothing was found at 356 Washington avenue. Officials are proceeding under the theory that all were under the one operation.

Arrested on charges of violating Section 986 of the Penal Law which deals with bets on the results of horse races were:

Alfred Mones, 48, of 188 Pearl street.

Edward Fenton, 41, town of Hurley.

Ben Coakman, 31, of 95 Green street.

Richard Margolis, 41, 63 Hasbrouck avenue.

Max Rosenberg, 46, of 95 Green street.

Samuel Stein, 53, of 565 East End avenue, New York.

Charles Fisher, 34, of 188 Pearl street.

Cases Adjourned

The men appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today without counsel and the case was adjourned until next Monday to allow them opportunity to be represented. Attorney John Larkin appeared for the district attorney's office.

Bail was fixed yesterday at $500 each for all but Dolan and Rosenberg. It was set at $100 for the former and $250 for the latter. Today, however, bail for Rosenberg was boosted to $500, and was continued for the others in that amount.

Police Chief Raymond VanBuren said today the raids were conducted on "certain information" received by him. They were conducted with the cooperation of District Attorney Louis G. Bruhn and Sheriff Cluett Schantz.

Equipment and evidence seized in the raids represent the biggest haul by local police in recent years and is currently cluttering

Moore Group Receives Praise of Leading Teacher Units

The 1951 session of the New York State Legislature, following the pattern set during the last eight years, added another chapter to the glowing record in behalf of education compiled by the present Republican state administration, Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, of this city, said today.

"Now that the 30-day bill period is over and it is possible to assay the entire legislative picture," Senator Wicks said, "it might be a good time to point out the great forward strides made in education since 1943 and at the same time answer those carping critics who speak with factless, footloose and fancy-free phrases.

Revised Upward by Dewey

"The Friedsam formula, on which state aid to education is based, remained unchanged for 20 years under the Democrats and it was not revised until the Republicans took over the state government. State aid for education has been revised upward many times since Governor Dewey first took office with the result that appropriations have grown from $117 million in 1943-44 to $255 million for 1951-52.

"Recognizing that the children of today are our citizens of tomorrow, and that their education depends on a competent and happy force of teachers, the administration has taken broad steps to make certain that New York state children would have the best teachers possible.

"In 1947, the Republican Legislature passed and Governor Dewey signed a law increasing salaries from $300 to $800 a year and setting up a single salary schedule

Bard's President Says Many Are Too Young for College

JAMES H. CASE, JR.

By DAVID TAYLOR MARKE
(AP Education Reporter)

Annandale-on-Hudson, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—Most college students are too young for their breeches, says an outspoken American educator.

James H. Case, Jr., president of Bard College, says "It might be wiser if the average high school graduate waited until he was a little more mature before he began his college career."

The question is pointed up by current discussions concerning universal military training.

"The year or more a youth spends away from home and academic halls may mean the difference between aimless course-taking and education with a purpose," the educator explained in an interview.

The teens are the most turbulent years in life, Case pointed out, and "boys and girls in these stages for the most part lack purpose or motivation.

Still Are Undecided

"They are still undecided what their vocations should be. They are responsive to almost everything. They will accept almost anything fed to them by their instructors."

But a year or two later, "after social experiences such as army life has to offer, and partly because of the age difference, boys

Sharp Arguments on Korean Policy Hit New Peak in Congress

Washington, April 25 (AP)—Republicans called today for the bombing of Red China bases. Democrats questioned a report that Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had urged use of Chinese Nationalst troops in battle.

Hot argument over the conflicting views of President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur on how to fight the Korean war hit a new peak in Congress as a Communist offensive smashed at allied lines some 10,000 miles away.

In the oratorical infighting here, Senator Wiley (R.-Wis.) proposed that the United Nations be asked to approve aerial attacks on the Manchuria base "sanctuaries" about which MacArthur complained before Mr. Truman fired him as Pacific commander.

Senator Hickenlooper (R.-Iowa) asserted that if the UN "ever is to be victorious in Korea," Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa must be used in the battle against the Communist foe.

MacArthur has urged the use of Nationalist troops, air operations over Manchuria and blockade of the China coast. He told Congress it was his understanding that top military men—including the chiefs of staff—had shared his views in the past, from a military standpoint.

Agrees With Truman

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs, has made it clear, however, he agrees with Mr. Truman such measures for expansion of the Korean fighting might lead to World War 3.

Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's chief adviser, tossed some flaming gasoline on this controversy. At a news conference in New York yesterday he

Yearly Costs Through 12th Grade to Be $88 per Pupil; Previous Price $40

At a special meeting of the Board of Education held Tuesday the tuition of non-resident students in the 7th through the 12th grades attending city schools has been increased to $88 per year or $44 per term. The previous charge was $40 per year.

This action is based on the 1951-52 school budget in which the estimated cost for educating a student is $362.14. The city will receive state aid in the sum of $274 and the tuition of $88 will make the total received for non-residents $362 per year.

Notice of the increase has been sent to all district superintendents and to trustees of school districts.

The increase, which is the first in 20 years, is due to the increased cost of education and is based on a state formula established through an appeal which was taken by Seneca Falls to a tuition increase. In that case the State Education Department laid down a rule upon which to base the cost of tuition. This rule is in accordance with Section 3605 of the Education Law. In making an increased charge for non-resident students the Kingston Board of Education based its tuition rate on the formula established by the Seneca Falls case.

Arthur J. Laidlaw, clerk of the board, sent the following communication to trustees and district superintendents today in which the reasons for the increase are cited:

It is generally known that the cost of operating and maintaining the public schools has increased considerably. During the past ten years, teachers salaries have increased over 100%. Fuel prices have increased over 50%. The prices paid for textbooks, school supplies, janitors supplies, etc. have all shown a similar rise in cost. Wages paid non-teaching personnel have also increased about 100%.

However, during all this period the Kingston Board of Education has made no change in its non-resident tutition charge, which rate was estabilsed over twenty years ago. But now it is necessary to raise this rate.

Therefore, based upon the formula approved by the State Education Department, beginning in September 1951 the non-resident tutition charge for students attending the public schools in the city of Kingston will be at the rate of $88 per year, i. e. $44 per term. This rate was established by the Kingston Board of Education at a special meeting held on Tuesday, April 24th, 1951.

Van Fleet Is Sure Allies Would Win

Men Withdraw Rapidly and Rearguard Units Are Trapped

Tokyo, April 25 (AP)—Communist troop masses crushed forward alon the entire western half of a 100-mile battle front today in their third invasion of South Korea.

But to the east, counter-attacking allied tank columns stopped the Reds in their tracks and even hurled them back at some points.

On the west central front, United Nations pulled back abruptly and broke contact with the Reds. The withdrawal was so rapid some rear elements were trapped.

One was ambushed by Communists wearing white civilian garb or the blue denim uniforms of South Korean supply bearers.

In the extreme west, allies fell back in orderly fashion before swarms of Chinese, exploiting their Imjin river crossing. They were less than 25 miles north of Seoul, South Korean capital out of which refugees poured in dust clouded columns.

A tank-led relief column fought its way to a trapped UN battalion south of Imjin.

Forces Counterattack

Some UN forces counterattacked as Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, told his troops, "in three days of battle (you) have proven your superiority" over the 400,000 attacking Reds.

He expressed confidence the battle would be won by the allies' "enormous superiority in fire power and all types of weapons, in fact a tremendous superiority in everything except numbers."

The bulk of the Chinese in the west were pouring down the Yonchon-Uijongbu invasion route. This highway also leads to Seoul. Allied fighter planes and bombers attacked them all day long.

The most abrupt UN pullback was to the east of this road, in the west-central sector. There the allies broke contact with the Chinese just south of the 38th Parallel. Then they withdrew to new lines north of the threatened Seoul-Chunchon highway which approaches the capital from the east.

Ambush Is Sprung

The ambush by the disguised Reds was sprung during this withdrawal, just east of the Kumhwa - Uijongbu road. Allied artillery and warplanes cut up the Reds. But field dispatches said at least three Chinese divisions were streaming southward.

AP Correspondent John Randolph reported the Reds made no frontal attack on the west central front. The only sound of battle came from allied artillery and the roar of airplanes.

Allied reinforcements and counterattacks plugged the hole on the central front. An estimated 100,000 Chinese, including big strapping fellows from the Manchurian plains, were halted seven miles south of 38.

A heavy allied counterattack smashed into Reds pouring down the main road toward Chunchon. A fierce battle began early in the morning and still raged in mid-afternoon.

Path Is Blasted

Southwest of abandoned Hwachon, U.N. artillery blasted a path for a counterattacking column. Allies who pulled back from the reservoir city wheeled and hit the Reds on the flank.

Communists attacking Yanggu at the eastern end of 11-mile-long Hwachon reservoir were stopped in their tracks.

And on the eastern battlefront, a UN tank column rolled northward into the town of Inje. Korean Reds who had captured the city abandoned it, choosing to fight instead from nearby hills. AP Correspondent Stan Carter said the allies appeared to have stabilized their line below the town.

AP Bureau Chief Missing at Prague

London, April 25 (AP)—William Oatis, Associated Press chief of bureau at Prague, has been missing since Monday and efforts to trace him have been fruitless so far.

The United States Embassy at Prague told the London office of the Associated Press by phone today that it had asked the Czech foreign office to help locate him.

Oatis, 36, is from Marion, Ind. He was first employed by the AP in 1937 and after working in the Indianapolis, New York and London offices, went to Prague last June.

One of two Czech employes remaining in the A.P. Prague Bureau reported by telephone that Oatis had not returned after leaving his office Monday afternoon and that inquiries at his hotel brought only the reply that "Mr. Oatis is not here."

A telephone call to the Prague hotel from Frankfurt brought the same reply.

One of Oatis' American colleagues in Prague said he was last seen going to an appointment with Rudolf Popper, foreign press chief in the Czechoslovak Ministry of Information.

This correspondent, Russell Jones of United Press, reported that inquiries to Popper about Oatis' whereabouts brought "only very vague replies."

The embassy said it had done everything possible to discover what had happened to Oatis. It said the foreign office press section reported that it had not previously been informed of Oatis' disappearance.

Death Toll 104

Yokohama, Japan, April 25 (AP)—The death toll in yesterday's tragic train fire has mounted to 104. Three American soldiers were among the victims when a power line ignited a wooden coach. First reports had listed seven GIs as victims but the figure was revised. Passengers were trapped when the electric door controls short-circuited.

French Lead India Visitors

New Delhi (AP) — Frenchmen formed the largest single group among the 3,386 Europeans who visited India during 1950. Home Minister C. Rajagopalachari told Parliament that of the 539 Frenchmen who visited India 38 were tourists. Others were businessmen, missionaries, dentists, artists and officials. Eighty-five Russians visited India in 1950. The home minister said that 3,892 visas were granted to Americans during the same year.

Central Railroad Host to Pack 3, St. Joseph's Cubs

In connection with the nation-wide theme of "Railroad Month" for the Cub Scouts of America, the New York Central Railroad was host to St. Joseph's Cub Pack No. 3 on Sunday afternoon, April 22.

Through the courtesy of John Ferra, terminal foreman of the local New York Central Railroad terminal located at the North Yards, and also Edward Finch and Oscar Wolfersteig, all employes of the New York Central system, over 20 Cub Scouts were taken on a personally conducted tour of the round house and maintenance shops of the railroad by Mr. Ferra. He explained operational details and the different routines in connection with the servicing of the rolling stock of railroad.

The trip included a detailed inspection of one of the new Diesel-type locomotives. The scouts were shown the operation of turntable at the yards and the highlight of the visit was a short ride in the cab of one of the Diesel locomotives. Each Cub Scout was given a copy of the March issue of the New York Central magazine "Headlight," on the front page of which is featured an article concerning the "Railroad" theme of the National Cub Scout educational program.

The Scouts were under the supervision of members of Troop 3 Committee and included, William Leehive, William Sill, Edmund T. Cloonan; also, James Millard, William A. Kelly and Thomas Ryan.

The Cub Scouts of Pack 3 are sincerely indebted to the New York Central Railroad and particularly to their terminal foreman, John Ferra, for a most interesting and educational trip, the scout committee said.

As a conclusion to the "Railroad" theme for the month of April, the Cub Scouts of Pack 3 will be host to representatives of the Kingston Model Railroad Club at the monthly Pack meeting to be held on Monday, April 30, at 8 p. m., in St. Joseph's School auditorium. An interesting program including a description of the work of the club and motion pictures has been arranged.

Yokohama, Japan, April 25 (AP)—The death toll in yesterday's tragic train fire has mounted to 104. Three American soldiers were among the victims when a power line ignited a wooden coach. First reports had listed seven GIs as victims but the figure was revised. Passengers were trapped when the electric door controls short-circuited.

French Lead India Visitors

New Delhi (AP) — Frenchmen formed the largest single group among the 3,386 Europeans who visited India during 1950. Home Minister C. Rajagopalachari told Parliament that of the 539 Frenchmen who visited India 38 were tourists. Others were businessmen, missionaries, dentists, artists and officials. Eighty-five Russians visited India in 1950. The home minister said that 3,892 visas were granted to Americans during the same year.

Central Railroad Host to Pack 3, St. Joseph's Cubs

In connection with the nationwide theme of "Railroad Month" for the Cub Scouts of America, the New York Central Railroad was host to St. Joseph's Cub Pack No. 3 on Sunday afternoon, April 22.

Through the courtesy of John Ferra, terminal foreman of the local New York Central Railroad terminal located at the North Yards, and also Edward Finch and Oscar Wolfersteig, all employes of the New York Central system, over 20 Cub Scouts were taken on a personally conducted tour of the round house and maintenance shops of the railroad by Mr. Ferra. He explained operational details and the different routines in connection with the servicing of the rolling stock of railroad.

The trip included a detailed inspection of one of the new Diesel-type locomotives. The scouts were shown the operation of turntable at the yards and the highlight of the visit was a short ride in the cab of one of the Diesel locomotives. Each Cub Scout was given a copy of the March issue of the New York Central magazine "Headlight," on the front page of which is featured an article concerning the "Railroad" theme of the National Cub Scout educational program.

The Scouts were under the supervision of members of Troop 3 Committee and included, William Leehive, William Sill, Edmund T. Cloonan; also, James Millard, William A. Kelly and Thomas Ryan.

The Cub Scouts of Pack 3 are sincerely indebted to the New York Central Railroad and particularly to their terminal foreman, John Ferra, for a most interesting and educational trip, the scout committee said.

As a conclusion to the "Railroad" theme for the month of April, the Cub Scouts of Pack 3 will be host to representatives of the Kingston Model Railroad Club at the monthly Pack meeting to be held on Monday, April 30, at 8 p. m., in St. Joseph's School auditorium. An interesting program including a description of the work of the club and motion pictures has been arranged.

CARRYING ON IN JAPAN

The policy of the United States government toward the occupation of Japan and the administration of the internal policy of that country is not to be changed with the removal of General MacArthur, says John Foster Dulles, presidential envoy to Japan. He reassured Japanese leaders that the plan to conclude an early peace treaty will continue as if MacArthur were still in command.

Regardless of what has happened between the President and MacArthur with respect to Korea, it would seem wise to pursue the internal policy course he set for Japan, since it has apparently succeeded so well so far. There can be little doubt that replacing MacArthur will have its effect on the situation in Japan. He was held in high regard by the Japanese leaders and by the general public. The administration is acting wisely in following through on the course he set.

Firmness, wisdom and justice earned respect for General MacArthur, who went to Tokyo as a conqueror. The same qualities, if perpetuated, can make the job of his successor equally effective. It is important that the work of physical and political rehabilitation in Japan not be interrupted.

AN AFFRONT TO GOOD TASTE

Protocol doesn't demand otherwise, but it would have been nice if President Truman could have seen his way clear to designating someone other than Maj.-Gen. Harry Vaughan to greet General MacArthur on his Washington arrival.

Vaughan is indeed the President's military aide and as such is supposed to perform such ceremonial duties as greeting returning heroes and visiting dignitaries. But "Deep Freeze" Harry Vaughan has gone so far toward casting off his own dignity that it's hard to see how he can be expected to lend any to such occasions.

Mr. Truman probably did not intend this as a snub to MacArthur, since the President is too keenly aware of the political dynamite in the whole affair. There was no precedent in recent history compelling the President himself to greet the general at the airport. He did not meet General Eisenhower or any other World War II hero who came home ahead of MacArthur.

What it boils down to is that Mr. Truman badly needs a new military aide. All Americans must cringe with embarrassment at the sight of one of its finest generals being welcomed in the President's name by a man with very questionable, to say the least, moral standards.

UP-TO-DATE KANSAS CITY

Kansas City has done something remarkable. It has defeated the once dominant Pendergast machine for the third time, and kept in power the non-partisan good-government group which has governed the city since 1940.

Not many American cities persist in well doing. When roused, they can turn out the political gangs, any gangs, no matter how deeply entrenched. The harder task is to keep the gangs out. Usually the new government disappoints followers here and there, either by cutting off privileges or by injudicious appointments, or by some failure to handle a pressing city problem. The disgruntled voters then turn back in disgust or apathy to the old crowd.

New York City has gone through this experience time and again. It has repeatedly turned out Tammany, but not until La Guardia came along did it keep Tammany out. Honor therefore is due to Kansas City for its persistence in well doing.

Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska has moved a few inches nearer. The Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs has recommended for passage bills admitting them to the Union. The next task is to get them on the Senate schedule of bills to be considered. Then comes the actual vote, and following that a favorable report by a House committee, passage by the House, and signing by President Truman. The last step is the only assured one, as the President has been steadily in favor of making both Hawaii and Alaska states.

There's always someone else whose problems are worse, according to a common rationalization. And it's probably all right as long as you are not the someone else.

One saving of grace of the war menace is that it takes our minds off inflation, and one saving grace of inflation is that it takes our minds off the war menace.

'These Days'

AMERICANISMS

I often wonder what drives a scholar to do such a job as the production of "A Dictionary of Americanisms on Historical Principles." The two volumes consist of about 2,000 pages and deal with words which have been added to the English language in the United States.

Having heard a Damon Runyon story on the radio and being an occasional guest at Lindy's on Broadway, I looked for "bagel" and even for "beigel." I could not find it, nor could I find lox, which disturbed me no end. For if Broadway is not American, then beigel and lox are not Americanisms. I know that some go for hot dogs and some for chile con carne, but on Broadway, it is beigel and lox from City Hall for more than 15 miles to the Henry Hudson Bridge.

Instead of lox, I found a definition of a lucy stoner, which is a gal who, although married, insists upon using her maiden name, to everybody's confusion. Nobody knows how to address an invitation to a lucy stoner and her husband, and when the wife is more famous, the poor husband goes through life as Mr. Lucy Stoner.

This dictionary marks "free lunch" as obsolete, which is altogether true. The only thing free in the United States is the air we breathe, and the beauty of the sky. Yet, the very phrase, "free lunch," raises a nostalgic tear. Very young people will never know how good a free lunch could be and that it was actually free and came with nickel beer. And the beer was full and rich. Those days are over and now we pay for everything.

Well, I looked through these fat volumes of an evening when I sought escape from such speeches as General Omar Bradley delivered in Chicago. No military man can possibly believe in a stalemated war and I could not help wondering why a fine man like General Bradley would say such a thing. Funny, the things that happen to a man in high office!

So I found that "Hail Columbia" is a synonym for the expletive, "Hell!" and that took me back what seems to me to be a century or two when women used to say politely, "I'll give him hail Columbia!" That was to avoid saying such a bad word as hell. Imagine what those sweet ladies would have thought if they heard what President Truman said about Drew Pearson and the kind of words that have to be used to get a good curtain on a second act.

Maybe words don't count, but when I saw, in this dictionary, that a half-dollar is worth 50 cents, I wondered what the book is talking about. Now, anybody knows that a half-dollar won't buy in 1951 anything like 50 cents in purchasing power. Nobody knows what a half-dollar is worth today; it's always going down when you go to a store. Used to be that a family could get plenty to eat for half a dollar; there was a time when a good workman got a dollar a day and a full dinner pail.

It would seem from the record that it was back in those days that immigrants from all over the world steamed into this country because conditions were so favorable here, compared with the countries they came from. Life was pretty good here and we were a friendly folk and thought that one man was as good as another. Nobody worried about security in those days because nobody ever heard of it. A man took his chances with life and made his way as best he could, usually by hard work, long hours, thrift, and imagination. Some, of course, failed. But nobody knew about this thing called security, which, as we know, cannot be guaranteed by anyone or anything.

If you can afford to buy this book and want to enjoy an argument with your wife on how things started, get hold of these two volumes. They could be an antidote for canasta; they could be a respite from the Truman-Acheson government that reigns over us. You might even discover why those who want war call it peace. There is a little item in this book which reads:

"In order to work the Negro with greater facility in the interest of Osborn and his gang, this secret league was named the Lincoln Brotherhood."

It's an old trick.

By James W. Barton, M.D.

FOODS CAUSING SYMPTOMS OF ALLERGY

Now that allergy is an important subject of discussion among physicians, there is considerable controversy as to whether foods or substances floating in the air cause head colds and nose, throat and chest symptoms. Entering into the controversy also is whether skin tests of suspected foods or actual eating of the foods is the best method of locating which is to blame in any case.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Harry Leibowitz, Alexander Chest, and Harry Markow, Brooklyn, N. Y., report their study of 70 patients with head colds, nose, throat and chest symptoms, on whom almost 4,000 skin tests were made. Each patient was tested with a total of 56 individual food extracts. There were 34 children and 36 adults. After the skin tests were made, the patients were fed various foods to see which ones caused the nose, throat, and chest (respiratory) symptoms.

These food research workers found that in some cases in which the skin tests of a food were strongly positive, the actual eating of this food caused only slight symptoms or no symptoms at all. Thus, lettuce (which in these later years is being suspected of causing many respiratory, stomach and intestinal symptoms), while standing first as a cause by skin tests, stood eleventh as a cause of allergic symptoms when it was eaten.

Another finding that may surprise many was that skin testing with chocolate showed only slight symptoms where the eating of chocolate stood first as a cause of symptoms.

Still another interesting finding was that fish and nuts by skin tests showed few positives and the highest number of negatives, yet it is well known, and actual eating of these foods by this group of patients showed that fish and nuts were a frequent cause of allergic symptoms.

Another surprising finding which differs with the findings of other food research workers was that wheat, milk and eggs did not cause allergic symptoms although most of us have friends or relatives who are allergic to one or all of these foods. While skin tests and actual eating of the foods to find foods causing symptoms undergo further investigation, it is worth while to remember the foods that give a positive reaction (caused symtoms) both by the skin test and clinical trial (eating the food) in the order in which actual allergic symptoms occurred: (1) chocoate, (2) tomato, (3) pineapple, (4) corn, (5) spinach, (6) banana, (7) cherry, (8) pepper, (9) coffee, (10) apple, (11) lettuce.

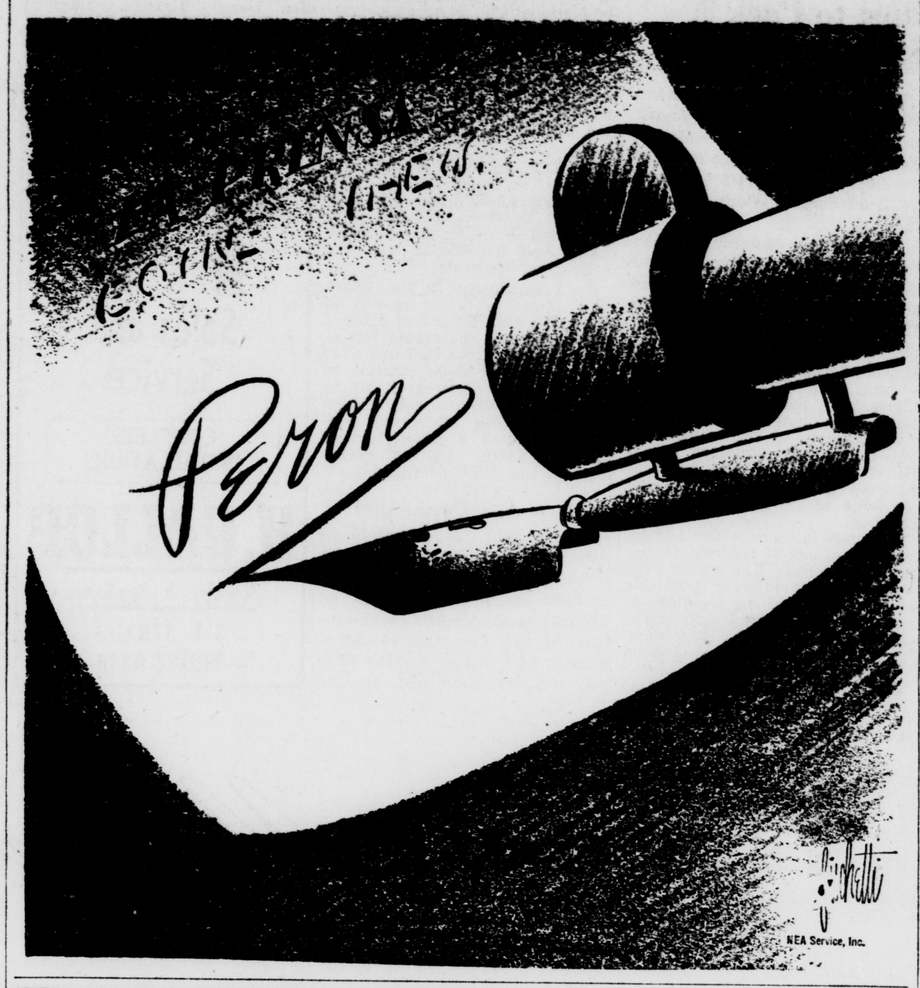
The New Owner Signs the Lease



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—A highlight of the current Truman-MacArthur controversy is the New York Times story summarizing the conversations between the two men at Wake Island.

Because the New York Times story had the earmarks of being leaked out by the White House, some MacArthur proponents have challenged it, while MacArthur states that no records were made of the conversations on Wake Island.

In view of this controversy, the Washington Merry-Go-Round's account of the Wake Island conference, published on Jan. 23, some months prior to the Times' April 21 account, may be significant. For the President can hardly be accused of any partiality toward this writer except in his choice of cuss words.

Writing at that time—three months before the Truman-MacArthur controversy—I reported that:

1. MacArthur was so sure of victory he promised General Bradley that he would transfer one full division to Europe.

2. MacArthur assured the President the Chinese would not intervene.

3. MacArthur expected to get his troops back to the United States by Christmas.

4. Because of the certainty of victory, much of the conference was devoted to plans for reconstructing Korea.

5. Highlight of the Wake Island meeting was the brilliant conversation of one man. MacArthur completely dominated the conversation.

What They Said

Because the Wake Island conference now appears to be playing such an important part in the Truman-MacArthur controversy, the salient portions of my Jan. 23 Wake Island column follow:

The President of the United States flew halfway round the world to confer with General MacArthur, yet aside from a few conversational pleasantries reported by accompanying newsmen, nothing has been published regarding what happened on this mid-Pacific island.

The direct talks between MacArthur and President Truman took place with no one else present; no stenographic notes were taken. It is next to impossible, therefore, to report accurately what happened. Furthermore, the stenographic notes made of the more extended conversations between Truman, MacArthur, General Bradley, and the other military men are still so secret that each copy is numbered.

However, I believe it is important that the American people know what took place at Wake Island; so herewith I shall report some of the conversations recorded in these notes.

Only one clue was given in the more extended conversation as to what Truman and MacArthur talked about in their private meeting. This was when someone asked the President about Formosa, and he cut further discussion short with the curt reply:

"General MacArthur and I have discussed Formosa already and we are in complete agreement on the subject."

The trend of discussion in the rest of the conference was that a military victory was already in the bag. Almost more time was given to a discussion of Korean rehabilitation, therefore, than to military strategy. When it came to the latter, General MacArthur dominated the conversation.

"The North Koreans," he explained, "have about 15,000 guerrillas left in the south, but the winter will take care of most of them. The others are a beaten force. They are only fighting to save face. It goes against the grain to have to destroy them."

Home by Christmas

MacArthur assured Truman that he could "finish the job in North Korea" in a short time. According to the stenographic notes he said:

"I hope to be able to have the 8th Army back in Japan by Christmas. I may be able to send a convoy into Pyongyang immediately."

At this point, President Truman asked: "What about Chinese intervention?"

MacArthur's reply was: "They could have intervened earlier when it would have been decisive, but that time has passed. We are no longer fearful of their intervention. Although there are several hundred thousand along the Yalu river, it is not likely that they could cause us much trouble."

He also implied that he could "take care" of the Chinese, even if they decided to cross the Yalu river.

At the same time MacArthur described his plans for completing the conquest of Korea, he also argued against keeping American troops in Korea.

Obviously this raised the question of why march across the frozen North Korean wastes to the Yalu river if the plan was to march right back again in time to return the 8th Army to Japan by Christmas. However, no one at the Wake island conference seemed to challenge MacArthur regarding this risky move.

MacArthur's advice on the future of Korea was: "We should turn Korea over to the Koreans as quickly as we can and get out as quickly as we can.

"Korea is a poor country," he said, "and we cannot afford to impose an occupation on them.... military occupations are always failures. I want to withdraw all our troops as soon as possible."

Troops To Europe

At one point, Gen. Omar Bradley asked whether MacArthur could make any troops available for Europe in the next few months.

MacArthur replied: "Yes, I think a division can be made available early in 1951."

Bradley also remarked that he hoped MacArthur wouldn't have the same trouble he had with American pilots in Europe shooting up railroad bridges that were needed later for rehabilitation.

"I have had the same trouble," MacArthur replied. The stenographic notes show laughter at this point.

Only other laughter came when John Muccio, U. S. Ambassador to Korea, proposed using sound trucks for propaganda purposes to sell democracy to the Korean people. This prompted the President to observe:

"I believe in sound trucks. I won two elections with them."

Highlight of the Wake island meeting was the brilliant exposition of one man. MacArthur completely dominated the conversation, and virtually no effort was made to challenge his opinions.

Perhaps also this was the most tragic part of the conference.

Disorganization and Disunity Called Tragic in American Government at Present

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 25 — The state of disorganization and disunity in the American government today in indescribably tragic.

The lack of leadership is a manifest obstacle to cooperation even between those elements which favor the same international policy. The White House has failed signally to keep foreign policy out of politics and has accentuated a deep cleavage between the two major parties.

For, whether President Truman intended it or not, he has, in effect decreed that the minority party in America must be prevented from knowing the facts about the government and particularly the facts about our war operations.

Though it will be repeatedly denied, the truth is that the principal offense of General MasArthur was in answering a letter from Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin. Apparently members of the armed services hereafter must not answer any letters from Congress except those from Democrats.

Two Democratic senators — Douglas of Illinois and Lehman of New York—take the position that the letter which General MacArthur wrote in answer to one from Representative Martin was an act of military insubordination and was in disregard of the "civil authority" of the United States.

This is a strange view for two men to express who are supposed to be "liberals" and who spend a good deal of their time denouncing the Hitler and Stalin concept of a single political party. Evidently, as Senator Douglas told his constituents, General MacArthur had no right to reply to Mr. Martin's request for his views. Senator Lehman cites the letter to Martin specifically as a ground for dismissal of MacArthur and says thus the "civil authority was challenged."

Evidently the Congress of the United States is not a civil authority—or at least the Republican party isn't a part of it. Yet in Korea the sons of Republicans are being killed, just as are the sons of Democrats.

There is no hope for unity when two important senators adopt the view that it is a violation of the military code of the United States to communicate with members of Congress who happen to be in the minority party and for the latter to make public the letters they write—not on military details, but on broad policy questions.

The letter to Representative Martin was a routine answer to what appeared to be a routine inquiry. General MacArthur had said the same things publicly many times before and also in his official reports. But because the press emphasized the incident, President Truman chose to make an issue of it, though he could just as well have ignored the affair and sent for MacArthur so as to argue out the differences, if possible, in a personal conference.

What is more serious is that there are influential members of the Democratic party who actually believe that America today is and must be governed by a single person. They include in the power of the presidency the right to stifle discussion and they insist, in effect, that members of the armed services are not to be permitted to say anything publicly which is at variance with the "party line" as proclaimed by the President or his advisers.

If the minority party has any assertiveness at all, it will accept the challenge and bring the real issue to the attention of the country. It concerns the fundamental right of the American people to get the truth of what is happening in the making of public policy.

The American people do not even know how MacArthur was dismissed and by whose recommendation. An effort has been made to give the impression that the joint chiefs did it. Actually Messrs. Acheson, Rusk and Harriman—the foreign-policy command—are primarily responsible for influencing the President to fire MacArthur forthwith. When the congressional committees put every member of the joint chiefs on the stand, as they inevitably must, they will learn that there is no record of military insubordination and that differences of policy alone led to the political decision by Mr. Truman to make a change in command in the Far East.

It is because the Democrats have insisted on distorting the issue and have continually tried to pin a "warmonger" label on General MacArthur—very much as the Communists do to most Americans nowadays—that the bitterness on Capitol Hill is increasing instead of diminishing.

Opening lead—♥5

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

One of the most instructive hands of the recent Eastern States tournament showed how experts stay out of trouble. At the first table George Rapee, holding North cards, made an immediate jump takeout to two diamonds, thus showing a hand that was at least as strong as an opening no-trumper.

The South hand was held by Sam Stayman, author of "Expert Bidding," one of the finest bridge books that has appeared in many years. Stayman counted up his hand and noted that it was a near-minimum. No slam was likely unless his partner could push past the game level. Hence Stayman put the brakes on at once with a rebid of two no-trump.

Rapee next showed his club support, whereupon Stayman could afford to show a fit for diamonds. Now Rapee bid three no-trump to show the exact nature of his hand: balanced distribution, strength in at least three suits, biddable values in the two minors, and a total value of only what he had announced at his first bid. With even one queen more, Rapee would have bid four no-trump to indicate his extra strength.

Stayman was content to pass, and the hand was played comfortably at game. As it happened the opening lead gave him three heart tricks, the jack of spades dropped, and a successful diamond guess brought in four diamond tricks. But even though Stayman actually won thirteen tricks, he was satisfied with the game contract. If the East-West cards are shuffled up and redealt several times, the North-South cards will produce a slam less than half the time.

In the second room, the North-South cards were held by a very experienced pair. Nevertheless, they got themselves tangled up and managed to land in a final contract of six clubs. That contract was, of course, easily defeated.

Try the North-South cards with your bridge-playing friends. Give the North cards to one, and the South cards to another, and see whether they manage to suggest a slam without actually reaching one.

CARRYING ON IN JAPAN

The policy of the United States government toward the occupation of Japan and the administration of the internal policy of that country is not to be changed with the removal of General MacArthur, says John Foster Dulles, presidential envoy to Japan. He reassured Japanese leaders that the plan to conclude an early peace treaty will continue as if MacArthur were still in command.

Regardless of what has happened between the President and MacArthur with respect to Korea, it would seem wise to pursue the internal policy course he set for Japan, since it has apparently succeeded so well so far. There can be little doubt that replacing MacArthur will have its effect on the situation in Japan. He was held in high regard by the Japanese leaders and by the general public. The administration is acting wisely in following through on the course he set.

Firmness, wisdom and justice earned respect for General MacArthur, who went to Tokyo as a conqueror. The same qualities, if perpetuated, can make the job of his successor equally effective. It is important that the work of physical and political rehabilitation in Japan not be interrupted.

AN AFFRONT TO GOOD TASTE

Protocol doesn't demand otherwise, but it would have been nice if President Truman could have seen his way clear to designating someone other than Maj.-Gen. Harry Vaughan to greet General MacArthur on his Washington arrival.

Vaughan is indeed the President's military aide and as such is supposed to perform such ceremonial duties as greeting returning heroes and visiting dignitaries. But "Deep Freeze" Harry Vaughan has gone so far toward casting off his own dignity that it's hard to see how he can be expected to lend any to such occasions.

Mr. Truman probably did not intend this as a snub to MacArthur, since the President is too keenly aware of the political dynamite in the whole affair. There was no precedent in recent history compelling the President himself to greet the general at the airport. He did not meet General Eisenhower or any other World War II hero who came home ahead of MacArthur.

What it boils down to is that Mr. Truman badly needs a new military aide. All Americans must cringe with embarrassment at the sight of one of its finest generals being welcomed in the President's name by a man with very questionable, to say the least, moral standards.

UP-TO-DATE KANSAS CITY

Kansas City has done something remarkable. It has defeated the once dominant Pendergast machine for the third time, and kept in power the non-partisan good-government group which has governed the city since 1940.

Not many American cities persist in well doing. When roused, they can turn out the political gangs, any gangs, no matter how deeply entrenched. The harder task is to keep the gangs out. Usually the new government disappoints followers here and there, either by cutting off privileges or by injudicious appointments, or by some failure to handle a pressing city problem. The disgruntled voters then turn back in disgust or apathy to the old crowd.

New York City has gone through this experience time and again. It has repeatedly turned out Tammany, but not until La Guardia came along did it keep Tammany out. Honor therefore is due to Kansas City for its persistence in well doing.

Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska has moved a few inches nearer. The Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs has recommended for passage bills admitting them to the Union. The next task is to get them on the Senate schedule of bills to be considered. Then comes the actual vote, and following that a favorable report by a House committee, passage by the House, and signing by President Truman. The last step is the only assured one, as the President has been steadily in favor of making both Hawaii and Alaska states.

There's always someone else whose problems are worse, according to a common rationalization. And it's probably all right as long as you are not the someone else.

One saving of grace of the war menace is that it takes our minds off inflation, and one saving grace of inflation is that it takes our minds off the war menace.

AMERICANISMS

I often wonder what drives a scholar to do such a job as the production of "A Dictionary of Americanisms on Historical Principles." The two volumes consist of about 2,000 pages and deal with words which have been added to the English language in the United States.

Having heard a Damon Runyon story on the radio and being an occasional guest at Lindy's on Broadway, I looked for "bagel" and even for "beigel." I could not find it, nor could I find lox, which disturbed me no end. For if Broadway is not American, then beigel and lox are not Americanisms. I know that some go for hot dogs and some for chile con carne, but on Broadway, it is beigel and lox from City Hall for more than 15 miles to the Henry Hudson Bridge.

Instead of lox, I found a definition of a lucy stoner, which is a gal who, although married, insists upon using her maiden name, to everybody's confusion. Nobody knows how to address an invitation to a lucy stoner and her husband, and when the wife is more famous, the poor husband goes through life as Mr. Lucy Stoner.

This dictionary marks "free lunch" as obsolete, which is altogether true. The only thing free in the United States is the air we breathe, and the beauty of the sky. Yet, the very phrase, "free lunch," raises a nostalgic tear. Very young people will never know how good a free lunch could be and that it was actually free and came with nickel beer. And the beer was full and rich. Those days are over and now we pay for everything.

Well, I looked through these fat volumes of an evening when I sought escape from such speeches as General Omar Bradley delivered in Chicago. No military man can possibly believe in a stalemated war and I could not help wondering why a fine man like General Bradley would say such a thing. Funny, the things that happen to a man in high office!

So I found that "Hall Columbia" is a synonym for the expletive, "Hell!" and that took me back what seems to me to be a century or two when women used to say politely, "I'll give him hail Columbia!" That was to avoid saying such a bad word as hell. Imagine what those sweet ladies would have thought if they heard what President Truman said about Drew Pearson and the kind of words that have to be used to get a good curtain on a second act.

Maybe words don't count, but when I saw, in this dictionary, that a half-dollar is worth 50 cents, I wondered what the book is talking about. Now, anybody knows that a half-dollar won't buy in 1951 anything like 50 cents in purchasing power. Nobody knows what a half-dollar is worth today; it's always going down when you go to a store. Used to be that a family could get plenty to eat for half a dollar; there was a time when a good workman got a dollar a day and a full dinner pail.

It would seem from the record that it was back in those days that immigrants from all over the world steamed into this country because conditions were so favorable here, compared with the countries they came from. Life was pretty good here and we were a friendly folk and thought that one man was as good as another. Nobody worried about security in those days because nobody ever heard of it. A man took his chances with life and made his way as best he could, usually by hard work, long hours, thrift, and imagination. Some, of course, failed. But nobody knew about this thing called security, which, as we know, cannot be guaranteed by anyone or anything.

If you can afford to buy this book and want to enjoy an argument with your wife on how things started, get hold of these two volumes. They could be an antidote for canasta; they could be a respite from the Truman-Acheson government that reigns over us. You might even discover why those who want war call it peace. There is a little item in this book which reads:

"In order to work the Negro with greater facility in the interest of Osborn and his gang, this secret league was named the Lincoln Brotherhood."

It's an old trick.

FOODS CAUSING SYMPTOMS OF ALLERGY

Now that allergy is an important subject of discussion among physicians, there is considerable controversy as to whether foods or substances floating in the air cause head colds and nose, throat and chest symptoms. Entering into the controversy also is whether skin tests of suspected foods or actual eating of the foods is the best method of locating which is to blame in any case.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Harry Leibowitz, Alexander Chest, and Harry Markow, Brooklyn, N. Y., report their study of 70 patients with head colds, nose, throat and chest symptoms, on whom almost 4,000 skin tests were made. Each patient was tested with a total of 56 individual food extracts. There were 34 children and 36 adults. After the skin tests were made, the patients were fed various foods to see which ones caused the nose, throat, and chest (respiratory) symptoms.

These food research workers found that in some cases in which the skin tests of a food were strongly positive, the actual eating of this food caused only slight symptoms or no symptoms at all. Thus, lettuce (which in these later years is being suspected of causing many respiratory, stomach and intestinal symptoms), while standing first as a cause by skin tests, stood eleventh as a cause of allergic symptoms when it was eaten.

Another finding that may surprise many was that skin testing with chocolate showed only slight symptoms where the eating of chocolate stood first as a cause of symptoms.

Still another interesting finding was that fish and nuts by skin tests showed few positives and the highest number of negatives, yet it is well known, and actual eating of these foods by this group of patients showed that fish and nuts were a frequent cause of allergic symptoms.

Another surprising finding which differs with the findings of other food research workers was that wheat, milk and eggs did not cause allergic symptoms although most of us have friends or relatives who are allergic to one or all of these foods. While skin tests and actual eating of the foods to find foods causing symptoms undergo further investigation, it is worth while to remember the foods that give a positive reaction (caused symtoms) both by the skin test and clinical trial (eating the food) in the order in which actual allergic symptoms occurred: (1) chocoate, (2) tomato, (3) pineapple, (4) corn, (5) spinach, (6) banana, (7) cherry, (8) pepper, (9) coffee, (10) apple, (11) lettuce.

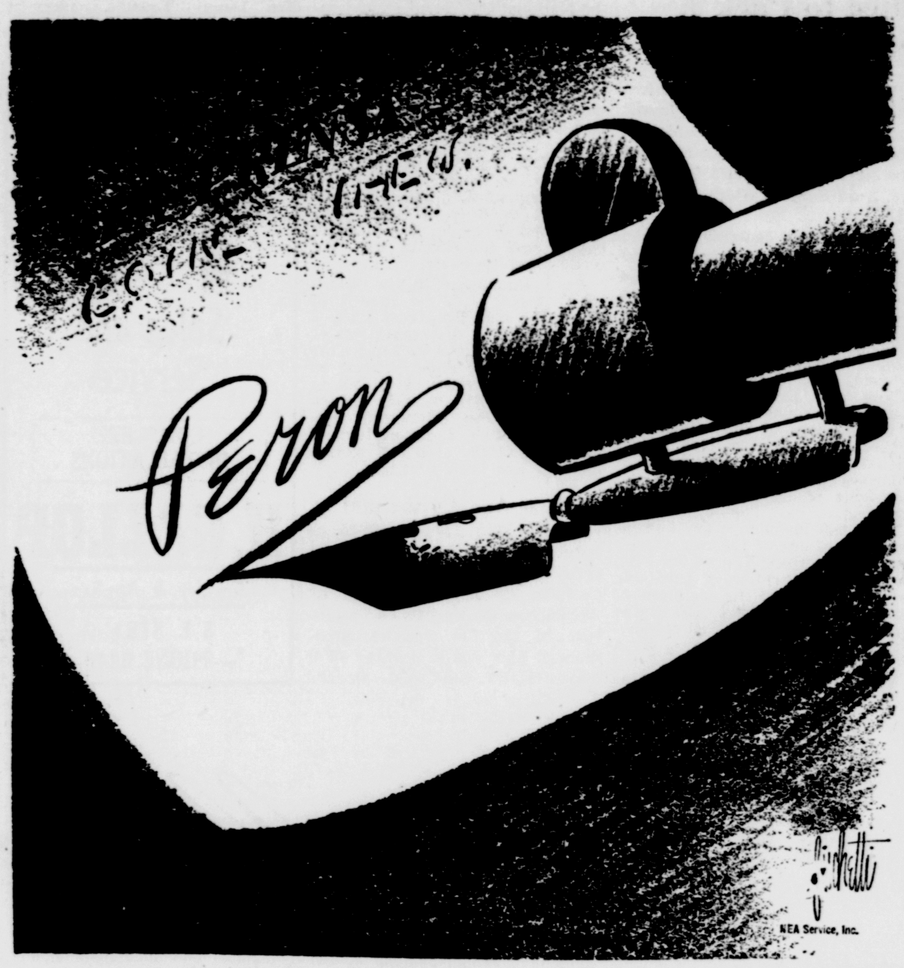
The New Owner Signs the Lease



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—A highlight of the current Truman-MacArthur controversy is the New York Times story summarizing the conversations between the two men at Wake Island.

Because the New York Times story had the earmarks of being leaked out by the White House, some MacArthur proponents have challenged it, while MacArthur states that no records were made of the conversations on Wake Island.

In view of this controversy, the Washington Merry-Go-Round's account of the Wake Island conference, published on Jan. 23, some months prior to the Times' April 21 account, may be significant. For the President can hardly be accused of any partiality toward this writer except in his choice of cuss words.

Writing at that time—three months before the Truman-MacArthur controversy—I reported that:

1. MacArthur was so sure of victory he promised General Bradley that he would transfer one full division to Europe.

2. MacArthur assured the President the Chinese would not intervene.

3. MacArthur expected to get his troops back to the United States by Christmas.

4. Because of the certainty of victory, much of the conference was devoted to plans for reconstructing Korea.

5. Highlight of the Wake Island meeting was the brilliant conversation of one man. MacArthur completely dominated the conversation.

What They Said

Because the Wake Island conference now appears to be playing such an important part in the Truman-MacArthur controversy, the salient portions of my Jan. 23 Wake Island column follow:

The President of the United States flew halfway round the world to confer with General MacArthur, yet aside from a few conversational pleasantries reported by accompanying newsmen, nothing has been published regarding what happened on this mid-Pacific island.

The direct talks between MacArthur and President Truman took place with no one else present; no stenographic notes were taken. It is next to impossible, therefore, to report accurately what happened. Furthermore, the stenographic notes made of the more extended conversations between Truman, MacArthur, General Bradley, and the other military men are still so secret that each copy is numbered.

However, I believe it is important that the American people know what took place at Wake Island; so herewith I shall report some of the conversations recorded in these notes.

Only one clue was given in the more extended conversation as to what Truman and MacArthur talked about in their private meeting. This was when someone asked the President about Formosa, and he cut further discussion short with the curt reply:

"General MacArthur and I have discussed Formosa already and we are in complete agreement on the subject."

The trend of discussion in the rest of the conference was that a military victory was already in the bag. Almost more time was given to a discussion of Korean rehabilitation, therefore, than to military strategy. When it came to the latter, General MacArthur dominated the conversation.

"The North Koreans," he explained, "have about 15,000 guerrillas left in the south, but the winter will take care of most of them. The others are a beaten force. They are only fighting to save face. It goes against the grain to have to destroy them."

Home by Christmas

MacArthur assured Truman that he could "finish the job in North Korea" in a short time. According to the stenographic notes he said:

"I hope to be able to have the 8th Army back in Japan by Christmas. I may be able to send a convoy into Pyongyang immediately."

At this point, President Truman asked: "What about Chinese intervention?"

MacArthur's reply was: "They could have intervened earlier when it would have been decisive, but that time has passed. We are no longer fearful of their intervention. Although there are several hundred thousand along the Yalu river, it is not likely that they could cause us much trouble."

He also implied that he could "take care" of the Chinese, even if they decided to cross the Yalu river.

At the same time MacArthur described his plans for completing the conquest of Korea, he also argued against keeping American troops in Korea.

Obviously this raised the question of why march across the frozen North Korean wastes to the Yalu river if the plan was to march right back again in time to return the 8th Army to Japan by Christmas. However, no one at the Wake island conference seemed to challenge MacArthur regarding this risky move.

MacArthur's advice on the future of Korea was: "We should turn Korea over to the Koreans as quickly as we can and get out as quickly as we can.

"Korea is a poor country," he said, "and we cannot afford to impose an occupation on them ... military occupations are always failures. I want to withdraw all our troops as soon as possible."

Troops To Europe

At one point, Gen. Omar Bradley asked whether MacArthur could make any troops available for Europe in the next few months.

MacArthur replied: "Yes, I think a division can be made available early in 1951."

Bradley also remarked that he hoped MacArthur wouldn't have the same trouble he had with American pilots in Europe shooting up railroad bridges that were needed later for rehabilitation.

"I have had the same trouble," MacArthur replied. The stenographic notes show laughter at this point.

Only other laughter came when John Muccio, U. S. Ambassador to Korea, proposed using sound trucks for propaganda purposes to sell democracy to the Korean people. This prompted the President to observe:

"I believe in sound trucks. I won two elections with them."

Highlight of the Wake island meeting was the brilliant exposition of one man. MacArthur completely dominated the conversation, and virtually no effort was made to challenge his opinions.

Perhaps also this was the most tragic part of the conference.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 25 — The state of disorganization and disunity in the American government today in indescribably tragic.

The lack of leadership is a manifest obstacle to cooperation even between those elements which favor the same international policy. The White House has failed signally to keep foreign policy out of politics and has accentuated a deep cleavage between the two major parties.

For, whether President Truman intended it or not, he has, in effect decreed that the minority party in America must be prevented from knowing the facts about the government and particularly the facts about our war operations.

Though it will be repeatedly denied, the truth is that the principal offense of General MasArthur was in answering a letter from Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin. Apparently members of the armed services hereafter must not answer any letters from Congress except those from Democrats.

Two Democratic senators — Douglas of Illinois and Lehman of New York—take the position that the letter which General MacArthur wrote in answer to one from Representative Martin was an act of military insubordination and was in disregard of the "civil authority" of the United States.

This is a strange view for two men to express who are supposed to be "liberals" and who spend a good deal of their time denouncing the Hitler and Stalin concept of a single political party. Evidently, as Senator Douglas told his constituents, General MacArthur had no right to reply to Mr. Martin's request for his views. Senator Lehman cites the letter to Martin specifically as a ground for dismissal of MacArthur and says thus the "civil authority was challenged."

Evidently the Congress of the United States is not a civil authority—or at least the Republican party isn't a part of it. Yet in Korea the sons of Republicans are being killed, just as are the sons of Democrats.

There is no hope for unity when two important senators adopt the view that it is a violation of the military code of the United States to communicate with members of Congress who happen to be in the minority party and for the latter to make public the letters they write—not on military details, but on broad policy questions.

The letter to Representative Martin was a routine answer to what appeared to be a routine inquiry. General MacArthur had said the same things publicly many times before and also in his official reports. But because the press emphasized the incident, President Truman chose to make an issue of it, though he could just as well have ignored the affair and sent for MacArthur so as to argue out the differences, if possible, in a personal conference.

What is more serious is that there are influential members of the Democratic party who actually believe that America today is and must be governed by a single person. They include in the power of the presidency the right to stifle discussion and they insist, in effect, that members of the armed services are not to be permitted to say anything publicly which is at variance with the "party line" as proclaimed by the President or his advisers.

If the minority party has any assertiveness at all, it will accept the challenge and bring the real issue to the attention of the country. It concerns the fundamental right of the American people to get the truth of what is happening in the making of public policy.

The American people do not even know how MacArthur was dismissed and by whose recommendation. An effort has been made to give the impression that the joint chiefs did it. Actually Messrs. Acheson, Rusk and Harriman—the foreign-policy command—are primarily responsible for influencing the President to fire MacArthur forthwith. When the congressional committees put every member of the joint chiefs on the stand, as they inevitably must, they will learn that there is no record of military insubordination and that differences of policy alone led to the political decision by Mr. Truman to make a change in command in the Far East.

It is because the Democrats have insisted on distorting the issue and have continually tried to pin a "warmonger" label on General MacArthur—very much as the Communists do to most Americans nowadays—that the bitterness on Capitol Hill is increasing instead of diminishing.

One of the most instructive hands of the recent Eastern States tournament showed how experts stay out of trouble. At the first table George Rapee, holding North cards, made an immediate jump takeout to two diamonds, thus showing a hand that was at least as strong as an opening no-trumper.

The South hand was held by Sam Stayman, author of "Expert Bidding," one of the finest bridge books that has appeared in many years. Stayman counted up his hand and noted that it was a near-minimum. No slam was likely unless his partner could push past the game level. Hence Stayman put the brakes on at once with a rebid of two no-trump.

Rapee next showed his club support, whereupon Stayman could afford to show a fit for diamonds. Now Rapee bid three no-trump to show the exact nature of his hand: balanced distribution, strength in at least three suits, biddable values in the two minors, and a total value of only what he had announced at his first bid. With even one queen more, Rapee would have bid four no-trump to indicate his extra strength.

Stayman was content to pass, and the hand was played comfortably at game. As it happened the opening lead gave him three heart tricks, the jack of spades dropped, and a successful diamond guess brought in four diamond tricks. But even though Stayman actually won thirteen tricks, he was satisfied with the game contract. If the East-West cards are shuffled up and redealt several times, the North-South cards will produce a slam less than half the time.

In the second room, the North-South cards were held by a very experienced pair. Nevertheless, they got themselves tangled up and managed to land in a final contract of six clubs. That contract was, of course, easily defeated.

Try the North-South cards with your bridge-playing friends. Give the North cards to one, and the South cards to another, and see whether they manage to suggest a slam without actually reaching one.

The administration is acting wisely in following through on the course he set.

Firmness, wisdom and justice earned respect for General MacArthur, who went to Tokyo as a conqueror. The same qualities, if perpetuated, can make the job of his successor equally effective. It is important that the work of physical and political rehabilitation in Japan not be interrupted.

AN AFFRONT TO GOOD TASTE

Protocol doesn't demand otherwise, but it would have been nice if President Truman could have seen his way clear to designating someone other than Maj.-Gen. Harry Vaughan to greet General MacArthur on his Washington arrival.

Vaughan is indeed the President's military aide and as such is supposed to perform such ceremonial duties as greeting returning heroes and visiting dignitaries. But "Deep Freeze" Harry Vaughan has gone so far toward casting off his own dignity that it's hard to see how he can be expected to lend any to such occasions.

Mr. Truman probably did not intend this as a snub to MacArthur, since the President is too keenly aware of the political dynamite in the whole affair. There was no precedent in recent history compelling the President himself to greet the general at the airport. He did not meet General Eisenhower or any other World War II hero who came home ahead of MacArthur.

What it boils down to is that Mr. Truman badly needs a new military aide. All Americans must cringe with embarrassment at the sight of one of its finest generals being welcomed in the President's name by a man with very questionable, to say the least, moral standards.

UP-TO-DATE KANSAS CITY

Kansas City has done something remarkable. It has defeated the once dominant Pendergast machine for the third time, and kept in power the non-partisan good-government group which has governed the city since 1940.

Not many American cities persist in well doing. When roused, they can turn out the political gangs, any gangs, no matter how deeply entrenched. The harder task is to keep the gangs out. Usually the new government disappoints followers here and there, either by cutting off privileges or by injudicious appointments, or by some failure to handle a pressing city problem. The disgruntled voters then turn back in disgust or apathy to the old crowd.

New York City has gone through this experience time and again. It has repeatedly turned out Tammany, but not until La Guardia came along did it keep Tammany out. Honor therefore is due to Kansas City for its persistence in well doing.

Statehood for Hawaii and Alaska has moved a few inches nearer. The Senate Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs has recommended for passage bills admitting them to the Union. The next task is to get them on the Senate schedule of bills to be considered. Then comes the actual vote, and following that a favorable report by a House committee, passage by the House, and signing by President Truman. The last step is the only assured one, as the President has been steadily in favor of making both Hawaii and Alaska states.

There's always someone else whose problems are worse, according to a common rationalization. And it's probably all right as long as you are not the someone else.

One saving of grace of the war menace is that it takes our minds off inflation, and one saving grace of inflation is that it takes our minds off the war menace.

AMERICANISMS

I often wonder what drives a scholar to do such a job as the production of "A Dictionary of Americanisms on Historical Principles." The two volumes consist of about 2,000 pages and deal with words which have been added to the English language in the United States.

Having heard a Damon Runyon story on the radio and being an occasional guest at Lindy's on Broadway, I looked for "bagel" and even for "beigel." I could not find it, nor could I find lox, which disturbed me no end. For if Broadway is not American, then beigel and lox are not Americanisms. I know that some go for hot dogs and some for chile con carne, but on Broadway, it is beigel and lox from City Hall for more than 15 miles to the Henry Hudson Bridge.

Instead of lox, I found a definition of a lucy stoner, which is a gal who, although married, insists upon using her maiden name, to everybody's confusion. Nobody knows how to address an invitation to a lucy stoner and her husband, and when the wife is more famous, the poor husband goes through life as Mr. Lucy Stoner.

This dictionary marks "free lunch" as obsolete, which is altogether true. The only thing free in the United States is the air we breathe, and the beauty of the sky. Yet, the very phrase, "free lunch," raises a nostalgic tear. Very young people will never know how good a free lunch could be and that it was actually free and came with nickel beer. And the beer was full and rich. Those days are over and now we pay for everything.

Well, I looked through these fat volumes of an evening when I sought escape from such speeches as General Omar Bradley delivered in Chicago. No military man can possibly believe in a stalemated war and I could not help wondering why a fine man like General Bradley would say such a thing. Funny, the things that happen to a man in high office!

So I found that "Hail Columbia" is a synonym for the expletive, "Hell!" and that took me back what seems to me to be a century or two when women used to say politely, "I'll give him hail Columbia!" That was to avoid saying such a bad word as hell. Imagine what those sweet ladies would have thought if they heard what President Truman said about Drew Pearson and the kind of words that have to be used to get a good curtain on a second act.

Maybe words don't count, but when I saw, in this dictionary, that a half-dollar is worth 50 cents, I wondered what the book is talking about. Now, anybody knows that a half-dollar won't buy in 1951 anything like 50 cents in purchasing power. Nobody knows what a half-dollar is worth today; it's always going down when you go to a store. Used to be that a family could get plenty to eat for half a dollar; there was a time when a good workman got a dollar a day and a full dinner pail.

It would seem from the record that it was back in those days that immigrants from all over the world steamed into this country because conditions were so favorable here, compared with the countries they came from. Life was pretty good here and we were a friendly folk and thought that one man was as good as another. Nobody worried about security in those days because nobody ever heard of it. A man took his chances with life and made his way as best he could, usually by hard work, long hours, thrift, and imagination. Some, of course, failed. But nobody knew about this thing called security, which, as we know, cannot be guaranteed by anyone or anything.

If you can afford to buy this book and want to enjoy an argument with your wife on how things started, get hold of these two volumes. They could be an antidote for canasta; they could be a respite from the Truman-Acheson government that reigns over us. You might even discover why those who want war call it peace. There is a little item in this book which reads:

"In order to work the Negro with greater facility in the interest of Osborn and his gang, this secret league was named the Lincoln Brotherhood."

It's an old trick.

FOODS CAUSING SYMPTOMS OF ALLERGY

Now that allergy is an important subject of discussion among physicians, there is considerable controversy as to whether foods or substances floating in the air cause head colds and nose, throat and chest symptoms. Entering into the controversy also is whether skin tests of suspected foods or actual eating of the foods is the best method of locating which is to blame in any case.

In The Journal of the American Medical Association, Drs. Harry Leibowitz, Alexander Chest, and Harry Markow, Brooklyn, N. Y., report their study of 70 patients with head colds, nose, throat and chest symptoms, on whom almost 4,000 skin tests were made. Each patient was tested with a total of 56 individual food extracts. There were 34 children and 36 adults. After the skin tests were made, the patients were fed various foods to see which ones caused the nose, throat, and chest (respiratory) symptoms.

These food research workers found that in some cases in which the skin tests of a food were strongly positive, the actual eating of this food caused only slight symptoms or no symptoms at all. Thus, lettuce (which in these later years is being suspected of causing many respiratory, stomach and intestinal symptoms), while standing first as a cause by skin tests, stood eleventh as a cause of allergic symptoms when it was eaten.

Another finding that may surprise many was that skin testing with chocolate showed only slight symptoms where the eating of chocolate stood first as a cause of symptoms.

Still another interesting finding was that fish and nuts by skin tests showed few positives and the highest number of negatives, yet it is well known, and actual eating of these foods by this group of patients showed that fish and nuts were a frequent cause of allergic symytoms.

Another surprising finding which differs with the findings of other food research workers was that wheat, milk and eggs did not cause allergic symptoms although most of us have friends or relatives who are allergic to one or all of these foods. While skin tests and actual eating of the foods to find foods causing symptoms undergo further investigation, it is worth while to remember the foods that give a positive reaction (caused symtoms) both by the skin test and clinical trial (eating the food) in the order in which actual allergic symptoms occurred: (1) chocoate, (2) tomato, (3) pineapple, (4) corn, (5) spinach, (6) banana, (7) cherry, (8) pepper, (9) coffee, (10) apple, (11) lettuce.

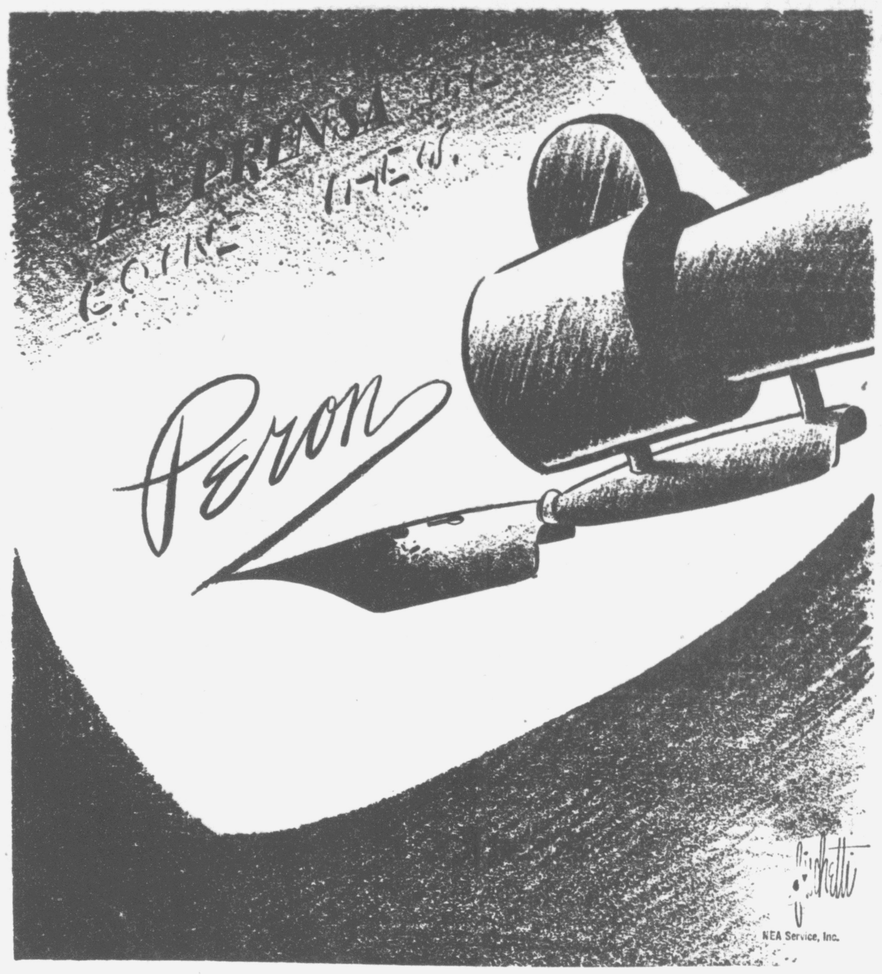
The New Owner Signs the Lease



The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—A highlight of the current Truman-MacArthur controversy is the New York Times story summarizing the conversations between the two men at Wake Island.

Because the New York Times story had the earmarks of being leaked out by the White House, some MacArthur proponents have challenged it, while MacArthur states that no records were made of the conversations on Wake Island.

In view of this controversy, the Washington Merry-Go-Round's account of the Wake Island conference, published on Jan. 23, some months prior to the Times' April 21 account, may be significant. For the President can hardly be accused of any partiality toward this writer except in his choice of cuss words.

Writing at that time—three months before the Truman-MacArthur controversy—I reported that:

1. MacArthur was so sure of victory he promised General Bradley that he would transfer one full division to Europe.

2. MacArthur assured the President the Chinese would not intervene.

3. MacArthur expected to get his troops back to the United States by Christmas.

4. Because of the certainty of victory, much of the conference was devoted to plans for reconstructing Korea.

5. Highlight of the Wake Island meeting was the brilliant conversation of one man. MacArthur completely dominated the conversation.

What They Said

Because the Wake Island conference now appears to be playing such an important part in the Truman-MacArthur controversy, the salient portions of my Jan. 23 Wake Island column follow:

The President of the United States flew halfway round the world to confer with General MacArthur, yet aside from a few conversational pleasantries reported by accompanying newsmen, nothing has been published regarding what happened on this mid-Pacific island.

The direct talks between MacArthur and President Truman took place with no one else present; no stenographic notes were taken. It is next to impossible, therefore, to report accurately what happened. Furthermore, the stenographic notes made of the more extended conversations between Truman, MacArthur, General Bradley, and the other military men are still so secret that each copy is numbered.

However, I believe it is important that the American people know what took place at Wake Island; so herewith I shall report some of the conversations recorded in these notes.

Only one clue was given in the more extended conversation as to what Truman and MacArthur talked about in their private meeting. This was when someone asked the President about Formosa, and he cut further discussion short with the curt reply:

"General MacArthur and I have discussed Formosa already and we are in complete agreement on the subject."

The trend of discussion in the rest of the conference was that a military victory was already in the bag. Almost more time was given to a discussion of Korean rehabilitation, therefore, than to military strategy. When it came to the latter, General MacArthur dominated the conversation.

"The North Koreans," he explained, "have about 15,000 guerrillas left in the south, but the winter will take care of most of them. The others are a beaten force. They are only fighting to save face. It goes against the grain to have to destroy them."

Home by Christmas

MacArthur assured Truman that he could "finish the job in North Korea" in a short time. According to the stenographic notes he said:

"I hope to be able to have the 8th Army back in Japan by Christmas. I may be able to send a convoy into Pyongyang immediately."

At this point, President Truman asked: "What about Chinese intervention?"

MacArthur's reply was: "They could have intervened earlier when it would have been decisive, but that time has passed. We are no longer fearful of their intervention. Although there are several hundred thousand along the Yalu river, it is not likely that they could cause us much trouble."

He also implied that he could "take care" of the Chinese, even if they decided to cross the Yalu river.

At the same time MacArthur described his plans for completing the conquest of Korea, he also argued against keeping American troops in Korea.

Obviously this raised the question of why march across the frozen North Korean wastes to the Yalu river if the plan was to march right back again in time to return the 8th Army to Japan by Christmas. However, no one at the Wake island conference seemed to challenge MacArthur regarding this risky move.

MacArthur's advice on the future of Korea was: "We should turn Korea over to the Koreans as quickly as we can and get out as quickly as we can.

"Korea is a poor country," he said, "and we cannot afford to impose an occupation on them ... military occupations are always failures. I want to withdraw all our troops as soon as possible."

Troops To Europe

At one point, Gen. Omar Bradley asked whether MacArthur could make any troops available for Europe in the next few months.

MacArthur replied: "Yes, I think a division can be made available early in 1951."

Bradley also remarked that he hoped MacArthur wouldn't have the same trouble he had with American pilots in Europe shooting up railroad bridges that were needed later for rehabilitation.

"I have had the same trouble," MacArthur replied. The stenographic notes show laughter at this point.

Only other laughter came when John Muccio, U. S. Ambassador to Korea, proposed using sound trucks for propaganda purposes to sell democracy to the Korean people. This prompted the President to observe:

"I believe in sound trucks. I won two elections with them."

Highlight of the Wake island meeting was the brilliant exposition of one man, MacArthur completely dominated the conversation, and virtually no effort was made to challenge his opinions.

Perhaps also this was the most tragic part of the conference.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 25 — The state of disorganization and disunity in the American government today in indescribably tragic.

The lack of leadership is a manifest obstacle to cooperation even between those elements which favor the same international policy. The White House has failed signally to keep foreign policy out of politics and has accentuated a deep cleavage between the two major parties.

For, whether President Truman intended it or not, he has, in effect decreed that the minority party in America must be prevented from knowing the facts about the government and particularly the facts about our war operations.

Though it will be repeatedly denied, the truth is that the principal offense of General MasArthur was in answering a letter from Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin. Apparently members of the armed services hereafter must not answer any letters from Congress except those from Democrats.

Two Democratic senators — Douglas of Illinois and Lehman of New York—take the position that the letter which General MacArthur wrote in answer to one from Representative Martin was an act of military insubordination and was in disregard of the "civil authority" of the United States.

This is a strange view for two men to express who are supposed to be "liberals" and who spend a good deal of their time denouncing the Hitler and Stalin concept of a single political party. Evidently, as Senator Douglas told his constituents, General MacArthur had no right to reply to Mr. Martin's request for his views. Senator Lehman cites the letter to Martin specifically as a ground for dismissal of MacArthur and says thus the "civil authority was challenged."

Evidently the Congress of the United States is not a civil authority—or at least the Republican party isn't a part of it. Yet in Korea the sons of Republicans are being killed, just as are the sons of Democrats.

There is no hope for unity when two important senators adopt the view that it is a violation of the military code of the United States to communicate with members of Congress who happen to be in the minority party and for the latter to make public the letters they write—not on military details, but on broad policy questions.

The letter to Representative Martin was a routine answer to what appeared to be a routine inquiry. General MacArthur had said the same things publicly many times before and also in his official reports. But because the press emphasized the incident, President Truman chose to make an issue of it, though he could just as well have ignored the affair and sent for MacArthur so as to argue out the differences, if possible, in a personal conference.

What is more serious is that there are influential members of the Democratic party who actually believe that America today is and must be governed by a single person. They include in the power of the presidency the right to stifle discussion and they insist, in effect, that members of the armed services are not to be permitted to say anything publicly which is at variance with the "party line" as proclaimed by the President or his advisers.

If the minority party has any assertiveness at all, it will accept the challenge and bring the real issue to the attention of the country. It concerns the fundamental right of the American people to get the truth of what is happening in the making of public policy.

The American people do not even know how MacArthur was dismissed and by whose recommendation. An effort has been made to give the impression that the joint chiefs did it. Actually Messrs. Acheson, Rusk and Harriman—the foreign-policy command—are primarily responsible for influencing the President to fire MacArthur forthwith. When the congressional committees put every member of the joint chiefs on the stand, as they inevitably must, they will learn that there is no record of military insubordination and that differences of policy alone led to the political decision by Mr. Truman to make a change in command in the Far East.

It is because the Democrats have insisted on distorting the issue and have continually tried to pin a "warmonger" label on General MacArthur—very much as the Communists do to most Americans nowadays—that the bitterness on Capitol Hill is increasing instead of diminishing.

One of the most instructive hands of the recent Eastern States tournament showed how experts stay out of trouble. At the first table George Rapee, holding North cards, made an immediate jump takeout to two diamonds, thus showing a hand that was at least as strong as an opening no-trumper.

The South hand was held by Sam Stayman, author of "Expert Bidding," one of the finest bridge books that has appeared in many years. Stayman counted up his hand and noted that it was a near-minimum. No slam was likely unless his partner could push past the game level. Hence Stayman put the brakes on at once with a rebid of two no-trump.

Rapee next showed his club support, whereupon Stayman could afford to show a fit for diamonds. Now Rapee bid three no-trump to show the exact nature of his hand: balanced distribution, strength in at least three suits, biddable values in the two minors, and a total value of only what he had announced at his first bid. With even one queen more, Rapee would have bid four no-trump to indicate his extra strength.

Stayman was content to pass, and the hand was played comfortably at game. As it happened the opening lead gave him three heart tricks, the jack of spades dropped, and a successful diamond guess brought in four diamond tricks. But even though Stayman actually won thirteen tricks, he was satisfied with the game contract. If the East-West cards are shuffled up and redealt several times, the North-South cards will produce a slam less than half the time.

In the second room, the North-South cards were held by a very experienced pair. Nevertheless, they got themselves tangled up and managed to land in a final contract of six clubs. That contract was, of course, easily defeated.

Try the North-South cards with your bridge-playing friends. Give the North cards to one, and the South cards to another, and see whether they manage to suggest a slam without actually reaching one.

Educators Elect Officers for Year

New Paltz, April 25—The Ulster Educators, meeting recently in the Wallkill Central School Auditorium, elected the following officers for the new year: Mrs. Janet Bracken, New Paltz, president; Miss Eileen Germiller, vice-president; Mrs. Betty Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Miss Sarah V. Gulick, at present on sabbatical leave in Europe, re-named as delegate to the House of Delegates; Miss Anna Devine, Rifton, alternate to Miss Gulick.

The annual spring conference was attended by 171 teachers.

Alfred T. Houghton, supervisor in the Bureau of Adult Education, Albany, gave an informative talk on the future of adult education in the schools of the state. He stressed the ned of adult education at this particular time.

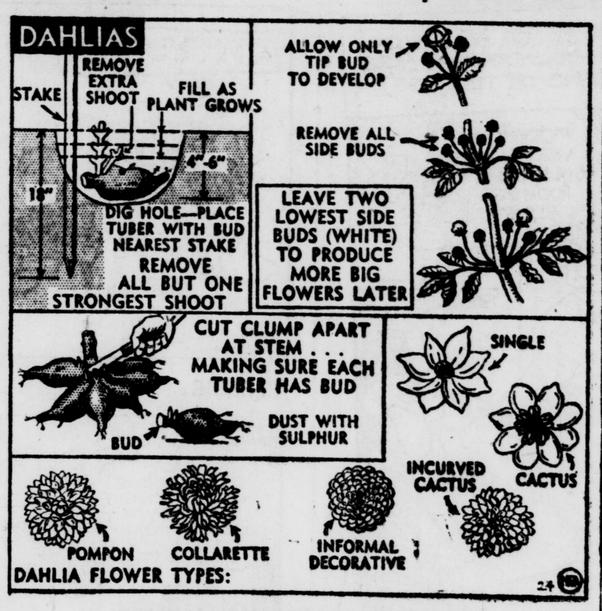
The morning session ended with the presentation of service pins by Ralph Johnson, superintendent of New Paltz, to Miss Mary L. Norton and Ray D. Baty.

Following luncheon in the school cafeteria, the afternoon session got underway at 1:15. A music program was presented by student groups of the Wallkill Central School District, high school Glee Club, directed by Miss Elaine Kniffen; and the Wallkill High School Band by William Topping.

Seven persons took part in the afternoon panel discussion on "What the Community Expects of Teachers." Mr. Batten of Highland stressed the fact that patriotic organizations are vitally interested in having administrators hire teachers who believe in and practice democracy.

Gerow Schoonmaker said that the rural school had many sound practices that the central school is not following. Also speaking was Daniel Van Alst of Wallkill who stressed the need for more preparation in the school for those children who will not go to college. Frederick Terwilliger of Wallkill also supported this suggestion while Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards of Highland gave her ideas on what the community expects of the teacher in respect to health and recreation.

YOUR GARDEN — By Arnold Davis



Dahlia Is Star of Late Summer

For late sumer bloom no plant rivals the dahlia. This magnificent garden flower can be grown in any soil where there is plenty of sunshine. It will also require plenty of water and you will have to follow the recommendation of the Department of Agriculture of spraying with D.D.T. and a spreader to control leaf hoppers.

Plant the tubers out of doors, as soon as the season warms up, in good fertile soil which will encourage rapid growth. Leave plenty of space between the plants—at least three feet for good results. The rows should also be three feet apart. As soon as the tubers have been planted a substantial stake should be driven into the soil to support all large flowering varieties as they develop.

Dahlias come in many sizes and types. Small, miniature, pom-pom, cactus flowered and formal, as well as the exhibition types. Make your selection by color and type and plant this fascinating flower for garden interest, cutting flowers and shows.

Many communities have dahlia clubs. You will enjoy being connected with such a group if you are serious about growing dahlias.

Columbus, O. (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court will try to unravel a case about a monkey who grabbed a $10 bill from a lady customer in a pet shop. When Miss Katherine Busch tried to retrieve the money, the monkey bit her. She sued the Cleveland pet shop operators, and a lower court awarded her a $1,700 verdict. The pet shop operators, in their appeal, maintain Miss Busch should not have assumed she could get the $10 back from the monkey.

Cuts Down on Foreigners

Bangkok (AP)—Parliament is being asked to limit the number of foreign residents to 1,000 in each of certain provinces to be designated by the interior ministry. Foreigners living in any province now in excess of the 1,000 limit would not be ousted but any new foreigners attempting to enter as residents would be subject to fine or imprisonment.

Educators Elect Officers for Year

New Paltz, April 25—The Ulster Educators, meeting recently in the Wallkill Central School Auditorium, elected the following officers for the new year: Mrs. Janet Bracken, New Paltz, president; Miss Eileen Germiller, vice-president; Mrs. Betty Taylor, secretary-treasurer; Miss Sarah V. Gulick, at present on sabbatical leave in Europe, re-named as delegate to the House of Delegates; Miss Anna Devine, Rifton, alternate to Miss Gulick.

The annual spring conference was attended by 171 teachers.

Alfred T. Houghton, supervisor in the Bureau of Adult Education, Albany, gave an informative talk on the future of adult education in the schools of the state. He stressed the ned of adult education at this particular time.

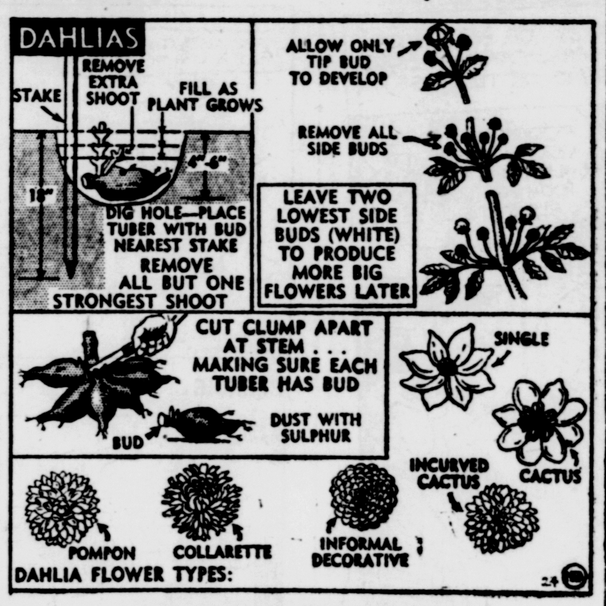
The morning session ended with the presentation of service pins by Ralph Johnson, superintendent of New Paltz, to Miss Mary L. Norton and Ray D. Baty.

Following luncheon in the school cafeteria, the afternoon session got underway at 1:15. A music program was presented by student groups of the Wallkill Central School District, high school Glee Club, directed by Miss Elaine Kniffen; and the Wallkill High School Band by William Topping.

Seven persons took part in the afternoon panel discussion on "What the Community Expects of Teachers." Mr. Batten of Highland stressed the fact that patriotic organizations are vitally interested in having administrators hire teachers who believe in and practice democracy.

Gerow Schoonmaker said that the rural school had many sound practices that the central school is not following. Also speaking was Daniel Van Alst of Wallkill who stressed the need for more preparation in the school for those children who will not go to college. Frederick Terwilliger of Wallkill also supported this suggestion while Mrs. C. Imbrie Richards of Highland gave her ideas on what the community expects of the teacher in respect to health and recreation.

YOUR GARDEN — By Arnold Davis



Dahlia Is Star of Late Summer

For late sumer bloom no plant rivals the dahlia. This magnificent garden flower can be grown in any soil where there is plenty ot sunshine. It will also require plenty of water and you will have to follow the recommendation of the Department of Agriculture of spraying with D.D.T. and a spreader to control leaf hoppers.

Plant the tubers out of doors, as soon as the season warms up, in good fertile soil which will encourage rapid growth. Leave plenty of space between the plants—at least three feet for good results. The rows should also be three feet apart. As soon as the tubers have been planted a substantial stake should be driven into the soil to support all large flowering varieties as they develop.

Dahlias come in many sizes and types. Small, miniature, pom-pom, cactus flowered and formal, as well as the exhibition types. Make your selection by color and type and plant this fascinating flower for garden interest, cutting flowers and shows.

Many communities have dahlia clubs. You will enjoy being connected with such a group if you are serious about growing dahlias.

Defendant Is a Monkey

Columbus, O. (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court will try to unravel a case about a monkey who grabbed a $10 bill from a lady customer in a pet shop. When Miss Katherine Busch tried to retrieve the money, the monkey bit her. She sued the Cleveland pet shop operators, and a lower court awarded her a $1,700 verdict. The pet shop operators, in their appeal, maintain Miss Busch should not have assumed she could get the $10 back from the monkey.

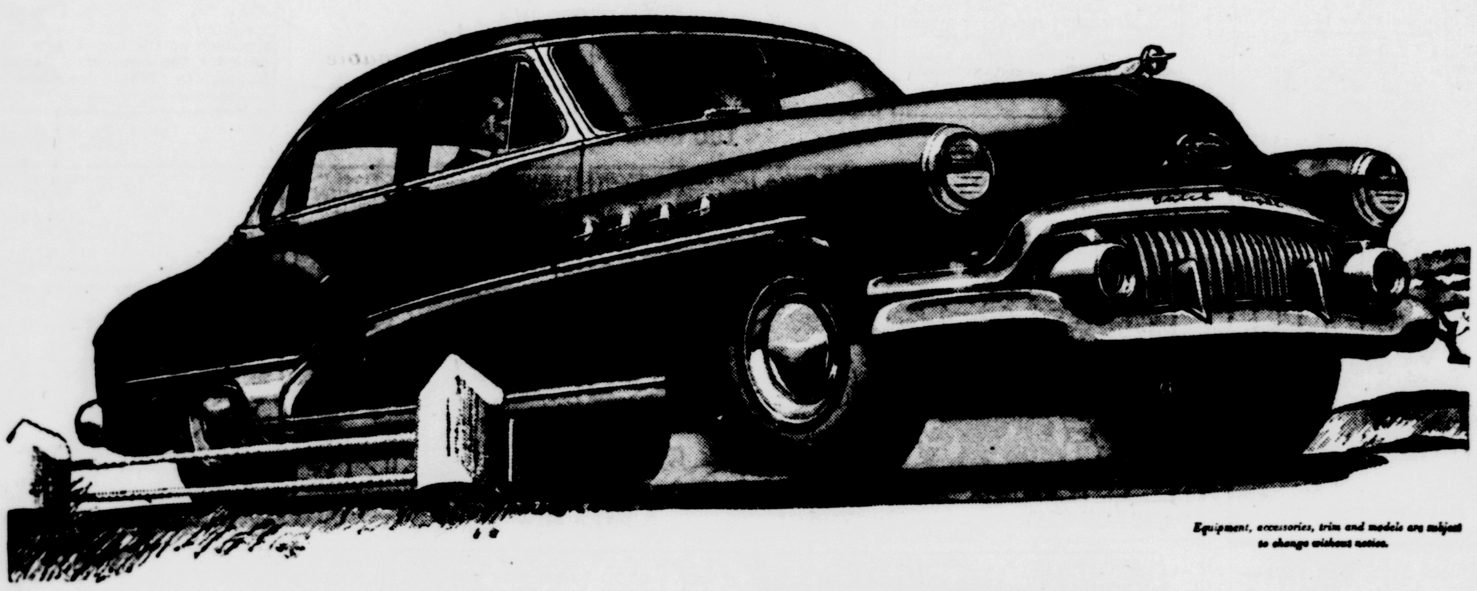
"Smart Buy's Roadmaster"
FIREBALL POWERED



Equipment, accessories, trim and models are subject to change without notice.

It started the day the 1951 ROADMASTER made its first appearance — and has been building up ever since.

Folks looked at the fresh new styling, considered the power — the features — the fabrics — the cloud-soft cushions — and the prices — and said, "Here's the smart buy in the fine-car field."

Why don't you come and see for yourself what a sensational buy this proud beauty really is?

It's a honey to handle — a joy to ride in — and just about the handsomest thing on wheels.

It has room, and poise, and a level-going gait that comes from coil springs front and rear.

There's a triumphant thrill in the willing obedience of its Fireball power and the luxurious ease of its Dynaflow Drive, which doesn't cost you a penny extra.

There's a sweeping view fore and aft through broad and uncluttered glass areas, and the new clarity of an instrument panel with high visibility at night.

Even the brakes are new, self-cooling, with a grip that takes hold like steel fingers in a velvet glove.

Here indeed is a car that is fine in bearing, in action, and in the precision of every structural part — a ROADMASTER custom built by Buick. When will you try one as our guest?

Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, ABC Network, every Monday evening.

A man who boasts he runs things around the house is referring to the lawn mower, washing machine, and errands.

Maybe you've heard the story going the rounds at the end of the last football season. It alleges that a reporter boarded the train carrying the Notre Dame team to the Southern Methodist game. Thinking to get a new slant on a story, he asked for the student manager.

Reporter—I understand that you carry a chaplain to pray for the team.

Manager—Yes, that's right.

Reporter—Would you mind introducing me to him?

Manager—Be glad to. Which one do you want the offensive chaplain or the defensive?

Though they may consider it humiliating, men frequently fall back on common sense as a last resort.

Boy (Eyeing the bank sadly)—No, between Sunday school and this darned pig I'm broke all the time.

A western cafe has a sign on its wall which reads: "Use less sugar and stir hile hell—We don't mind the noise."

Tries Ihproving Corn

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—You fanciers of corn-on-the-cob can look forward to more fun and less full with your favorite food. Dr. Donald F. Jones, expert on foods and plants, says he's found out what causes the annoying little pieces that stick in your teeth. They are "glumes," little cups of skinlike tissue around the base of each corn kernel. Now, the magazine Country Gentleman says, he's working at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station to develop a new strain of corn. "If we can get rid of the glumes, and keep the skin of each kernel tender, you'll be able to forget the toothpicks once you've wiped the butter off your chin," says Dr. Jones.

Tries Ihproving Corn

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—You fanciers of corn-on-the-cob can look forward to more fun and less full with your favorite food. Dr. Donald F. Jones, expert on foods and plants, says he's found out what causes the annoying little pieces that stick in your teeth. They are "glumes," little cups of skinlike tissue around the base of each corn kernel. Now, the magazine Country Gentleman says, he's working at the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station to develop a new strain of corn. "If we can get rid of the glumes, and keep the skin of each kernel tender, you'll be able to forget the toothpicks once you've wiped the butter off your chin," says Dr. Jones.

Mother's Prayer Heard

Chelsea, Mass., April 25 (AP)—Pfc. Benjamin Daley has been summoned to the bedside of ailing relatives three times but yesterday for the first time he won the race with death. In 1947 he received a furlough to be near his dying sister. She was dead before he arrived from a camp in this country. A year later he was called home from the Pacific because his father, Michael Daley, was dying. The father's funeral was held before he could get home. This time he was called to be near his mother, Mrs. Margaret L. Daley, suffering from an incurable disease. Daley made the trip from Korea. The mother said her son's arrival answered her earnest prayers.

McLean Re-elected

New York, April 25 (AP)—Robert McLean was re-elected president of The Associated Press at a board of directors meeting yesterday. Daily Press was elected by the directors as first vice-president and W. H. Cowles of the Spokane Spokesman-Review as second vice-president. Lloyd Stratton was re-elected secretary of the AP, and Robert Booth re-elected treasurer.

Hectic Texas Days

Ranger, Tex. (AP) — An atmosphere of "mud, murder, and madness," characterized the great Ranger oil rush of more than 30 years ago. It is described in Boyce House's book "Roaring Ranger, The World's Biggest Boom," recently published by Naylor Company of San Antonio. Corn liquor was a dollar a drink. A hotel cot in a hallway cost $5 a night. The field's biggest well, the Norwood gusher, produced $35,000 worth of oil in one day on a farm which had been bought for $5 an acre 11 years before.

Health Officials Make Added Tests In Death of Boy

Albany, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—The State Health Department is conducting additional tests to determine if rabies caused the death of a 15-year-old Coxsackie boy last Friday.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, said yesterday that preliminary tests indicated that the death might have been caused by rabies.

However, said there was no record that the boy was bitten by a rabid animal.

The only dog known to have been around the boy was the family dog, which ran away recently. It was not determined whether that dog had bitten the boy.

Results of the additional tests will not be available for another week, Dr. Hilleboe said.

The last recorded rabies death in the state was in 1945. Nine rabies deaths have been listed since 1925, when the health department began keeping records on the disease. No deaths have been recorded in Greene county, in which Coxsackie is located.

The department said that the boy had suffered a spine injury in a fall about two weeks ago. He had been under the care of a doctor at the time of his death in Catskill Memorial Hospital, the department added.

Border People Armed

New Delhi (AP)—The Indian government has issued firearms liberally in some border areas to enable the local people to cope with individual and sporadic attacks, Home Minister C. Rajagopalachari told Parliament. He did not furnish particulars but said special training in the use of firearms was given to border people in some areas and arms supplied at government expense.

Colorful Transaction

Dubois, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Attorney Leo Brockbank saw everything but red while closing a real estate deal. Here's what happened: Rolland and Mary White sold their property to John and Nancy Gray. John Green, William G. Brown and Charles Black witnessed the transaction. Brockbank says blue ink was used.

The first iron to be made in America was produced near Lynn, Mass., in 1645.

Don't Starve Hand to Meld

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Most experienced players know that it is very unwise to make an initial meld from the hand that uses up a substantial number of cards. You get caught without enough cards in your hand to fight for the discard pile.

For example, suppose you need 90 points for the first meld and that you draw from the stock and hold: A-Q-J 10-10-10 9-9-9 8-8-8.

You are able to reach the minimum by melding all the tens, nines, and eights. Then you would have to discard, after which you would have two odd cards left.

However, this would be a very poor meld to make. You would have practically no chance to get the discard pile, and you would need remarkable luck to meld out quickly.

Better policy with this hand is to keep the cards all in your hand and hope for a good break. Perhaps a ten, nine, or eight will be discarded to you; and you will then get a discard pile. Perhaps your partner will be able to get the pile or to meld more economically from his hand.

The situation would be different, however, if you needed 50 points and held, after a draw from the stock, such a hand as: A 7-7-7-7 6-6-6 4-4-4 2.

Your best play is to meld your sevens, sixes, and fours. Then you discard the ace, save the deuce in your hand, and wait for developments.

The chances are very good that your partner can add enough to one of your melds so that you will be able to make a canasta and meld out at your next turn—or perhaps the turn after that.

The big argument in favor of melding at once is that you have practically no chance to do yourself much good if you hold up. Even if you get the discard pile you won't be able to make a big hand. There are too many high cards and wild cards available to the opponents, so that they will be able to stop your parade before it even gets started.

One of the best things about Canasta is that an odd number of people can play. Find out how the play is arranged for two, three, five or six players from the new 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA. For your copy, send 15 cents in coin with your name and address to Oswald Jacoby, Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 438, Times Square Station, New York 18, N. Y.

Health Officials Make Added Tests In Death of Boy

Albany, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—The State Health Department is conducting additional tests to determine if rabies caused the death of a 15-year-old Coxsackie boy last Friday.

Dr. Herman E. Hilleboe, state health commissioner, said yesterday that preliminary tests indicated that the death might have been caused by rabies.

However, said there was no record that the boy was bitten by a rabid animal.

The only dog known to have been around the boy was the family dog, which ran away recently. It was not determined whether that dog had bitten the boy.

Results of the additional tests will not be available for another week, Dr. Hilleboe said.

The last recorded rabies death in the state was in 1945. Nine rabies deaths have been listed since 1925, when the health department began keeping records on the disease. No deaths have been recorded in Greene county, in which Coxsackie is located.

The department said that the boy had suffered a spine injury in a fall about two weeks ago. He had been under the care of a doctor at the time of his death in Catskill Memorial Hospital, the department added.

Border People Armed

New Delhi (AP)—The Indian government has issued firearms liberally in some border areas to enable the local people to cope with individual and sporadic attacks, Home Minister C. Rajagopalachari told Parliament. He did not furnish particulars but said special training in the use of firearms was given to border people in some areas and arms supplied at government expense.

Colorful Transaction

Dubois, Pa., April 25 (AP)—Attorney Leo Brockbank saw everything but red while closing a real estate deal. Here's what happened: Rolland and Mary White sold their property to John and Nancy Gray. John Green, William G. Brown and Charles Black witnessed the transaction. Brockbank says blue ink was used.

The first iron to be made in America was produced near Lynn, Mass., in 1645.

Don't Starve Hand to Meld

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Most experienced players know that it is very unwise to make an initial meld from the hand that uses up a substantial number of cards. You get caught without enough cards in your hand to fight for the discard pile.

For example, suppose you need 90 points for the first meld and that you draw from the stock and hold: A-Q-J 10-10-10 9-9-9 8-8-8.

You are able to reach the minimum by melding all the tens, nines, and eights. Then you would have to discard, after which you would have two odd cards left.

However, this would be a very poor meld to make. You would have practically no chance to get the discard pile, and you would need remarkable luck to meld out quickly.

Better policy with this hand is to keep the cards all in your hand and hope for a good break. Perhaps a ten, nine, or eight will be discarded to you; and you will then get a discard pile. Perhaps your partner will be able to get the pile or to meld more economically from his hand.

The situation would be different, however, if you needed 50 points and held, after a draw from the stock, such a hand as: A 7-7-7-7 6-6-6 4-4-4 2.

Your best play is to meld your sevens, sixes, and fours. Then you discard the ace, save the deuce in your hand, and wait for developments.

The chances are very good that your partner can add enough to one of your melds so that you will be able to make a canasta and meld out at your next turn—or perhaps the turn after that.

The big argument in favor of melding at once is that you have practically no chance to do yourself much good if you hold up. Even if you get the discard pile you won't be able to make a big hand. There are too many high cards and wild cards available to the opponents, so that they will be able to stop your parade before it even gets started.

One of the best things about Canasta is that an odd number of people can play. Find out how the play is arranged for two, three, five or six players from the new 1951 INTERNATIONAL LAWS OF CANASTA. Father Herdegen's Funeral Crowds Church on Monday

The funeral of the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen held Monday filled St. Peter's Church on Wurts street with dignitaries of the Roman Catholic faith, parishioners and friends from various other religious denominations, who attended the rites out of respect to the clergyman beloved by many in all walks of life.

Celebrant of the solemn Mass of requiem at 11 a. m. for the repose of his soul was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties. The Rev. Joseph Damin, Assumption Church, Peekskill was deacon and the Rev. Frederick Frey, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's Church, North Tarrytown, subdeacon.

Master of ceremonies was the Rev. James V. Keating of St. Joseph's Church, this city, and the eulogy was delivered by the Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph Krug, president of Stepinac High School New York city. Monsignor Krug pointed to the exemplary life led by Father Herdegen as a priest and his spirit of brotherhood in dealing with his fellowmen.

First in his thoughts were the sick and needy and his devotion to patients trying to regain their health in institutions, such as the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital which he served as chaplain for many years until his own health failed. He was a member of the executive board of the hospital.

Monsignor Krug lauded Father Herdegen's interest in the Knights of Columbus, sports activities for the welfare of youth and other programs sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization.

Responses to the Mass were sung by the students' choir of Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, consisting of 30 voices, under the direction of the Rev. Clement Englert, C.Ss.R.

Members of the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, Kingston Council 275, formed a guard of honor on the day of the funeral and during the time the body reposed in the church.

More than 71 pastors and assistants from Catholic Churches throughout the diocese attended the Mass, also nuns from the various parishes and institutions of the area and members of religious societies for men and women.

Among those at the rites in St. Peter's, where Father Herdegen had been assistant pastor for 21 years, were Bishop Joseph F. Flannelly, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, representing Francis Cardinal Spellman; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Walter Kellenberg, chancellor, New York; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael O'Shea, Poughkeepsie; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Scally, Yonkers; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Casey, New York; the Rt. Rev. Charles Giblin, New York; the Rt. Rev. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, this city; the Rev. Terrence J. Cooke, assistant director, Catholic Youth Organization.

Bishop Flannelly gave the absolution after Mass, and as the body was lowered in the graye at Calvary Cemetery, Long Island City, the final blessing was read by the Rev. Joseph A. Geis, pastor of St. Peter's Church, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Joseph D. Ostermann, James V. Keating, John McManus, John McSherry, James Kenny, Clement J. Rieger, Frederick Frey and Arthur Kane.

Bearers, all members of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, were Cornelius J. Heitzmann, William J. Heitzmann, Leonard P. Ward, Richard A. Hinkley, Edward R. Arnold and Frank J. Leirey.

Nuns in attendance at the Mass were Sisters of Christian Charity, St. Peter's; Benedictine Sisters, Sacred Heart Sisters from West Park Orphanage and Sisters of the Society of St. Ursula.

During the time the body reposed in the church, societies calling to recite the Rosary were St. Peter's Holy Name, Christian Mothers Society, Children of Mary Sodality, Rosary Society, Parish Club, Catholic Daughters of America from Court Santa Maria, 164; Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus and the Fourth Degree Assembly of the council.

Divine Office was sung Sunday at 8 p. m. by Monsignor Drury assisted by 50 clergymen from parishes in this area. After the ceremony, 85 members of the Fourth Degree, K. of C., in full regalia with drawn swords formed an arch while visitors filed past the bier.

Monday morning at 8 o'clock, children of St. Peter's School attended Mass for the repose of Father Herdegen's soul.

Republicans Call

said Ridgway had proposed to the Pentagon that Chinese troops from Formosa be sent into battle.

Whitney said Ridgway, who succeeded MacArthur in the Pacific commands, made this proposal "after analyzing the situation," evidently shortly after he took over field command in Korea.

Whitney quoted Ridgway as saying the Nationalists were needed to support his troops' military position, leaving unclear whether they might be sent into battle in Korea or on the mainland.

Whitney said all senior officers in the Far East favored use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops. Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, declining to comment on any possible use of Chiang's forces, told a news conference 400 to 500 more men may be assigned to the U. S. military mission on Formosa.

On the issue of Chiang's troops, Senator Kerr (D-Okla.), No. 1 MacArthur critic in Congress, told reporters:

"I'm not chasing rumors from Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

"MacArthur was the man who wanted to expand the war. MacArthur was the man released from his command for insubordination and refusal to comply with orders. Let him speak before the Senate committee where he can tell his whole story and be cross-examined."

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said in an interview Whitney's claim makes it imperative "that we open up hearings as soon as possible—and I mean open."

The Senate Armed Services and probably the Foreign Relations Committees have arranged to hear MacArthur May 3 at the start of an over-all inquiry into American military and foreign policies in Asia.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.), who will run the investigation, favors keeping the hearings closed to the public.

Police Raids Bring

part of the office of Chief Van Buren.

Nine telephones, a ticker machine with tape, and two tables intricately attached switch board equipment, two clocks, an adding machine, desk, filing cabinets, chairs, including a high stool chair, track tickets, and partly burned papers, along with other miscellaneous items were taken from 124 North Front street.

Chief Van Buren said an apparent attempt had been made to burn the papers when it was discovered that the police were entering the building.

15 Telephones Seized

Six telephones, which police believe might have been used as extensions, were taken from the room in the building on the corner of Lucas and Washington avenues, bringing the total for the raids to 15. Three telephones were taken in the raid ten days earlier at 48 Chambers street. Three adding machines were also taken from there.

The fines yesterday of $500 each for the four men arrested following the Chambers street raid was for violations of sections of the Penal Law dealing with both horse case bets and lottery policy. One, who police said, acted as janitor at the place, was fined only $50 in conjunction with the policy charge.

Officers Making Arrests

The police report at 2:37 p. m., on yesterday's raids said the men were arrested by Sgt. Lemuel Howard, and Officers Frank Sammons and Thomas Tomshaw, assisted by Lt. James P. Martin, Officers Ernest Bartroff and Charles Hoehing and Specials Albert Eisele and Ralph Countryman.

Lt. Martin with Officers Bartroff and Hoehing also visited 356 Washington avenue, and Detective Clarence Brophy with Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburgh, and County Investigator Leonard Belmore conducted the raid on 43 Lucas avenue, where doors were broken to gain entrance.

Telephone Company Attends

A group of officials from the New York Telephone Company visited the office of Chief Van Buren this morning to inspect the switchboards. Various units in the switchboard equipment appeared to be from different sources, the chief said, and only two of the telephones at the North Front street place had listings.

Entrance to 356 Washington avenue was gained with little difficulty, the chief said, and nothing of consequence was found there. The place is a small one-story structure adjacent to a larger building.

Eight Operators Required

Operation of the tables taken from 124 North Front street required eight men. Chief Van Buren said Among other items confiscated were Daily Racing Form chart books.

Police made an unsuccessful attempt more than a year ago to raid the same building on North Front street.

Chief Van Buren said the raids yesterday were made with only brief last-minute preparation.

Warrant Is Issued

A bench warrant was issued today through the office of City Judge Raymond J. Mino for the apprehension of Shaheen Nassar, formerly of this city and recently of Walden, following his failure to appear in city court to answer to a disorderly person charge. Bail of $100 was forfeited through his failure to appear. The information charges abandonment of a wife and child. Attorney Roger Loughran represents Mrs. Nassar.

Clinic for Children

A clinic for the immunizations of whooping cough, diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox will be conducted by the Ulster County Health Department, 15 Main street, from 9:30 to 11:30 a. m. on April 28. Smoke From Oil In Cellar Blocks Familes' Escape

Families on two upper floors of a three-story and basement building at 22 Stuyvesant street were held back by dense smoke without means of escape during a basement fire there shortly before noon today.

Fireman Harry Sills, suffered a cut wrist in breaking through a glass leading to the furnace room where an overflow of oil was "a sea of flames" on the arrival of firemen, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said.

Sills was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Several persons on the upper floors, including two infants were unable to get down because of the dense smoke, the chief said. He sent for the aerial truck and men and equipment from Cornell station immediately after arriving at the fire.

The aerial ladder was placed to a third floor window of the apartment of Dr. Harold Newman, but in the interim the smoke had cleared in the building and occupants of the upper floors were able to make their way down stairways.

The telephone alarm for the blaze was at 11:15 a. m. Chief Murphy said the fire had apparently started in oil from a domestic hot water heater in the furnace room, and when firemen arrived virtually the whole basement was on fire. A stream with fog nozzle was used in checking the flames.

Besides Dr. Newman on the third floor the family of Meyer Levy, was held back by the smoke as were the families of Sylvan Estroff, nurse who was asleep at the time, and Michael Basch.

The other families were in less serious danger, the chief indicated.

The building is owned by Louis Lifshitz. The chief said electrical units were damaged, a section of the first floor was opened in quenching the blaze and there was considerable smudge damage.

Reds Gain . . .

tigued Reds on the dusty battlefields.

Twice they cut off sizeable allied forces. Both times the allies escaped with slight losses. First it was the Turks. Then the Belgians.

Allied warplanes concentrated on the central front. Carrier based planes working over this area Tuesday reported they killed 2,000 Reds. Land based planes reported killing 1,200 Tuesday and another 1,000 before noon Wednesday.

Even B-29 Superforts flew against the Reds in close ground support. The allied planes operated around the clock.

Another jet battle was fought in far northern Korea between 20 Manchurian based Red jets and 24 American F-86 Sabre jets. No damage was reported.

Wicks Tells . . .

Gains Are Cited

"This year, the Republican Legislature again acted to increase teachers' salaries by enacting legislation which will cost the state $28,000,000 annually and eventually may mean a total cost of $40,000,000 a year. This 1951 legislation included bills which:

"1. Increase the state-mandated mimimum salary schedules by $500 at nearly all levels, effective next July 1, thus boosting the minimum generally to range from $2,500 to $5,825.

"2. Provide for an immediate $100 cost of living bonus for April, May and June of this year.

"3. Double the number of automatic salary increments to carry teachers in 10 years from a starting salary of $2.500 to a top automatic salary of $4,000 (instead of $2,750) in the smaller districts; from $2,700 to $4,350 (instead of $3,025) in cities of more than 100,000 population, Nassau and Westchester counties; and from $3,000 to $4,875 (instead of $3,438) in New York City.

"4. Continue the differential of $200 a year higher pay for teachers with masters' degrees.

"5. Revise upward equalization factors used in determining amounts to be apportioned in state aid to school districts.

"This broad, new program for raising teachers' salaries was the result of a comprehensive study and survey made by a special committee headed by Lieutenant Governor Frank C. Moore.

Praises Moore Committee

"The recommendations of the Moore Committee have been praised by many groups throughout the state. While some disgruntled and greedy individuals attempt to show that the state has been unfair and neglectful in is treatment of teachers and its efforts for education, let me point out that the Moore Committee report has received the commendation of several teachers' organizations.

"The executive secretary of the New York State Teachers' Association has termed the 1951 legislation 'the greatest single forward step ever taken in this state in connection with teachers' salaries' while the president of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers has declared the legislation 'will significantly improve the entire educational program in New York State.'

"The New York State School Boards Association hailed the 'fairmindedness' and 'yeoman service' given by the Moore Committee 'to a task complicated by many difficult problems' and the State Association of Elementary School Principals declared that the committee proposals 'should tend to attract more able young people into the teaching services in this state to help those now in service.'

Calls It 'Monumental'

"The president of the Rochester Teachers Association paid tribute to the 'monumental contribution to the cause of education in our state' and asserted that the influence of the committee report 'will extend through generations.' Similar commendation came from teachers organizations in Albany, Ogdensburg, Syracuse, Watertown and Yonkers, as well as the Buffalo Industrial Teachers Association, Local 39.

"Every father and mother of our state should be grateful for the interest shown by their state administration in the education of their children. Every citizen of our state should be thankful that the administration is dedicated to making our educational system the best in the nation and the world."

Price Order Hits

Some Increases in Future

The new order will bring some price increases—mainly for those who heeded the government's appeal for "voluntary" restraint and then were caught in the Jan. 26 price freeze. But these will be outweighed by the rollbacks, DiSalle said.

Stripped to essentials, each factory's new price ceiling will be: The pre-Korea price, plus wage increases and increased cost of materials. On most materials, increases only up to last December 31 can be counted.

Even if a firm finds itself entitled to a price boost on this basis, it must give OPS 15 days notice before marking up the price tag. OPS thus gets a chance to double-check.

Under these rules, manufacturers sharpened their pencils to reprice goods having an annual gross value estimated by OPS at $70 billion. This is about 23 per cent of the nation's entire output of goods and services.

Must Be in Force

The new ceilings must be in force by May 28. Retail buyers will feel the effect later, depending on how long it takes for the new goods to reach retailers' shelves and showrooms.

This array of products is covered:

Consumer "hard goods" including radios, television sets, refrigerators, washing machines, ranges, furniture, hardware, household appliances.

Many processed food and grocery items including breakfast cereals, crackers, cookies, macaroni, spaghetti, canned fish, potato chips, mustard, baked beans, pickles, peanut butter, sauces, seasonings, baking powder, candy, soup mixes, meat extracts, gelatin desserts, olives, yeast, and dog food.

A wide group of miscellaneous items including auto tires and tubes, many building materials (but not lumber or plywood, which are otherwise controlled), paper and paper products, rayon and some other textiles.

Committee Favors

than the President had estimated in his January budget.

Included in the emergency measure which the committee sent to the House floor today are funds for a new atomic energy commission "Project X;" for a quick build-up in the manpower of the army, the navy, the marine corps and the air force; and for a speed-up in procurement of the "hardware" for war—tanks, guns, guided missiles, and airplanes.

To Cut June Draft

The army disclosed, during the hearings which preceded committee action, that it plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men and to bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-weary Korean veterans monthly starting in May.

It also exjects to recall to active service in the next two months 15,000 reserve officers to help train an army estimated to have a strength of 1,552,000 on June 30.

A large chunk of the new defense money is needed to meet cost increases of equipment and supplies since the war started in Korea. Army officials said, for instance, that an improved model General Patton tank which cost $193,000 before Korea now costs $240,000.

Largest Allotment

The largest allotment in the bill is for the army, which was earmarked for $2,850,594,000 of the $2,850,869,000 it requested. The $275,000 cut in army funds was in the finance service, and army spokesmen approved it.

The navy's share is $1,645,812,000, exactly what it wanted.

Child Is Injured

Father Herdegen's Funeral Crowds Church on Monday

The funeral of the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen held Monday filled St. Peter's Church on Wurts street with dignitaries of the Roman Catholic faith, parishioners and friends from various other religious denominations, who attended the rites out of respect to the clergyman beloved by many in all walks of life.

Celebrant of the solemn Mass of requiem at 11 a. m. for the repose of his soul was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties. The Rev. Joseph Damin, Assumption Church, Peekskill was deacon and the Rev. Frederick Frey, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's Church, North Tarrytown, subdeacon.

Master of ceremonies was the Rev. James V. Keating of St. Joseph's Church, this city, and the eulogy was delivered by the Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph Krug, president of Stepinac High School New York city. Monsignor Krug pointed to the exemplary life led by Father Herdegen as a priest and his spirit of brotherhood in dealing with his fellowmen.

First in his thoughts were the sick and needy and his devotion to patients trying to regain their health in institutions, such as the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital which he served as chaplain for many years until his own health failed. He was a member of the executive board of the hospital.

Monsignor Krug lauded Father Herdegen's interest in the Knights of Columbus, sports activities for the welfare of youth and other programs sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization.

Responses to the Mass were sung by the students' choir of Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, consisting of 30 voices, under the direction of the Rev. Clement Englert, C.Ss.R.

Members of the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, Kingston Council 275, formed a guard of honor on the day of the funeral and during the time the body reposed in the church.

More than 71 pastors and assistants from Catholic Churches throughout the diocese attended the Mass, also nuns from the various parishes and institutions of the area and members of religious societies for men and women.

Among those at the rites in St. Peter's, where Father Herdegen had been assistant pastor for 21 years, were Bishop Joseph F. Flannelly, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, representing Francis Cardinal Spellman; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Walter Kellenberg, chancellor, New York; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael O'Shea, Poughkeepsie; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Scally, Yonkers; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Casey, New York; the Rt. Rev. Charles Giblin, New York; the Rt. Rev. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, this city; the Rev. Terrence J. Cooke, assistant director, Catholic Youth Organization.

Bishop Flannelly gave the absolution after Mass, and as the body was lowered in the graye at Calvary Cemetery, Long Island City, the final blessing was read by the Rev. Joseph A. Geis, pastor of St. Peter's Church, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Joseph D. Ostermann, James V. Keating, John McManus, John McSherry, James Kenny, Clement J. Rieger, Frederick Frey and Arthur Kane.

Bearers, all members of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, were Cornelius J. Heitzmann, William J. Heitzmann, Leonard P. Ward, Richard A. Hinkley, Edward R. Arnold and Frank J. Leirey.

Nuns in attendance at the Mass were Sisters of Christian Charity, St. Peter's; Benedictine Sisters, Sacred Heart Sisters from West Park Orphanage and Sisters of the Society of St. Ursula.

During the time the body reposed in the church, societies calling to recite the Rosary were St. Peter's Holy Name, Christian Mothers Society, Children of Mary Sodality, Rosary Society, Parish Club, Catholic Daughters of America from Court Santa Maria, 164; Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus and the Fourth Degree Assembly of the council.

Divine Office was sung Sunday at 8 p. m. by Monsignor Drury assisted by 50 clergymen from parishes in this area. After the ceremony, 85 members of the Fourth Degree, K. of C., in full regalia with drawn swords formed an arch while visitors filed past the bier.

Monday morning at 8 o'clock, children of St. Peter's School attended Mass for the repose of Father Herdegen's soul.

Republicans Call

said Ridgway had proposed to the Pentagon that Chinese troops from Formosa be sent into battle.

Whitney said Ridgway, who succeeded MacArthur in the Pacific commands, made this proposal "after analyzing the situation," evidently shortly after he took over field command in Korea.

Whitney quoted Ridgway as saying the Nationalists were needed to support his troops' military position, leaving unclear whether they might be sent into battle in Korea or on the mainland.

Whitney said all senior officers in the Far East favored use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops. Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, declining to comment on any possible use of Chiang's forces, told a news conference 400 to 500 more men may be assigned to the U. S. military mission on Formosa.

On the issue of Chiang's troops, Senator Kerr (D-Okla.), No. 1 MacArthur critic in Congress, told reporters:

"I'm not chasing rumors from Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

"MacArthur was the man who wanted to expand the war. MacArthur was the man released from his command for insubordination and refusal to comply with orders. Let him speak before the Senate committee where he can tell his whole story and be cross-examined."

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said in an interview Whitney's claim makes it imperative "that we open up hearings as soon as possible—and I mean open."

The Senate Armed Services and probably the Foreign Relations Committees have arranged to hear MacArthur May 3 at the start of an over-all inquiry into American military and foreign policies in Asia.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.), who will run the investigation, favors keeping the hearings closed to the public.

Warrant Is Issued

A bench warrant was issued today through the office of City Judge Raymond J. Mino for the apprehension of Shaheen Nassar, formerly of this city and recently of Walden, following his failure to appear in city court to answer to a disorderly person charge. Bail of $100 was forfeited through his failure to appear. The information charges abandonment of a wife and child. Attorney Roger Loughran represents Mrs. Nassar.

Police Raids Bring

part of the office of Chief Van-Buren.

Nine telephones, a ticker machine with tape, and two tables intricately attached switch board equipment, two clocks, an adding machine, desk, filing cabinets, chairs, including a high stool chair, track tickets, and partly burned papers, along with other miscellaneous items were taken from 124 North Front street.

Chief Van Buren said an apparent attempt had been made to burn the papers when it was discovered that the police were entering the building.

15 Telephones Seized

Six telephones, which police believe might have been used as extensions, were taken from the room in the building on the corner of Lucas and Washington avenues, bringing the total for the raids to 15. Three telephones were taken in the raid ten days earlier at 48 Chambers street. Three adding machines were also taken from there.

The fines yesterday of $500 each for the four men arrested following the Chambers street raid was for violations of sections of the Penal Law dealing with both horse case bets and lottery policy. One, who police said, acted as janitor at the place, was fined only $50 in conjunction with the policy charge.

Officers Making Arrests

The police report at 2:37 p. m., on yesterday's raids said the men were arrested by Sgt. Lemuel Howard, and Officers Frank Sammons and Thomas Tomshaw, assisted by Lt. James P. Martin, Officers Ernest Bartroff and Charles Hoehing and Specials Albert Eisele and Ralph Countryman.

Lt. Martin with Officers Bartroff and Hoehing also visited 356 Washington avenue, and Detective Clarence Brophy with Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburgh, and County Investigator Leonard Belmore conducted the raid on 43 Lucas avenue, where doors were broken to gain entrance.

Telephone Company Attends

A group of officials from the New York Telephone Company visited the office of Chief Van Buren this morning to inspect the switchboards. Various units in the switchboard equipment appeared to be from different sources, the chief said, and only two of the telephones at the North Front street place had listings.

Entrance to 356 Washington avenue was gained with little difficulty, the chief said, and nothing of consequence was found there. The place is a small one-story structure adjacent to a larger building.

Eight Operators Required

Operation of the tables taken from 124 North Front street required eight men. Chief Van Buren said Among other items confiscated were Daily Racing Form chart books.

Police made an unsuccessful attempt more than a year ago to raid the same building on North Front street.

Chief Van Buren said the raids yesterday were made with only brief last-minute preparation.

Smoke From Oil In Cellar Blocks Familes' Escape

Families on two upper floors of a three-story and basement building at 22 Stuyvesant street were held back by dense smoke without means of escape during a basement fire there shortly before noon today.

Fireman Harry Sills, suffered a cut wrist in breaking through a glass leading to the furnace room where an overflow of oil was "a sea of flames" on the arrival of firemen, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said.

Sills was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Several persons on the upper floors, including two infants were unable to get down because of the dense smoke, the chief said. He sent for the aerial truck and men and equipment from Cornell station immediately after arriving at the fire.

The aerial ladder was placed to a third floor window of the apartment of Dr. Harold Newman, but in the interim the smoke had cleared in the building and occupants of the upper floors were able to make their way down stairways.

The telephone alarm for the blaze was at 11:15 a. m. Chief Murphy said the fire had apparently started in oil from a domestic hot water heater in the furnace room, and when firemen arrived virtually the whole basement was on fire. A stream with fog nozzle was used in checking the flames.

Besides Dr. Newman on the third floor the family of Meyer Levy, was held back by the smoke as were the families of Sylvan Estroff, nurse who was asleep at the time, and Michael Basch.

The other families were in less serious danger, the chief indicated.

The building is owned by Louis Lifshitz. The chief said electrical units were damaged, a section of the first floor was opened in quenching the blaze and there was considerable smudge damage.

Reds Gain . . .

tigued Reds on the dusty battlefields.

Twice they cut off sizeable allied forces. Both times the allies escaped with slight losses. First it was the Turks. Then the Belgians.

Allied warplanes concentrated on the central front. Carrier based planes working over this area Tuesday reported they killed 2,000 Reds. Land based planes reported killing 1,200 Tuesday and another 1,000 before noon Wednesday.

Even B-29 Superforts flew against the Reds in close ground support. The allied planes operated around the clock.

Another jet battle was fought in far northern Korea between 20 Manchurian based Red jets and 24 American F-86 Sabre jets. No damage was reported.

Wicks Tells . . .

Gains Are Cited

"This year, the Republican Legislature again acted to increase teachers' salaries by enacting legislation which will cost the state $28,000,000 annually and eventually may mean a total cost of $40,000,000 a year. This 1951 legislation included bills which:

"1. Increase the state-mandated mimimum salary schedules by $500 at nearly all levels, effective next July 1, thus boosting the minimum generally to range from $2,500 to $5,825.

"2. Provide for an immediate $100 cost of living bonus for April, May and June of this year.

"3. Double the number of automatic salary increments to carry teachers in 10 years from a starting salary of $2,500 to a top automatic salary of $4,000 (instead of $2,750) in the smaller districts; from $2,700 to $4,350 (instead of $3,025) in cities of more than 100,000 population, Nassau and Westchester counties; and from $3,000 to $4,875 (instead of $3,438) in New York City.

"4. Continue the differential of $200 a year higher pay for teachers with masters' degrees.

"5. Revise upward equalization factors used in determining amounts to be apportioned in state aid to school districts.

"This broad, new program for raising teachers' salaries was the result of a comprehensive study and survey made by a special committee headed by Lieutenant Governor Frank C. Moore.

Praises Moore Committee

"The recommendations of the Moore Committee have been praised by many groups throughout the state. While some disgruntled and greedy individuals attempt to show that the state has been unfair and neglectful in is treatment of teachers and its efforts for education, let me point out that the Moore Committee report has received the commendation of several teachers' organizations.

"The executive secretary of the New York State Teachers' Association has termed the 1951 legislation 'the greatest single forward step ever taken in this state in connection with teachers' salaries' while the president of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers has declared the legislation 'will significantly improve the entire educational program in New York State.'

"The New York State School Boards Association hailed the 'fairmindedness' and 'yeoman service' given by the Moore Committee 'to a task complicated by many difficult problems' and the State Association of Elementary School Principals declared that the committee proposals 'should tend to attract more able young people into the teaching services in this state to help those now in service.'

Calls It 'Monumental'

"The president of the Rochester Teachers Association paid tribute to the 'monumental contribution to the cause of education in our state' and asserted that the influence of the committee report 'will extend through generations.' Similar commendation came from teachers organizations in Albany, Ogdensburg, Syracuse, Watertown and Yonkers, as well as the Buffalo Industrial Teachers Association, Local 39.

"Every father and mother of our state should be grateful for the interest shown by their state administration in the education of their children. Every citizen of our state should be thankful that the administration is dedicated to making our educational system the best in the nation and the world."

Price Order Hits

Some Increases in Future

The new order will bring some price increases—mainly for those who heeded the government's appeal for "voluntary" restraint and then were caught in the Jan. 26 price freeze. But these will be outweighed by the rollbacks, DiSalle said.

Stripped to essentials, each factory's new price ceiling will be: The pre-Korea price, plus wage increases and increased cost of materials. On most materials, increases only up to last December 31 can be counted.

Even if a firm finds itself entitled to a price boost on this basis, it must give OPS 15 days notice before marking up the price tag. OPS thus gets a chance to double-check.

Under these rules, manufacturers sharpened their pencils to reprice goods having an annual gross value estimated by OPS at $70 billion. This is about 23 per cent of the nation's entire output of goods and services.

Must Be in Force

The new ceilings must be in force by May 28. Retail buyers will feel the effect later, depending on how long it takes for the new goods to reach retailers' shelves and showrooms.

This array of products is covered:

Consumer "hard goods" including radios, television sets, refrigerators, washing machines, ranges, furniture, hardware, household appliances.

Many processed food and grocery items including breakfast cereals, crackers, cookies, macaroni, spaghetti, canned fish, potato chips, mustard, baked beans, pickles, peanut butter, sauces, seasonings, baking powder, candy, soup mixes, meat extracts, gelatin desserts, olives, yeast, and dog food.

A wide group of miscellaneous items including auto tires and tubes, many building materials (but not lumber or plywood, which are otherwise controlled), paper and paper products, rayon and some other textiles.

Committee Favors

than the President had estimated in his January budget.

Included in the emergency measure which the committee sent to the House floor today are funds for a new atomic energy commission "Project X;" for a quick build-up in the manpower of the army, the navy, the marine corps and the air force; and for a speed-up in procurement of the "hardware" for war—tanks, guns, guided missiles, and airplanes.

To Cut June Draft

The army disclosed, during the hearings which preceded committee action, that it plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men and to bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-weary Korean veterans monthly starting in May.

It also exjects to recall to active service in the next two months 15,000 reserve officers to help train an army estimated to have a strength of 1,552,000 on June 30.

A large chunk of the new defense money is needed to meet cost increases of equipment and supplies since the war started in Korea. Army officials said, for instance, that an improved model General Patton tank which cost $193,000 before Korea now costs $240,000.

Largest Allotment

The largest allotment in the bill is for the army, which was earmarked for $2,850,594,000 of the $2,850,869,000 it requested. The $275,000 cut in army funds was in the finance service, and army spokesmen approved it.

The navy's share is $1,645,812,000, exactly what it wanted.

Child Is Injured

Dawn Louise Menzel, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Menzel, 40 Liberty street, suffered abarsions of the legs, arms and head in a traffic mishap on Liberty street between Broadway and Prospect street yesterday. The police report at 5:45 p. m., said Raymond Snyder, 153 Prospect street, reported that he was driving his car west on Liberty street when the child "ran from the curb into the left front fender" of his car and was thrown to the pavement. Snyder and the child's father took her to Kingston Hospital, the report said.

Israel Bond Luncheon

An appeal to local residents to attend the Bond Israel Government luncheon conference at the Hotel Newburgh next Sunday, April 29, was made today by Arthur Ewig and Oscar London, co-chairmen for Kingston in the nation-wide $500,000,000 Israel Bond drive. Avraham Harman, chief of information bureau of the Israeli Government, will be one of the speakers. The luncheon conference will start at 12:30 p. m.

Father Herdegen's Funeral Crowds Church on Monday

The funeral of the Rev. Henry E. Herdegen held Monday filled St. Peter's Church on Wurts street with dignitaries of the Roman Catholic faith, parishioners and friends from various other religious denominations, who attended the rites out of respect to the clergyman beloved by many in all walks of life.

Celebrant of the solemn Mass of requiem at 11 a. m. for the repose of his soul was the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, pastor of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties. The Rev. Joseph Damin, Assumption Church, Peekskill was deacon and the Rev. Frederick Frey, assistant pastor of St. Theresa's Church, North Tarrytown, subdeacon.

Master of ceremonies was the Rev. James V. Keating of St. Joseph's Church, this city, and the eulogy was delivered by the Very Rev. Msgr. Joseph Krug, president of Stepinac High School New York city. Monsignor Krug pointed to the exemplary life led by Father Herdegen as a priest and his spirit of brotherhood in dealing with his fellowmen.

First in his thoughts were the sick and needy and his devotion to patients trying to regain their health in institutions, such as the Ulster County Tuberculosis Hospital which he served as chaplain for many years until his own health failed. He was a member of the executive board of the hospital.

Monsignor Krug lauded Father Herdegen's interest in the Knights of Columbus, sports activities for the welfare of youth and other programs sponsored by the Catholic Youth Organization.

Responses to the Mass were sung by the students' choir of Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, consisting of 30 voices, under the direction of the Rev. Clement Englert, C.Ss.R.

Members of the Fourth Degree Assembly, Knights of Columbus, Kingston Council 275, formed a guard of honor on the day of the funeral and during the time the body reposed in the church.

More than 71 pastors and assistants from Catholic Churches throughout the diocese attended the Mass, also nuns from the various parishes and institutions of the area and members of religious societies for men and women.

Among those at the rites in St. Peter's, where Father Herdegen had been assistant pastor for 21 years, were Bishop Joseph F. Flannelly, rector of St. Patrick's Cathedral, New York, representing Francis Cardinal Spellman; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Walter Kellenberg, chancellor, New York; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Michael O'Shea, Poughkeepsie; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Scally, Yonkers; the Rt. Rev. Msgr. John J. Casey, New York; the Rt. Rev. Charles Giblin, New York; the Rt. Rev. Stephen P. Connelly, pastor of St. Joseph's Church, this city; the Rev. Terrence J. Cooke, assistant director, Catholic Youth Organization.

Bishop Flannelly gave the absolution after Mass, and as the body was lowered in the graye at Calvary Cemetery, Long Island City, the final blessing was read by the Rev. Joseph A. Geis, pastor of St. Peter's Church, assisted by the Rev. Fathers Joseph D. Ostermann, James V. Keating, John McManus, John McSherry, James Kenny, Clement J. Rieger, Frederick Frey and Arthur Kane.

Bearers, all members of St. Peter's Holy Name Society, were Cornelius J. Heitzmann, William J. Heitzmann, Leonard P. Ward, Richard A. Hinkley, Edward R. Arnold and Frank J. Leirey.

Nuns in attendance at the Mass were Sisters of Christian Charity, St. Peter's; Benedictine Sisters, Sacred Heart Sisters from West Park Orphanage and Sisters of the Society of St. Ursula.

During the time the body reposed in the church, societies calling to recite the Rosary were St. Peter's Holy Name, Christian Mothers Society, Children of Mary Sodality, Rosary Society, Parish Club, Catholic Daughters of America from Court Santa Maria, 164; Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus and the Fourth Degree Assembly of the council.

Divine Office was sung Sunday at 8 p. m. by Monsignor Drury assisted by 50 clergymen from parishes in this area. After the ceremony, 85 members of the Fourth Degree, K. of C., in full regalia with drawn swords formed an arch while visitors filed past the bier.

Monday morning at 8 o'clock, children of St. Peter's School attended Mass for the repose of Father Herdegen's soul.

Republicans Call

said Ridgway had proposed to the Pentagon that Chinese troops from Formosa be sent into battle.

Whitney said Ridgway, who succeeded MacArthur in the Pacific commands, made this proposal "after analyzing the situation," evidently shortly after he took over field command in Korea.

Whitney quoted Ridgway as saying the Nationalists were needed to support his troops' military position, leaving unclear whether they might be sent into battle in Korea or on the mainland.

Whitney said all senior officers in the Far East favored use of Chiang Kai-shek's troops. Deputy Secretary of Defense Robert Lovett, declining to comment on any possible use of Chiang's forces, told a news conference 400 to 500 more men may be assigned to the U. S. military mission on Formosa.

On the issue of Chiang's troops, Senator Kerr (D-Okla.), No. 1 MacArthur critic in Congress, told reporters:

"I'm not chasing rumors from Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney.

"MacArthur was the man who wanted to expand the war. MacArthur was the man released from his command for insubordination and refusal to comply with orders. Let him speak before the Senate committee where he can tell his whole story and be cross-examined."

Senator McMahon (D-Conn.) said in an interview Whitney's claim makes it imperative "that we open up hearings as soon as possible—and I mean open."

The Senate Armed Services and probably the Foreign Relations Committees have arranged to hear MacArthur May 3 at the start of an over-all inquiry into American military and foreign policies in Asia.

Chairman Russell (D-Ga.), who will run the investigation, favors keeping the hearings closed to the public.

Warrant Is Issued

A bench warrant was issued today through the office of City Judge Raymond J. Mino for the apprehension of Shaheen Nassar, formerly of this city and recently of Walden, following his failure to appear in city court to answer to a disorderly person charge. Bail of $100 was forfeited through his failure to appear. The information charges abandonment of a wife and child. Attorney Roger Loughran represents Mrs. Nassar.

Police Raids Bring

part of the office of Chief Van-Buren.

Nine telephones, a ticker machine with tape, and two tables intricately attached switch board equipment, two clocks, an adding machine, desk, filing cabinets, chairs, including a high stool chair, track tickets, and partly burned papers, along with other miscellaneous items were taken from 124 North Front street.

Chief Van Buren said an apparent attempt had been made to burn the papers when it was discovered that the police were entering the building.

15 Telephones Seized

Six telephones, which police believe might have been used as extensions, were taken from the room in the building on the corner of Lucas and Washington avenues, bringing the total for the raids to 15. Three telephones were taken in the raid ten days earlier at 48 Chambers street. Three adding machines were also taken from there.

The fines yesterday of $500 each for the four men arrested following the Chambers street raid was for violations of sections of the Penal Law dealing with both horse case bets and lottery policy. One, who police said, acted as janitor at the place, was fined only $50 in conjunction with the policy charge.

Officers Making Arrests

The police report at 2:37 p. m., on yesterday's raids said the men were arrested by Sgt. Lemuel Howard, and Officers Frank Sammons and Thomas Tomshaw, assisted by Lt. James P. Martin, Officers Ernest Bartroff and Charles Hoehing and Specials Albert Eisele and Ralph Countryman.

Lt. Martin with Officers Bartroff and Hoehing also visited 356 Washington avenue, and Detective Clarence Brophy with Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburgh, and County Investigator Leonard Belmore conducted the raid on 43 Lucas avenue, where doors were broken to gain entrance.

Telephone Company Attends

A group of officials from the New York Telephone Company visited the office of Chief Van Buren this morning to inspect the switchboards. Various units in the switchboard equipment appeared to be from different sources, the chief said, and only two of the telephones at the North Front street place had listings.

Entrance to 356 Washington avenue was gained with little difficulty, the chief said, and nothing of consequence was found there. The place is a small one-story structure adjacent to a larger building.

Eight Operators Required

Operation of the tables taken from 124 North Front street required eight men. Chief Van Buren said Among other items confiscated were Daily Racing Form chart books.

Police made an unsuccessful attempt more than a year ago to raid the same building on North Front street.

Chief Van Buren said the raids yesterday were made with only brief last-minute preparation.

Smoke From Oil In Cellar Blocks Familes' Escape

Families on two upper floors of a three-story and basement building at 22 Stuyvesant street were held back by dense smoke without means of escape during a basement fire there shortly before noon today.

Fireman Harry Sills, suffered a cut wrist in breaking through a glass leading to the furnace room where an overflow of oil was "a sea of flames" on the arrival of firemen, Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said.

Sills was treated at Kingston Hospital.

Several persons on the upper floors, including two infants were unable to get down because of the dense smoke, the chief said. He sent for the aerial truck and men and equipment from Cornell station immediately after arriving at the fire.

The aerial ladder was placed to a third floor window of the apartment of Dr. Harold Newman, but in the interim the smoke had cleared in the building and occupants of the upper floors were able to make their way down stairways.

The telephone alarm for the blaze was at 11:15 a. m. Chief Murphy said the fire had apparently started in oil from a domestic hot water heater in the furnace room, and when firemen arrived virtually the whole basement was on fire. A stream with fog nozzle was used in checking the flames.

Besides Dr. Newman on the third floor the family of Meyer Levy, was held back by the smoke as were the families of Sylvan Estroff, nurse who was asleep at the time, and Michael Basch.

The other families were in less serious danger, the chief indicated.

The building is owned by Louis Lifshitz. The chief said electrical units were damaged, a section of the first floor was opened in quenching the blaze and there was considerable smudge damage.

Reds Gain . . .

tigued Reds on the dusty battlefields.

Twice they cut off sizeable allied forces. Both times the allies escaped with slight losses. First it was the Turks. Then the Belgians.

Allied warplanes concentrated on the central front. Carrier based planes working over this area Tuesday reported they killed 2,000 Reds. Land based planes reported killing 1,200 Tuesday and another 1,000 before noon Wednesday.

Even B-29 Superforts flew against the Reds in close ground support. The allied planes operated around the clock.

Another jet battle was fought in far northern Korea between 20 Manchurian based Red jets and 24 American F-86 Sabre jets. No damage was reported.

Wicks Tells . . .

Gains Are Cited

"This year, the Republican Legislature again acted to increase teachers' salaries by enacting legislation which will cost the state $28,000,000 annually and eventually may mean a total cost of $40,000,000 a year. This 1951 legislation included bills which:

"1. Increase the state-mandated mimimum salary schedules by $500 at nearly all levels, effective next July 1, thus boosting the minimum generally to range from $2,500 to $5,825.

"2. Provide for an immediate $100 cost of living bonus for April, May and June of this year.

"3. Double the number of automatic salary increments to carry teachers in 10 years from a starting salary of $2,500 to a top automatic salary of $4,000 (instead of $2,750) in the smaller districts; from $2,700 to $4,350 (instead of $3,025) in cities of more than 100,000 population, Nassau and Westchester counties; and from $3,000 to $4,875 (instead of $3,438) in New York City.

"4. Continue the differential of $200 a year higher pay for teachers with masters' degrees.

"5. Revise upward equalization factors used in determining amounts to be apportioned in state aid to school districts.

"This broad, new program for raising teachers' salaries was the result of a comprehensive study and survey made by a special committee headed by Lieutenant Governor Frank C. Moore.

Praises Moore Committee

"The recommendations of the Moore Committee have been praised by many groups throughout the state. While some disgruntled and greedy individuals attempt to show that the state has been unfair and neglectful in is treatment of teachers and its efforts for education, let me point out that the Moore Committee report has received the commendation of several teachers' organizations.

"The executive secretary of the New York State Teachers' Association has termed the 1951 legislation 'the greatest single forward step ever taken in this state in connection with teachers' salaries' while the president of the New York State Congress of Parents and Teachers has declared the legislation 'will significantly improve the entire educational program in New York State.'

"The New York State School Boards Association hailed the 'fairmindedness' and 'yeoman service' given by the Moore Committee 'to a task complicated by many difficult problems' and the State Association of Elementary School Principals declared that the committee proposals 'should tend to attract more able young people into the teaching services in this state to help those now in service.'

Calls It 'Monumental'

"The president of the Rochester Teachers Association paid tribute to the 'monumental contribution to the cause of education in our state' and asserted that the influence of the committee report 'will extend through generations.' Similar commendation came from teachers organizations in Albany, Ogdensburg, Syracuse, Watertown and Yonkers, as well as the Buffalo Industrial Teachers Association, Local 39.

"Every father and mother of our state should be grateful for the interest shown by their state administration in the education of their children. Every citizen of our state should be thankful that the administration is dedicated to making our educational system the best in the nation and the world."

Price Order Hits

Some Increases in Future

The new order will bring some price increases—mainly for those who heeded the government's appeal for "voluntary" restraint and then were caught in the Jan. 26 price freeze. But these will be outweighed by the rollbacks, DiSalle said.

Stripped to essentials, each factory's new price ceiling will be: The pre-Korea price, plus wage increases and increased cost of materials. On most materials, increases only up to last December 31 can be counted.

Even if a firm finds itself entitled to a price boost on this basis, it must give OPS 15 days notice before marking up the price tag. OPS thus gets a chance to double-check.

Under these rules, manufacturers sharpened their pencils to reprice goods having an annual gross value estimated by OPS at $70 billion. This is about 23 per cent of the nation's entire output of goods and services.

Must Be in Force

The new ceilings must be in force by May 28. Retail buyers will feel the effect later, depending on how long it takes for the new goods to reach retailers' shelves and showrooms.

This array of products is covered:

Consumer "hard goods" including radios, television sets, refrigerators, washing machines, ranges, furniture, hardware, household appliances.

Many processed food and grocery items including breakfast cereals, crackers, cookies, macaroni, spaghetti, canned fish, potato chips, mustard, baked beans, pickles, peanut butter, sauces, seasonings, baking powder, candy, soup mixes, meat extracts, gelatin desserts, olives, yeast, and dog food.

A wide group of miscellaneous items including auto tires and tubes, many building materials (but not lumber or plywood, which are otherwise controlled), paper and paper products, rayon and some other textiles.

Committee Favors

than the President had estimated in his January budget.

Included in the emergency measure which the committee sent to the House floor today are funds for a new atomic energy commission "Project X;" for a quick build-up in the manpower of the army, the navy, the marine corps and the air force; and for a speed-up in procurement of the "hardware" for war—tanks, guns, guided missiles, and airplanes.

To Cut June Draft

The army disclosed, during the hearings which preceded committee action, that it plans to cut its June draft call to 20,000 men and to bring home upwards of 20,000 battle-weary Korean veterans monthly starting in May.

It also exjects to recall to active service in the next two months 15,000 reserve officers to help train an army estimated to have a strength of 1,552,000 on June 30.

A large chunk of the new defense money is needed to meet cost increases of equipment and supplies since the war started in Korea. Army officials said, for instance, that an improved model General Patton tank which cost $193,000 before Korea now costs $240,000.

Largest Allotment

The largest allotment in the bill is for the army, which was earmarked for $2,850,594,000 of the $2,850,869,000 it requested. The $275,000 cut in army funds was in the finance service, and army spokesmen approved it.

The navy's share is $1,645,812,000, exactly what it wanted.

Child Is Injured

Dawn Louise Menzel, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Menzel, 40 Liberty street, suffered abarsions of the legs, arms and head in a traffic mishap on Liberty street between Broadway and Prospect street yesterday. The police report at 5:45 p. m., said Raymond Snyder, 153 Prospect street, reported that he was driving his car west on Liberty street when the child "ran from the curb into the left front fender" of his car and was thrown to the pavement. Snyder and the child's father took her to Kingston Hospital, the report said.

Israel Bond Luncheon

An appeal to local residents to attend the Bond Israel Government luncheon conference at the Hotel Newburgh next Sunday, April 29, was made today by Arthur Ewig and Oscar London, co-chairmen for Kingston in the nation-wide $500,000,000 Israel Bond drive. Avraham Harman, chief of information bureau of the Israeli Government, will be one of the speakers. The luncheon conference will start at 12:30 p. m.

Harry C. France

An eminent clergyman has joined secial security. His number is on file in Washington. He has succumbed to one of the popular temptations—to cast his lot with that great army of persons who in the future will receive sustenance checks from Uncle Sam.

A decade ago, such an act would have been unthinkable. For the better part of his life he has been a rugged individualist. His New Hampshire home in early life helped to make him so. His forceful utterances nurtured this characteristic.

For years his pulpit oratory eloquently proclaimed the belief that sin and salvation were highly personal things. Wrongdoing was everlastingly linked to individual conduct. And entrance into life eternal was the reward of those who lived righteous lives. Collectivism was an abomination in the fields of sin and salvation.

But in the year 1951 A.D. collectivism enters his security world.

The point I am trying to make is that in the multi-sided existence of man, it seems to me that sin and salvation and security ought to have a common foundation.

What I am talking about is deep and fundamental. Slowly but surely, the citzenry of the United States is being softened up and reconditioned to state control. The strength that was built into economic and political America did not come from socialism. It came from rugged individuals.

I don't like it at all when a prominent clergyman signs up to get a governmental pension. His church should be alarmed. His lay leaders should ask: "What is going on here? Why do we not properly care for this man's economic requirements in his old age?"

In the decades ahead the American people will get the kind of economic world they deserve. Props and supports, subsidies and hand-outs, high taxes and spending—all these will have their reward.

Back of every economic movement which helps to sustain our national life, there is a logical reason. Millions of dollars are loaned by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to save an enterprise about to collapse. Millions more go into the operations of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Billions of dollars go into federal payrolls and billions more into foreign aid. Somebody can rationalize all of these expenditures.

Where does the money come from? Why, from the people in the form of taxes. And in these procedures, economic inefficiences result.

Any reader of these lines who does not want the government to take over greater and greater control of our economic life will, himself, cultivate economic self-reliance.

Self-imposed social security has always been the best. Work, thrift and saving are fostered best by individual effort.

My heart is always heavy when I read of the plans of politicians to ease the economic responsibilities of the individuals. Such plans build a socialist state. They condition people for a sad financial future.

That man who goes to the savings bank every pay day and makes a deposit, who remembers he will have 30, 40 or 50 years to build a competence, who takes out life and endowment insurance as he is able and who buys into the sound businesses of America—that man, I say, will never fall into the economic toils of the politicians.

And the engaging invitations of all those who want to promote a soft socialist America will be firmly turned down. For myself, before I will have a number in Washington, I will go back to my Schoharie county birthplace and milk cows the rest of my life.

WAGE STABILIZER — Dr. George Taylor, above, University of Pennsylvania professor, has been named chairman of President Truman's new Wage Stabilization Board during its "organization period." Dr. Taylor served for three years as vice chairman and later chairman of the War Labor Board in World War II.

The moving picture, "Preface to Life," was shown at the regular Tuesday noon meeting of the Kingston Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The picture has been obtained by the Mental Health Committee of the Ulster County Tuberculosis and Health Association, and is currently being shown to various groups in the county. Dr. Henry L. Bibby and Miss Katherine M. Murphy, R.N., were present to comment upon the picture. Miss Murphy, executive secretary of the Tuberculosis and Health Association also thanked the Lions Club for providing the association with a booth at the industrial exposition. Through that booth, she said, the association was able to contact many persons it could not reach in any other way.

An eminent clergyman has joined social security. His number is on file in Washington. He has succumbed to one of the popular temptations—to cast his lot with that great army of persons who in the future will receive sustenance checks from Uncle Sam.

A decade ago, such an act would have been unthinkable. For the better part of his life he has been a rugged individualist. His New Hampshire home in early life helped to make him so. His forceful utterances nurtured this characteristic.

For years his pulpit oratory eloquently proclaimed the belief that sin and salvation were highly personal things. Wrongdoing was everlastingly linked to individual conduct. And entrance into life eternal was the reward of those who lived righteous lives. Collectivism was an abomination in the fields of sin and salvation.

But in the year 1951 A.D. collectivism enters his security world.

The point I am trying to make is that in the multi-sided existence of man, it seems to me that sin and salvation and security ought to have a common foundation.

What I am talking about is deep and fundamental. Slowly but surely, the citzenry of the United States is being softened up and reconditioned to state control. The strength that was built into economic and political America did not come from socialism. It came from rugged individuals.

I don't like it at all when a prominent clergyman signs up to get a governmental pension. His church should be alarmed. His lay leaders should ask: "What is going on here? Why do we not properly care for this man's economic requirements in his old age?"

In the decades ahead the American people will get the kind of economic world they deserve. Props and supports, subsidies and hand-outs, high taxes and spending—all these will have their reward.

Back of every economic movement which helps to sustain our national life, there is a logical reason. Millions of dollars are loaned by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation to save an enterprise about to collapse. Millions more go into the operations of the Commodity Credit Corporation.

Billions of dollars go into federal payrolls and billions more into foreign aid. Somebody can rationalize all of these expenditures.

Where does the money come from? Why, from the people in the form of taxes. And in these procedures, economic inefficiences result.

Any reader of these lines who does not want the government to take over greater and greater control of our economic life will, himself, cultivate economic self-reliance.

Self-imposed social security has always been the best. Work, thrift and saving are fostered best by individual effort.

My heart is always heavy when I read of the plans of politicians to ease the economic responsibilities of the individuals. Such plans build a socialist state. They condition people for a sad financial future.

That man who goes to the savings bank every pay day and makes a deposit, who remembers he will have 30, 40 or 50 years to build a competence, who takes out life and endowment insurance as he is able and who buys into the sound businesses of America—that man, I say, will never fall into the economic toils of the politicians.

Germans Complain

Bonn (AP)—Allied mock battlefields in West Germany cover an area over half the size of the Duchy of Luxembourg, German officials reported. U.S. and British troops alone use 529 square miles for training grounds. The French also have marked off large military areas. Allied commanders are now studying a memoradum proposing a German advisory board to prevent excessive damage to agriculture and forestry. The memorandum expressed fear that future transfer of Allied reinforcements to Germany would lead to abandonment of whole villages to provide better firing ranges for artillery.

Malaria Fought in Arabia

Alexandria, Egypt (AP) — The World Health Organization (WHO) has opened a battle against malaria in Saudi Arabia. Malaria is the most serious health problem in Saudi Arabia, especially in the area around Mecca, Medina and Juddah — visited annually by thousands of Moslem pilgrims. Dr. M. A. Farid, an Egyptian scientist, is now surveying the evidence and spread of malaria. Control operations, including DDT spraying, drainage and other measures, are expected to begin next year.

Germans Complain

Bonn (AP)—Allied mock battlefields in West Germany cover an area over half the size of the Duchy of Luxembourg, German officials reported. U.S. and British troops alone use 529 square miles for training grounds. The French also have marked off large military areas. Allied commanders are now studying a memoradum proposing a German advisory board to prevent excessive damage to agriculture and forestry. The memorandum expressed fear that future transfer of Allied reinforcements to Germany would lead to abandonment of whole villages to provide better firing ranges for artillery.

Malaria Fought in Arabia

Alexandria, Egypt (AP) — The World Health Organization (WHO) has opened a battle against malaria in Saudi Arabia. Malaria is the most serious health problem in Saudi Arabia, especially in the area around Mecca, Medina and Juddah — visited annually by thousands of Moslem pilgrims. Dr. M. A. Farid, an Egyptian scientist, is now surveying the evidence and spread of malaria. Control operations, including DDT spraying, drainage and other measures, are expected to begin next year.

Truck Holds Headaches

Ivor, Va. (AP)—State Trooper A. O. Downing said he had never seen so many curious people before in his life. But he refused to let any of them stop on U. S. Route 460 near here after a heavy tractor-trailer truck ran off the road, overturned and struck a tree. There were no personal injuries, but the truck was badly damaged—along with part of its cargo. The cargo—headed for Alcoholic Beverage Control Board stores in the Tidewater area—was $20,000 worth of bonded whisky.

Plans for Women Barbers

Prague (AP)—If everything goes according to plan, the time will come when there won't be a man barber left in Prague. The men who now work in the barbershops will be in offices or mines or factories, and women will be working in their places. The women already have a toehold. They make up the entire staffs of three of the 1,620 barbershops in this city of a million people.

Redondo Beach, Calif. (AP) — There were no questions asked when butcher Jack Watson was cutting up some roasts in his shop and a great dane "of about shetland pony size" came in, selected the biggest one, and stalked out with the choice cut in its mouth. Watson watched the dog disappear down the street. He said he didn't do anything because of it's "unusual size."

Truck Holds Headaches

Ivor, Va. (AP)—State Trooper A. O. Downing said he had never seen so many curious people before in his life. But he refused to let any of them stop on U. S. Route 460 near here after a heavy tractor-trailer truck ran off the road, overturned and struck a tree. There were no personal injuries, but the truck was badly damaged—along with part of its cargo. The cargo—headed for Alcoholic Beverage Control Board stores in the Tidewater area—was $20,000 worth of bonded whisky.

Plans for Women Barbers

Prague (AP)—If everything goes according to plan, the time will come when there won't be a man barber left in Prague. The men who now work in the barbershops will be in offices or mines or factories, and women will be working in their places. The women already have a toehold. They make up the entire staffs of three of the 1,620 barbershops in this city of a million people.

Discretion Over Valor

Redondo Beach, Calif. (AP) — There were no questions asked when butcher Jack Watson was cutting up some roasts in his shop and a great dane "of about shetland pony size" came in, selected the biggest one, and stalked out with the choice cut in its mouth. Watson watched the dog disappear down the street. He said he didn't do anything because of it's "unusual size."

Use of Hindi Pushed

New Delhi (AP) — The all-India conference on letters approved plans for the compilation of an Indian encyclopedia in Hindi, the new republic's official national language. Conference delegates voted to intensify measures promoting the study of Hindi in the many areas of India where regional tongues prevail.

The average U. S. farm had a net income of about $350 in 1900 and this grew to $2,225 in 1950.

Little Gardens Club Hears of Audubon's Work With Birds

Speaking before the Little Gardens Club when it met Friday at the home of Mrs. Maxwell Taylor, 46 Fairmount avenue, Mrs. Joseph Carroll delivered a paper on Audubon's Birds.

It was in 1838, when Audubon was 53 years old, she began after a brief resume of his life, that he finally finished his work of painting America's birds. The work embraces 435 plates illustrating 1,065 birds of 489 species. All of the plates are in full color, and most of them show birds in their natural settings. A complete original set, the speaker added, is valued today between $25,000 and $30,000.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Carroll explained, between the years 1821 and 1839 Audubon wrote five volumes of his Ornithological Biography, a work containing more than 3,000 descriptive pages dealing with American birds, their life histories, and his own thrilling adventures encountered observing them in remote places.

Today, the speaker continued, reprints of his paintings decorate the walls of millions of American and European homes. His original prints have become the prized possession of clubs, historical societies, libraries and museums throughout the world.

Mrs. Carroll, whose paper also touched on soil conservation which is so important to wild life, showed enlarged pictures of the gyrfalcon, Bachman's warbler, the ivory-billed woodpecker, the white-crowned pigeon, and the magnolia warbler.

Speaking of soil conservation, Mrs. Carroll reminded her audience that Audubon had had the same vision as Washington, Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt, and Patrick Henry who, 170 years ago foresaw the devastation which would one day be caused by soil erosion in Virginia. It is Patrick Henry who said: "He is the greatest patriot who stops the most gullies."

The first dramatic step in rousing men to realize the urgent need to save wild animals, Mrs. Carroll concluded, was to make men aware of their interest, and beauty, an achievement which can be credited to Audubon, and the thousands of naturalists, artists, and conservationists who followed him.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, and Mrs. William Taylor, co-hostess.

Little Gardens Club Hears of Audubon's Work With Birds

Speaking before the Little Gardens Club when it met Friday at the home of Mrs. Maxwell Taylor, 46 Fairmount avenue, Mrs. Joseph Carroll delivered a paper on Audubon's Birds.

It was in 1838, when Audubon was 53 years old, she began after a brief resume of his life, that he finally finished his work of painting America's birds. The work embraces 435 plates illustrating 1,065 birds of 489 species. All of the plates are in full color, and most of them show birds in their natural settings. A complete original set, the speaker added, is valued today between $25,000 and $30,000.

Meanwhile, Mrs. Carroll explained, between the years 1821 and 1839 Audubon wrote five volumes of his Ornithological Biography, a work containing more than 3,000 descriptive pages dealing with American birds, their life histories, and his own thrilling adventures encountered observing them in remote places.

Today, the speaker continued, reprints of his paintings decorate the walls of millions of American and European homes. His original prints have become the prized possession of clubs, historical societies, libraries and museums throughout the world.

Mrs. Carroll, whose paper also touched on soil conservation which is so important to wild life, showed enlarged pictures of the gyrfalcon, Bachman's warbler, the ivory-billed woodpecker, the white-crowned pigeon, and the magnolia warbler.

Speaking of soil conservation, Mrs. Carroll reminded her audience that Audubon had had the same vision as Washington, Jefferson, Theodore Roosevelt, and Patrick Henry who, 170 years ago foresaw the devastation which would one day be caused by soil erosion in Virginia. It is Patrick Henry who said: "He is the greatest patriot who stops the most gullies."

The first dramatic step in rousing men to realize the urgent need to save wild animals, Mrs. Carroll concluded, was to make men aware of their interest, and beauty, an achievement which can be credited to Audubon, and the thousands of naturalists, artists, and conservationists who followed him.

Following the meeting refreshments were served by the hostess, and Mrs. William Taylor, co-hostess.

REFUSING A MAN'S INVITATION

A confused young woman writes: "Why can't a girl refuse an invitation from one man and then later accept an invitation from another to the same dance? Mother says it would be wrong and quotes a recent answer of yours in your column to back her up. I wonder what you would say if you knew the circumstances were these: The first man who asked me is someone I've never gone out with and don't like; the second is a man who has never before asked me for a date but who is someone I do want to go out with very much."

I have said that to decline the invitation of one friend to go to a dance and then later accept a second boy friend's invitation to the same dance, would be unforgivably rude to the first. But when a man a girl does not like, and whose attentions she does not want to accept, invites her to go with him she is right in refusing, and she certainly is free to later accept the invitation of someone she does like very much. It is every woman's right to accept (or regret) the invitations given her.

Big Napkins for Men

Dear Mrs. Post: Since I cannot seat as many as twelve at my dining table (and have no one to wait on table) I'm setting my large dining room table as a buffet and using three card tables to sit at. The large table will have a white linen cloth but the card tables will have three different cloths, ranging in color from ecru to white. I have napkins (small ones) accompanying each of these, and also large dinner napkins matching the big table cloth. Which shall the places at the card tables be set with?

Answer: With the napkins matching each cloth. If you know that your husband and some of your men guests dislike little napkins you could put a pile of big napkins on the buffet table so that they may help themselves.

Proposing a Toast

Dear Mrs. Post: At what part of a dinner should a toast be proposed? This is a dinner in honor of someone who is retiring from our company.

Answer: When the table is cleared for dessert.

Proceeds From Coach House Production For Scholarship Fund

The Coach House Players' second production, The Alarm Clock, which will be presented tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in Kingston High School auditorium, will help finance the group's scholarship fund, it was announced today. Players have set up the fund to send some worthy student in the area to college.

The comedy itself, Players feel, promises to be "an even greater success" than their debut production, See How They Run. Starring in the lead role of Mary Kent is Eve Pech, previously of the Monroe County Playhouse, Connecticut. Mrs. Pech's other leading roles include Suds in Your Eye, Torchbearers, and January Thaw. In tomorrow night's production she will be metamorphized from a country to lass, to a sophisticated country doll.

20th Century Hears Papers on Water, Typical Area Birds

A paper of The Importance of Water in Our Lives, submitted by Mrs. R. H. D. Boerker, was heard by members of the 20th Century Club when they met Monday night at the home of Mrs. S. Maxwell Taylor, 46 Fairmont avenue. At the same meeting Mrs. Charles Brandt told of the various types of birds which visit her garden, and members reelected the club's present slate of officers for another year.

Officers are Mrs. Joseph Deegan, president; Mrs. Herman Schwenk, vice-president; Mrs. William Eltinge, treasurer; Mrs. DeWitt Wells, secretary.

During her paper Mrs. Boerker clearly emphasized the necessity of water by pointing out that one human body alone, composed as it is of 70 per cent water, requires 11,304,000 pounds of liquid each year.

The most important thing about water," she said," is to have it in the right place at the right time. Man has disturbed the balance of nature in such a profound way that this important requirement has been violated."

The Eternal Cycle

The speaker went on to explain that the quantity of water on earth is a constant factor, and that there is an eternal cycle, which begins with the falling of a raindrop to the land, and ends when that same drop of water returns to the atmosphere.

Modern water conservation measures, Mrs. Boerker continued, attempt to regulate our water supply, allowing precipitation to sink into the ground, rather than running off the land. The results implicate soil management and conservation; forest, lake and stream preservation, wild life protection, contour ploughing, strip-cropping, and terrace farming.

"Knowledge and skill," she concluded, "are the keys to unlock the doors of understanding and cooperation in applying these new techniques."

The Cardinal and Grosbeak

In speaking of the 53 species of birds she has seen in her garden, Mrs. Charles Brandt described in detail the cardinal and evening grosbeak, explaining "up to a few years ago, the cardinal was rarely seen north of New York, but for the last five or six years, for some unknown reason, it has extended its habitat northward."

The bird, which has become fairly common here is, she continued, known by many names: Cardinal grosbeak, crested redbird, Virginia redbird, Virginia nightingale. But to most southerners it is simply known as the redbird. It has been immortalized, she told the group, under the title of James Allen's book, The Kentucky Cardinal.

Small and Brilliant

The cardinal is a small, brilliant bird, about eight inches long or slightly smaller than the robin. The female, harder to identify, is a brownish yellow, shading to gray underneath, with a shorter tail than the male. The crest, tail, and wings are reddish, she said, and the breast is also sometimes tinged with red.

As is usually true of members of the finch family, it is a songster. Its coloring and song prompted Europeans to import large numbers, where they are known as the Virginia nightingale.

Occasional Visitor

The evening grosbeak, Mrs. Brandt continued, a native of the northwest, for some reason, every few years, pays this area a winter visit. It was last seen here in the winter of '44. Also a member of the finch family, it is about two inches smaller than the robin. Its forehead, shoulders, and underneath are clear yellow, while the sides of the head, throat, and chest are olive brown. The bird's black crown, tail and wings, the latter tipped with white, form a striking contrast.

The female, she explained, is a brownish gray, more or less suffused with yellow. Here, too, the wings and tail are black, with some white feathers.

May Dinner

During the business meeting members heard the club's annual reports. It was announced that the closing event this year will be a dinner May 9 at Judie's at 6:30 p. m.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Adam Porter, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, described the ceremonies for General of the Army Douglas MacArthur which she witnessed in Washington, D. C., last week.

St. Peter's Church Is Scene of Nuptials For Miss Virginia Lee, Eugene M. Reis

St. Peter's Church set the scene Sunday for the marriage of Miss Virginia Ida Lee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee, 27 North Wilbur avenue, to Eugene Martin Reis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Reis, 177 Hunter street.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p. m. by the Rev. Joseph A. Geis, pastor of St. Peter's. During the ceremony Miss Anne A. Goldrick, organist, played traditional wedding music.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was dressed in a traditional white satin gown, fashioned with a lace trimmed sweetheart neckline, a nylon yoke, long pointed sleeves and a bouffant skirt ending in a lace edged cathedral train. Her silk illusion fingertip veil fell from a crown of net and pearly orange blossoms. For flowers she carried a white satin prayer book, with a white orchid marker, and streamers.

Mrs. Harold Nichols, 75 Henry street, was matron of honor for her sister. Mrs. Nichols wore a blue embroidered Swiss organdy gown, cut with an off-shoulder basque bodice, nylon yoke, and gathered skirt. She carried a blue satin muff covered with yellow daffodils.

Vincent Reis of Onteora Trail, brother of the groom, was best man. William Leonard, Jr., 138 Hudson street, and William Lee, 27 North Wilbur avenue, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception for 125 guests followed at the Yacht Club, 334 Abeel street.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Reis are visiting Canada. The bride's traveling ensemble included a coral red suit, with navy blue accessories, and a white orchid corsage. Upon their return the couple will make their home at 58 Pine street, this city.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, is employed in the business office of the Freeman Publishing Co.

The groom was graduated from St. Peter's School, this city, and served with the U. S. Navy during World War 2. He is now employed at the Hercules Powder Co., Port Ewen.

REFUSING A MAN'S INVITATION

A confused young woman writes: "Why can't a girl refuse an invitation from one man and then later accept an invitation from another to the same dance? Mother says it would be wrong and quotes a recent answer of yours in your column to back her up. I wonder what you would say if you knew the circumstances were these: The first man who asked me is someone I've never gone out with and don't like; the second is a man who has never before asked me for a date but who is someone I do want to go out with very much."

I have said that to decline the invitation of one friend to go to a dance and then later accept a second boy friend's invitation to the same dance, would be unforgivably rude to the first. But when a man a girl does not like, and whose attentions she does not want to accept, invites her to go with him she is right in refusing, and she certainly is free to later accept the invitation of someone she does like very much. It is every woman's right to accept (or regret) the invitations given her.

Big Napkins for Men

Dear Mrs. Post: Since I cannot seat as many as twelve at my dining table (and have no one to wait on table) I'm setting my large dining room table as a buffet and using three card tables to sit at. The large table will have a white linen cloth but the card tables will have three different cloths, ranging in color from ecru to white. I have napkins (small ones) accompanying each of these, and also large dinner napkins matching the big table cloth. Which shall the places at the card tables be set with?

Answer: With the napkins matching each cloth. If you know that your husband and some of your men guests dislike little napkins you could put a pile of big napkins on the buffet table so that they may help themselves.

Proposing a Toast

Dear Mrs. Post: At what part of a dinner should a toast be proposed? This is a dinner in honor of someone who is retiring from our company.

Answer: When the table is cleared for dessert.

Proceeds From Coach House Production For Scholarship Fund

The Coach House Players' second production, The Alarm Clock, which will be presented tomorrow at 8:30 p. m. in Kingston High School auditorium, will help finance the group's scholarship fund, it was announced today. Players have set up the fund to send some worthy student in the area to college.

The comedy itself, Players feel, promises to be "an even greater success" than their debut production, See How They Run. Starring in the lead role of Mary Kent is Eve Pech, previously of the Monroe County Playhouse, Connecticut. Mrs. Pech's other leading roles include Suds in Your Eye, Torchbearers, and January Thaw. In tomorrow night's production she will be metamorphized from a country to lass, to a sophisticated country doll.

Meanwhile, Roy Wulff, as the playboy bachelor turned 40, will also undergo a character change. An old hand at theatre work, Mr. Wulff starred behind stage all through his college career as either stage manager, or technician, as well as playing the lead in The King's English.

Included in the supporting cast are Denis Brady of See How They Run and local minstrel show fame; Mrs. Carolyn Gross, author of a one act play the Players' will produce shortly; Bill Hawk, who starred in Out of the Frying Pan, and See How They Run, and Dick Becker.

Behind the scenes will be Maureen Rice as promter, Irving Rose, production manager, and Dick Becker, stage manager. Ushers will include Doris Dodd, Marilyn Maines, Pat Govern, and Marie Costello.

Admissions will be sold at the door.

20th Century Hears Papers on Water, Typical Area Birds

A paper of The Importance of Water in Our Lives, submitted by Mrs. R. H. D. Boerker, was heard by members of the 20th Century Club when they met Monday night at the home of Mrs. S. Maxwell Taylor, 46 Fairmont avenue. At the same meeting Mrs. Charles Brandt told of the various types of birds which visit her garden, and members reelected the club's present slate of officers for another year.

Officers are Mrs. Joseph Deegan, president; Mrs. Herman Schwenk, vice-president; Mrs. William Eltinge, treasurer; Mrs. DeWitt Wells, secretary.

During her paper Mrs. Boerker clearly emphasized the necessity of water by pointing out that one human body alone, composed as it is of 70 per cent water, requires 11,304,000 pounds of liquid each year.

The most important thing about water," she said," is to have it in the right place at the right time. Man has disturbed the balance of nature in such a profound way that this important requirement has been violated."

The Eternal Cycle

The speaker went on to explain that the quantity of water on earth is a constant factor, and that there is an eternal cycle, which begins with the falling of a raindrop to the land, and ends when that same drop of water returns to the atmosphere.

Modern water conservation measures, Mrs. Boerker continued, attempt to regulate our water supply, allowing precipitation to sink into the ground, rather than running off the land. The results implicate soil management and conservation; forest, lake and stream preservation, wild life protection, contour ploughing, strip-cropping, and terrace farming.

"Knowledge and skill," she concluded, "are the keys to unlock the doors of understanding and cooperation in applying these new techniques."

The Cardinal and Grosbeak

In speaking of the 53 species of birds she has seen in her garden, Mrs. Charles Brandt described in detail the cardinal and evening grosbeak, explaining "up to a few years ago, the cardinal was rarely seen north of New York, but for the last five or six years, for some unknown reason, it has extended its habitat northward."

The bird, which has become fairly common here is, she continued, known by many names: Cardinal grosbeak, crested redbird, Virginia redbird, Virginia nightingale. But to most southerners it is simply known as the redbird. It has been immortalized, she told the group, under the title of James Allen's book, The Kentucky Cardinal.

Small and Brilliant

The cardinal is a small, brilliant bird, about eight inches long or slightly smaller than the robin. The female, harder to identify, is a brownish yellow, shading to gray underneath, with a shorter tail than the male. The crest, tail, and wings are reddish, she said, and the breast is also sometimes tinged with red.

As is usually true of members of the finch family, it is a songster. Its coloring and song prompted Europeans to import large numbers, where they are known as the Virginia nightingale.

Occasional Visitor

The evening grosbeak, Mrs. Brandt continued, a native of the northwest, for some reason, every few years, pays this area a winter visit. It was last seen here in the winter of '44. Also a member of the finch family, it is about two inches smaller than the robin. Its forehead, shoulders, and underneath are clear yellow, while the sides of the head, throat, and chest are olive brown. The bird's black crown, tail and wings, the latter tipped with white, form a striking contrast.

The female, she explained, is a brownish gray, more or less suffused with yellow. Here, too, the wings and tail are black, with some white feathers.

May Dinner

During the business meeting members heard the club's annual reports. It was announced that the closing event this year will be a dinner May 9 at Judie's at 6:30 p. m.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Adam Porter, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, described the ceremonies for General of the Army Douglas MacArthur which she witnessed in Washington, D. C., last week.

20th Century Hears Papers on Water, Typical Area Birds

A paper of The Importance of Water in Our Lives, submitted by Mrs. R. H. D. Boerker, was heard by members of the 20th Century Club when they met Monday night at the home of Mrs. S. Maxwell Taylor, 46 Fairmont avenue. At the same meeting Mrs. Charles Brandt told of the various types of birds which visit her garden, and members reelected the club's present slate of officers for another year.

Officers are Mrs. Joseph Deegan, president; Mrs. Herman Schwenk, vice-president; Mrs. William Eltinge, treasurer; Mrs. DeWitt Wells, secretary.

During her paper Mrs. Boerker clearly emphasized the necessity of water by pointing out that one human body alone, composed as it is of 70 per cent water, requires 11,304,000 pounds of liquid each year.

The most important thing about water," she said," is to have it in the right place at the right time. Man has disturbed the balance of nature in such a profound way that this important requirement has been violated."

The Eternal Cycle

The speaker went on to explain that the quantity of water on earth is a constant factor, and that there is an eternal cycle, which begins with the falling of a raindrop to the land, and ends when that same drop of water returns to the atmosphere.

Modern water conservation measures, Mrs. Boerker continued, attempt to regulate our water supply, allowing precipitation to sink into the ground, rather than running off the land. The results implicate soil management and conservation; forest, lake and stream preservation, wild life protection, contour ploughing, strip-cropping, and terrace farming.

"Knowledge and skill," she concluded, "are the keys to unlock the doors of understanding and cooperation in applying these new techniques."

The Cardinal and Grosbeak

In speaking of the 53 species of birds she has seen in her garden, Mrs. Charles Brandt described in detail the cardinal and evening grosbeak, explaining "up to a few years ago, the cardinal was rarely seen north of New York, but for the last five or six years, for some unknown reason, it has extended its habitat northward."

The bird, which has become fairly common here is, she continued, known by many names: Cardinal grosbeak, crested redbird, Virginia redbird, Virginia nightingale. But to most southerners it is simply known as the redbird. It has been immortalized, she told the group, under the title of James Allen's book, The Kentucky Cardinal.

Small and Brilliant

The cardinal is a small, brilliant bird, about eight inches long or slightly smaller than the robin. The female, harder to identify, is a brownish yellow, shading to gray underneath, with a shorter tail than the male. The crest, tail, and wings are reddish, she said, and the breast is also sometimes tinged with red.

As is usually true of members of the finch family, it is a songster. Its coloring and song prompted Europeans to import large numbers, where they are known as the Virginia nightingale.

Occasional Visitor

The evening grosbeak, Mrs. Brandt continued, a native of the northwest, for some reason, every few years, pays this area a winter visit. It was last seen here in the winter of '44. Also a member of the finch family, it is about two inches smaller than the robin. Its forehead, shoulders, and underneath are clear yellow, while the sides of the head, throat, and chest are olive brown. The bird's black crown, tail and wings, the latter tipped with white, form a striking contrast.

The female, she explained, is a brownish gray, more or less suffused with yellow. Here, too, the wings and tail are black, with some white feathers.

May Dinner

During the business meeting members heard the club's annual reports. It was announced that the closing event this year will be a dinner May 9 at Judie's at 6:30 p. m.

At the close of the meeting Mrs. Adam Porter, regent of Wiltwyck Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, described the ceremonies for General of the Army Douglas MacArthur which she witnessed in Washington, D. C., last week.

Plans Announced For Temple Emanuel Annual Dinner Dance

Tickets for Temple Emanuel's second annual dinner dance, to be held in the Crystal Room of the Governor Clinton Hotel May 12, have already been sent out, it was announced today. Committee members feel they have "planned a splendid program of entertainment."

An orchestra has been engaged for music during dinner, and for dancing, and a dance contest will be held during the evening.

The following committee members are planning the affair: the Mmes. Caesar Warshaw, Harry Gold, Herbert Kletske, Samuel Gally, Nathan Friedman, Alfred Ronder and Daniel Weisberg, headed by Mrs. Edward Netburn and Mrs. Joseph Honig.

Mrs. Netburn has urged patrons to return their reservations as soon as possible, as they will be limited. Further information and tickets may be secured through Mrs. Honig at 2752.

D'Albis Is Back From French Exposition

Woodstock, April 25—Roland d'Albis returned recently from Cleveland where, during the week of April 6, he served as manager of the 'France Comes to You" exposition at the Hotel Carter. As in a similar exhibition of Gallic wares whcih was held in Philadelphia in March, the show was not confined to the articles on display at the hotel, but by decree of Mayor Burke, of Cleveland, the entire city honored France for a a week with store window displays and special art exhibitions.

The Western Reserve Historical Society Museum celebrated the week with an exhibition of its Napoleon Bonaparte collection, largest and most comprehensive in this country.

On April 9, members of the Cleveland Orchestra played an all-French concert at Severance Hall.

In commemoration of French Week, the portrait "Head of Christ" by Georges Rouault, 80-year-old, school-of-Paris artist, was exhibited for the first time by the Cleveland Museum of Art which acquired the painting recently.

On several occasions d'Albis was interviewed on the local radio stations, and numerous programs throughout the week were devoted to accounts on the various aspects of the exposition.

With items on display ranging from the finest French perfumes to toys and cameras, the Cleveland newspapers gave special notice to the miniature models dressed in gowns designed by leading Paris couturiers, and to French periodicals and publications.

By a curious coincidence, the cover on the Hotel Carter coffee shop menu for the week of the French exposition, carried on its cover a full color reproduction of a painting "Bountiful Ohio," by Doris Lee, famous Woodstock artist.

Singer Sues Mrs. Cugat For Half Million

Los Angeles, April 25 (AP)—Xavier Cugat's singer, Abbe Lane, believes the things Mrs. Cugat has said about her are worth half a million dollars.

She filed a damage suit for that amount yesterday, breaking it down this way:

She wants $100,000 for "invasion of privacy" the time Mrs. Cugat and some private detectives found her in the bandleader's hotel room. Mrs. Cugat said Miss Lane was nude and Miss Lane denied it.

She wants $100,000 on the grounds that Mrs. Cugat and the detectives engaged in a conspiracy to conduct the raid.

She wants $50,000 because she was bruised and pushed during the raid, she says.

She wants $100,000 because Mrs. Cugat wrongfully named her as a co-respondent, she says, in a separate maintenance suit. Mrs. Cugat was not legally divorced when she married the musician, says Miss Lane, so actually she and Mrs. Cugat were merely competing for his love.

She wants $150,000 punitive damages, claiming Mrs. Cugat has shown malice.

Work on Police Building

Ground was broken today on the Saugerties road for a new structutre which will house the state police sub-station. The contractor expects to rush the work so that occupancy may be taken in the near future. The move was made necessary when the building now occupied by the state police just north of the Lake Katrine road was sold. The new location will be on Route 9W about a mile south of the present barracks.

Model Rail Parley Will Attract 160 Delegates to City

Over 160 delegates are expected in Kingston this week-end as members and friends of the Northeastern Region of the National Model Railroad Association roll into town to celebrate the fifth anniversary of their region.

"This large number of registrations far exceed our expectations," remarked Henry P. Eighmey, chairman of the committee from the Kingston Model Railroad Club, host to the anniversary convention.

The Northeastern Region of the national association for model railroad hobbyists was organized in Kingston on April 26, 1946, and since that time the group has enjoyed annual spring and fall conventions in various cities throughout New England, New York and New Jersey—the area which comprises the Northeastern Region.

With the Governor Clinton Hotel as convention headquarters, the agenda for this week-end's jamboree includes a fan trip supplied through the courtesy of the New York Central System, open house at the Kingston Model Railroad Club's quarters, a model contest, business meeting of the region, and a banquet featuring William T. Gaynor, assistant advertising manager of the New York Central System, as guest speaker.

Members of the Kingston Model Railroad Club have been working steadily preparing for this fifth celebration of the group founded in Kingston, according to Edward E. Safford, president of the local club. The miniature railroad system, featured each fall season in a public exhibition, will be a focal point of convention delegates during the two-day meeting in Kingston.

WOODSTOCK NEWS

By RICHARD E. THIBAUT, JR.

D'Albis Is Back From French Exposition

Woodstock, April 25—Roland d'Albis returned recently from Cleveland where, during the week of April 6, he served as manager of the 'France Comes to You" exposition at the Hotel Carter. As in a similar exhibition of Gallic wares whcih was held in Philadelphia in March, the show was not confined to the articles on display at the hotel, but by decree of Mayor Burke, of Cleveland, the entire city honored France for a a week with store window displays and special art exhibitions.

The Western Reserve Historical Society Museum celebrated the week with an exhibition of its Napoleon Bonaparte collection, largest and most comprehensive in this country.

On April 9, members of the Cleveland Orchestra played an all-French concert at Severance Hall.

In commemoration of French Week, the portrait "Head of Christ" by Georges Rouault, 80-year-old, school-of-Paris artist, was exhibited for the first time by the Cleveland Museum of Art which acquired the painting recently.

On several occasions d'Albis was interviewed on the local radio stations, and numerous programs throughout the week were devoted to accounts on the various aspects of the exposition.

With items on display ranging from the finest French perfumes to toys and cameras, the Cleveland newspapers gave special notice to the miniature models dressed in gowns designed by leading Paris couturiers, and to French periodicals and publications.

By a curious coincidence, the cover on the Hotel Carter coffee shop menu for the week of the French exposition, carried on its cover a full color reproduction of a painting "Bountiful Ohio," by Doris Lee, famous Woodstock artist.

Model Rail Parley Will Attract 160 Delegates to City

Over 160 delegates are expected in Kingston this week-end as members and friends of the Northeastern Region of the National Model Railroad Association roll into town to celebrate the fifth anniversary of their region.

"This large number of registrations far exceed our expectations," remarked Henry P. Eighmey, chairman of the committee from the Kingston Model Railroad Club, host to the anniversary convention.

The Northeastern Region of the national association for model railroad hobbyists was organized in Kingston on April 26, 1946, and since that time the group has enjoyed annual spring and fall conventions in various cities throughout New England, New York and New Jersey—the area which comprises the Northeastern Region.

With the Governor Clinton Hotel as convention headquarters, the agenda for this week-end's jamboree includes a fan trip supplied through the courtesy of the New York Central System, open house at the Kingston Model Railroad Club's quarters, a model contest, business meeting of the region, and a banquet featuring William T. Gaynor, assistant advertising manager of the New York Central System, as guest speaker.

Members of the Kingston Model Railroad Club have been working steadily preparing for this fifth celebration of the group founded in Kingston, according to Edward E. Safford, president of the local club. The miniature railroad system, featured each fall season in a public exhibition, will be a focal point of convention delegates during the two-day meeting in Kingston.

Singer Sues Mrs. Cugat For Half Million

Los Angeles, April 25 (AP)—Xavier Cugat's singer, Abbe Lane, believes the things Mrs. Cugat has said about her are worth half a million dollars.

She filed a damage suit for that amount yesterday, breaking it down this way:

She wants $100,000 for "invasion of privacy" the time Mrs. Cugat and some private detectives found her in the bandleader's hotel room. Mrs. Cugat said Miss Lane was nude and Miss Lane denied it.

She wants $100,000 on the grounds that Mrs. Cugat and the detectives engaged in a conspiracy to conduct the raid.

She wants $50,000 because she was bruised and pushed during the raid, she says.

She wants $100,000 because Mrs. Cugat wrongfully named her as a co-respondent, she says, in a separate maintenance suit. Mrs. Cugat was not legally divorced when she married the musician, says Miss Lane, so actually she and Mrs. Cugat were merely competing for his love.

She wants $150,000 punitive damages, claiming Mrs. Cugat has shown malice.

Ground was broken today on the Saugerties road for a new structutre which will house the state police sub-station. The move was made necessary when the building now occupied by the state police just north of the Lake Katrine road was sold. The new location will be on Route 9W about a mile south of the present barracks.

Will Work 48 Hours

Less than a month ago, they were working 60 hours a week. The new slash, from 54 to 48 hours, was announced yesterday by Maj. Mike B. Davis, army engineer in charge of the project. He listed "economy and a change in the type of work we now do" as the reasons. He said the heavy work is over, leaving only a cleanup of various odd jobs still to be done. The first cut in working hours, from 60 to 54, was made March 31. It followed public charges of waste on the project and the start of a congressional investigation, still in progress.

Old Producer Dies

New York, April 25 (AP)—A. H. (Al) Woods, 81, one of the most successful theatrical producers in the 1920's, died yesterday at his hotel (Beacon) home. Woods, who produced his last play in 1943, made and lost several fortunes in show business in a career lasting almost a half century. He was one of the last of Broadway Theatre's "Old Guard." Woods estimated in 1944 that he had produced 420 plays. Among them were such hits as "The Green Hat," "The Trial of Mary Dugan," "The Night of Jan. 16" and "Up in Mabel's Room." Before the stock market crash of 1929 he owned theatres here and in Chicago.

Magic Deaths

Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP) — Fear of magic resulted in five deaths in a village in French Equatorial Africa, just across the Sudan border, according to reports from Yambio, in the Sudan's Bahr El Ghazal province. A woman who was expecting a child was being attended by two other women. Her husband, entering the hut, thought the women were casting magic spells on his wife. He speared them both to death.

Wild Potato Origin

Vancouver (AP) — Indians in the British Columbia interior harvest a wild potato small and slender, and sometimes called lady fingers. The flesh is yellow and the flavor resembles the sweet potato. W. A. Faulkner of Lytton says that apparently centuries ago natives of Chile and Peru journeyed northward in their canoes to what is now British Columbia. They brought their native foods and vegetables and introduced them to Indian tribes.

Mainly a Rudder

The beaver uses its broad tail as a rudder, not a trowel. Sometimes mud is transported by being held between the tail, which is turned under and forward, and the underside of the body.

Colonials Add Two New Infielders and Two Pitchers to 1951 Roster

Four new players inked Colonial contracts last night as Manager Hank Camelli moved to assemble something resembling a starting lineup for Sunday's exhibition against Emil Gall's Pocatello, Idaho Pioneer League club.

Lou Kramberg, of Brooklyn, a highly touted infielder-outfielder, heads the new group of Colonial players. He played independent ball in 1950, but has had minor league experience and also spent a couple of winters in Panama and Puerto Rico.

Kramberg is a right hander all the way and at the moment is being used as a first baseman.

Joe Stalmach, of Chicago, Ill., a hustling, stocky second baseman appeared to have cinched a starting berth on the club. He had previous experience in Class B and C leagues.

Line Drive Hitter

In yesterday's batting practice, Stalmach whistled several line drive "hits" into left field. He is a solid pull hitter who could do considerable damage in the spacious left field corner sector at the stadium.

Two new pitchers, one a rookie, the other a veteran of the Big Stone Gap League, are in the fold.

Charlie Ayers, of Abington, Conn., a right hander, has impressed Manager Camelli sufficiently to earn a contract. The rookie on the new list is John Ormiston, of Arlington, Mass., a right handed pitcher.

Moguls to Meet

(Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials were scheduled to meet this afternoon to announce plans for Tuesday's Can-Am opener against Pittsfield. They may also announce the appointment of a business manager. The new club president, J. Frederick Ertel, will preside).

Camelli on First

Manager Camelli hinted yesterday that, if the catching satisfies him in the early games, he may take a crack at the first base spot and move Lou Kramberg into the outfield.

First base will not be a new position for the Colonial skipper, who has had experience there at several intervals during his lengthy career. Camelli's power is needed in the Colonial lineup and he figures to bat .300 or better in the Can-Am League.

Danny Perlmutter, Kingston leading hitter in the 1949 season, worked out with the Colonials again yesterday, pitching batting practice. The former City College ace continued to show surprising early season form and power at the plate and by this time Manager Camelli must be thinking out loud about a possible comeback by the fleet outfielder. Up to this point, however, Perlmutter has given no indications that his appearances at the stadium are anything but a gesture of friendship toward Camelli, with whom he played on the San Diego club in the Pacific Coast League.

Senators Offer Help

Camelli said he would witness the Albany Senators' Eastern League inaugural tonight and expected more information on possible options from the Class A club. Tom McCaffrey, the Albany president, has promised the local skipper seven players, including four pitchers, on a 24-hour recall basis.

Overcast skies this morning and the threat of rain held up plans for the daily workout until the final minute. Camelli said that if the skies didn't clear he would give his athletes a day off.

"It's too near the bell," he said, "and I don't want to risk a mass attack of colds on the squad. These fellows have been working out for 10 days under pretty miserable conditions and I'm not going to risk any illness or injuries."

Camelli said the Colonial starting lineup for Sunday's exhibition would be announced on Friday.

But Branch Now Has Him as Buc

Every time Willie Werle saunters to the mound for Pittsburgh he increases Branch Rickey's reputation as a master judge of players.

It was back in 1949 that Rickey, then head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, offered $200,000 for the left-hand relief specialist. The Pirates disdained the offer. And is Rickey thankful. Branch, of course, is now general manager of the Bucs.

Funny thing, Werle wasn't worth a plugged nickel in spring training. In some 30 innings he was manhandled for something like 40 hits and 20 runs. But once they started playing for keeps, he quickly began to look like a million bucks.

He's been in four of the Pirates' six contests and Pittsburgh has won them all. He saved three and received credit for the other. The two games in which Willie did not see action, the Pirates lost.

Werle came to the rescue of starter Vernon Law yesterday, holding the Cubs scoreless for two innings to preserve Pittsburgh's 6-4 victory in Chicago. That made it 10 scoreless innings this season for the 29-year-old native of Oakland, Calif.

Werle started right off on opening day, holding Cincinnati runless in 2 1/3 innings to safeguard a 4-3 victory for Cliff Chambers. He came right back the next day with three scoreless rounds against St. Louis to save a 5-4 game for Murry Dickson. In his next outing, he stopped a Cincinnati uprising in the seventh inning and was rewarded with the victory when the Pirates rallied for two runs in the ninth to snap a 5-5 deadlock.

Westlake Cracks Two

Werle yesterday shared honors with outfielder Wally Westlake, who accounted for four Pittsburgh runs with a three-run homer and a clutch single. The homer was Westlake's third. Cub rookie Omar (Turk) Lown was the loser.

The victory tied Pittsburgh with Chicago for second place, a half game behind the National League leading Dodgers, who were beaten, 7-4, by the Boston Braves in Brooklyn. The Cardinals edged into the first division with a 3-1 win over Cincinnati in St. Louis. The Phillies handed the New York Giants their sixth straight loss with a 6-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights.

Bob Feller kept the Indians in first place in the American League, stopping the surprising Chicago White Sox, 5-2, in Cleveland. Runnerup Washington remained a half game behind, upsetting the Red Sox, 7-5, in Boston's Fenway Park. The defending champion Yankees, behind the four-hit pitching of steady Eddie Lopat, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0, in New York, to retain third place. Detroit and the St. Louis Browns were rained out.

Gordon Ruins Brooks

Sid Gordon's three run homer off reliefer Carl Erskine helped Boston come from behind to snap the Dodger five-game winning streak. Max Surkont went the route for his second victory.

Stan Musial broke out of a batting slump, cracking three singles to spark the Cards nine-hit attack against Willie Ramsdell and two successors. Veteran Max Lanier spaced eight hits in his first start for the winners. Musial had only two hits to show for 13 times at bat before yesterday.

Washington's Bob Kuzava became the second visiting southpaw to pitch the distance and win in Fenway Park this season. Alex Kellner of the A's was the other. Last year only two lefthanders—Hal Newhouser and Gene Bearden—did the trick.

Socking six assorted flingers for 12 hits including five doubles and a triple, the Phillies slapped the sixth straight defeat upon the skidding Giants. Bob Miller gained credit for the victory but needed Jim Konstanty to get the final out for him.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting — Wally Westlake, Pirates, clouted a home run and single to drive in four runs and lead Pittsburgh to a 6-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Pitching — Ed Lopat, Yankees, doled out four hits in pitching New York to a 3-0 shutout over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Handball Stars In Semi-Finals

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—The top seeded players and an unseeded Philadelphian have reached the quarter finals of the Senior National AAU Handball singles tournament.

Don Farley of Philadelphia, former Middle Atlantic AAU titleholder, upset fourth-seeded Willard Badham, Los Angeles, 21-15, 21-5 yesterday at the Germantown YMCA to enter the quarter finals.

Don Brady, San Francisco, and Joe Platak, Chicago, the two top seeded entries, reached the quarter final round with victories. Brady, runnerup in 1948, eliminated Charles Stanley, Philadelphia, 21-1, 21-9, while Platak, nine times national champion, downed Dr. Joseph Bierman, Brooklyn, 21-3, 21-11.

COLONIAL SOUTHPAW PROSPECT

This is Ismael Alvarado, a stylish young Puerto Rican southpaw, who figures to be one of Manager Hank Camelli's front line flingers in the coming Canadian-American League season. Alvarado is a native of Puerto Rico who is making his first visit to the United States. In workouts to date he has shown a good fast ball and control. He figures largely in Manager Camelli's pitching plans and at the moment is anxious to meet anyone who can speak Spanish. Alvarado's command of the English language is strictly limited at the present time. (Freeman Photo)

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

General

Moscow — Russia named an Olympic committee indicating she may participate in the 1952 Olympics.

Wichita, Kas.—Jim Trimble, director of athletics at Wichita University, resigned, saying "there is no room in athletics for actions that are meant to satisfy the whims of a few excited and unstable fans who yearn for the spectacular and sometimes expect the impossible."

Golf

Pinehurst, N. C.—Pat O'Sullivan, defending champion, beat Mrs. W. B. Cocke, 4 and 3, in first round of women's North and South tourney.

Red Overtures Hint Bid for '52 Olympics

New York, April 25 (AP)—Russia has posed some mighty absorbing questions by clearing the way to compete in the 1952 Olympic games.

Does this mean that the Kremlin has decided there is little likelihood of world war next year?

Does this mean that Russian athletes can now compete on a par with the world's best?

There is no way to answer the first question positively, but it can be safely assumed that Soviet sports stars will not enter international competition unless they are confident they will show up well against the athletes from the democracies.

It also can be safely assumed that if Russians compete, American interest in the games will be at the highest pitch ever.

Russia has been flirting with the Olympic games ever since World War II ended, and there was some expectation the Soviet might compete at London in 1948 but nothing came of it.

Slowly Russian amateur governing bodies have affiliated with the international federations— a necessary prelude to Olympic competition.

But until now there has been no central Olympic committee in Russia. Now it has been created and has applied for recognition. Approval seems certain.

Status In Doubt

There may be some question raised as to just how amateur are Russian sports. As Avery Brundage, U. S. Olympic president points out, cash payments to athletes and special training camps are prohibited. There have been reports of such goings-on in Russia.

"But there is no reason why Russia should not participate in the Olympic games if it complies with Olympic rules," says Brundage.

Brundage leaves today for an Olympic meeting in Vienna.

Imperial Russia competed in the 1912 games but since the revolution Russian contacts with the outside sports world have been very few until last year.

Russia is known to have excellent women track athletes, and good soccer teams, but its strength in other sports is problematical. For instance on Monday the International Amateur Athletic Federation recognized eight new track records—four by American men, three by Russian women and one by a Swedish girl. Women's track is one of America's weakest sports.

Japan — Always powerful in men's swimming and with eager athletes in other divisions—is edging back into the Olympic picture and western Germany may have a team at the next games. South America led by Argentina, is more Olympic minded than ever before.

All this means that the winter sports at Oslo and the games themselves at Helsinki next year may draw the biggest and best entry lists ever—and produce the fiercest competition.

Colonials Add Two New Infielders and Two Pitchers to 1951 Roster

Four new players inked Colonial contracts last night as Manager Hank Camelli moved to assemble something resembling a starting lineup for Sunday's exhibition against Emil Gall's Pocatello, Idaho Pioneer League club.

Lou Kramberg, of Brooklyn, a highly touted infielder-outfielder, heads the new group of Colonial players. He played independent ball in 1950, but has had minor league experience and also spent a couple of winters in Panama and Puerto Rico.

Kramberg is a right hander all the way and at the moment is being used as a first baseman.

Joe Stalmach, of Chicago, Ill., a hustling, stocky second baseman appeared to have cinched a starting berth on the club. He had previous experience in Class B and C leagues.

Line Drive Hitter

In yesterday's batting practice, Stalmach whistled several line drive "hits" into left field. He is a solid pull hitter who could do considerable damage in the spacious left field corner sector at the stadium.

Two new pitchers, one a rookie, the other a veteran of the Big Stone Gap League, are in the fold.

Charlie Ayers, of Abington, Conn., a right hander, has impressed Manager Camelli sufficiently to earn a contract. The rookie on the new list is John Ormiston, of Arlington, Mass., a right handed pitcher.

Moguls to Meet

(Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials were scheduled to meet this afternoon to announce plans for Tuesday's Can-Am opener against Pittsfield. They may also announce the appointment of a business manager. The new club president, J. Frederick Ertel, will preside).

Camelli on First

Manager Camelli hinted yesterday that, if the catching satisfies him in the early games, he may take a crack at the first base spot and move Lou Kramberg into the outfield.

First base will not be a new position for the Colonial skipper, who has had experience there at several intervals during his lengthy career. Camelli's power is needed in the Colonial lineup and he figures to bat .300 or better in the Can-Am League.

Danny Perlmutter, Kingston leading hitter in the 1949 season, worked out with the Colonials again yesterday, pitching batting practice. The former City College ace continued to show surprising early season form and power at the plate and by this time Manager Camelli must be thinking out loud about a possible comeback by the fleet outfielder. Up to this point, however, Perlmutter has given no indications that his appearances at the stadium are anything but a gesture of friendship toward Camelli, with whom he played on the San Diego club in the Pacific Coast League.

Senators Offer Help

Camelli said he would witness the Albany Senators' Eastern League inaugural tonight and expected more information on possible options from the Class A club. Tom McCaffrey, the Albany president, has promised the local skipper seven players, including four pitchers, on a 24-hour recall basis.

Overcast skies this morning and the threat of rain held up plans for the daily workout until the final minute. Camelli said that if the skies didn't clear he would give his athletes a day off.

"It's too near the bell," he said, "and I don't want to risk a mass attack of colds on the squad. These fellows have been working out for 10 days under pretty miserable conditions and I'm not going to risk any illness or injuries."

Camelli said the Colonial starting lineup for Sunday's exhibition would be announced on Friday.

Will Werle's Hurling Vindicates Rickey's $200,000 Bid in 1949

But Branch Now Has Him as Buc

(Associated Press Sportswriter)

Every time Willie Werle saunters to the mound for Pittsburgh he increases Branch Rickey's reputation as a master judge of players.

It was back in 1949 that Rickey, then head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, offered $200,000 for the left-hand relief specialist. The Pirates disdained the offer. And is Rickey thankful. Branch, of course, is now general manager of the Bucs.

Funny thing, Werle wasn't worth a plugged nickel in spring training. In some 30 innings he was manhandled for something like 40 hits and 20 runs. But once they started playing for keeps, he quickly began to look like a million bucks.

He's been in four of the Pirates' six contests and Pittsburgh has won them all. He saved three and received credit for the other. The two games in which Willie did not see action, the Pirates lost.

Werle came to the rescue of starter Vernon Law yesterday, holding the Cubs scoreless for two innings to preserve Pittsburgh's 6-4 victory in Chicago. That made it 10 scoreless innings this season for the 29-year-old native of Oakland, Calif.

Werle started right off on opening day, holding Cincinnati runless in 2 1/3 innings to safeguard a 4-3 victory for Cliff Chambers. He came right back the next day with three scoreless rounds against St. Louis to save a 5-4 game for Murry Dickson. In his next outing, he stopped a Cincinnati uprising in the seventh inning and was rewarded with the victory when the Pirates rallied for two runs in the ninth to snap a 5-5 deadlock.

Westlake Cracks Two

Werle yesterday shared honors with outfielder Wally Westlake, who accounted for four Pittsburgh runs with a three-run homer and a clutch single. The homer was Westlake's third. Cub rookie Omar (Turk) Lown was the loser.

The victory tied Pittsburgh with Chicago for second place, a half game behind the National League leading Dodgers, who were beaten, 7-4, by the Boston Braves in Brooklyn. The Cardinals edged into the first division with a 3-1 win over Cincinnati in St. Louis. The Phillies handed the New York Giants their sixth straight loss with a 6-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights.

Bob Feller kept the Indians in first place in the American League, stopping the surprising Chicago White Sox, 5-2, in Cleveland. Runnerup Washington remained a half game behind, upsetting the Red Sox, 7-5, in Boston's Fenway Park. The defending champion Yankees, behind the four-hit pitching of steady Eddie Lopat, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0, in New York, to retain third place. Detroit and the St. Louis Browns were rained out.

Gordon Ruins Brooks

Sid Gordon's three run homer off reliefer Carl Erskine helped Boston come from behind to snap the Dodger five-game winning streak. Max Surkont went the route for his second victory.

Stan Musial broke out of a batting slump, cracking three singles to spark the Cards nine-hit attack against Willie Ramsdell and two successors. Veteran Max Lanier spaced eight hits in his first start for the winners. Musial had only two hits to show for 13 times at bat before yesterday.

Washington's Bob Kuzava became the second visiting southpaw to pitch the distance and win in Fenway Park this season. Alex Kellner of the A's was the other. Last year only two lefthanders—Hal Newhouser and Gene Bearden—did the trick.

Socking six assorted flingers for 12 hits including five doubles and a triple, the Phillies slapped the sixth straight defeat upon the skidding Giants. Bob Miller gained credit for the victory but needed Jim Konstanty to get the final out for him.

Colonials Add Two New Infielders and Two Pitchers to 1951 Roster

Four new players inked Colonial contracts last night as Manager Hank Camelli moved to assemble something resembling a starting lineup for Sunday's exhibition against Emil Gall's Pocatello, Idaho Pioneer League club.

Lou Kramberg, of Brooklyn, a highly touted infielder-outfielder, heads the new group of Colonial players. He played independent ball in 1950, but has had minor league experience and also spent a couple of winters in Panama and Puerto Rico.

Kramberg is a right hander all the way and at the moment is being used as a first baseman.

Joe Stalmach, of Chicago, Ill., a hustling, stocky second baseman appeared to have cinched a starting berth on the club. He had previous experience in Class B and C leagues.

Line Drive Hitter

In yesterday's batting practice, Stalmach whistled several line drive "hits" into left field. He is a solid pull hitter who could do considerable damage in the spacious left field corner sector at the stadium.

Two new pitchers, one a rookie, the other a veteran of the Big Stone Gap League, are in the fold.

Charlie Ayers, of Abington, Conn., a right hander, has impressed Manager Camelli sufficiently to earn a contract. The rookie on the new list is John Ormiston, of Arlington, Mass., a right handed pitcher.

Moguls to Meet

(Kingston Baseball Club, Inc. officials were scheduled to meet this afternoon to announce plans for Tuesday's Can-Am opener against Pittsfield. They may also announce the appointment of a business manager. The new club president, J. Frederick Ertel, will preside).

Camelli on First

Manager Camelli hinted yesterday that, if the catching satisfies him in the early games, he may take a crack at the first base spot and move Lou Kramberg into the outfield.

First base will not be a new position for the Colonial skipper, who has had experience there at several intervals during his lengthy career. Camelli's power is needed in the Colonial lineup and he figures to bat .300 or better in the Can-Am League.

Danny Perlmutter, Kingston leading hitter in the 1949 season, worked out with the Colonials again yesterday, pitching batting practice. The former City College ace continued to show surprising early season form and power at the plate and by this time Manager Camelli must be thinking out loud about a possible comeback by the fleet outfielder. Up to this point, however, Perlmutter has given no indications that his appearances at the stadium are anything but a gesture of friendship toward Camelli, with whom he played on the San Diego club in the Pacific Coast League.

Senators Offer Help

Camelli said he would witness the Albany Senators' Eastern League inaugural tonight and expected more information on possible options from the Class A club. Tom McCaffrey, the Albany president, has promised the local skipper seven players, including four pitchers, on a 24-hour recall basis.

Overcast skies this morning and the threat of rain held up plans for the daily workout until the final minute. Camelli said that if the skies didn't clear he would give his athletes a day off.

"It's too near the bell," he said, "and I don't want to risk a mass attack of colds on the squad. These fellows have been working out for 10 days under pretty miserable conditions and I'm not going to risk any illness or injuries."

Camelli said the Colonial starting lineup for Sunday's exhibition would be announced on Friday.

Will Werle's Hurling Vindicates Rickey's $200,000 Bid in 1949

But Branch Now Has Him as Buc

(Associated Press Sportswriter)

Every time Willie Werle saunters to the mound for Pittsburgh he increases Branch Rickey's reputation as a master judge of players.

It was back in 1949 that Rickey, then head of the Brooklyn Dodgers, offered $200,000 for the left-hand relief specialist. The Pirates disdained the offer. And is Rickey thankful, Branch, of course, is now general manager of the Bucs.

Funny thing, Werle wasn't worth a plugged nickel in spring training. In some 30 innings he was manhandled for something like 40 hits and 20 runs. But once they started playing for keeps, he quickly began to look like a million bucks.

He's been in four of the Pirates' six contests and Pittsburgh has won them all. He saved three and received credit for the other. The two games in which Willie did not see action, the Pirates lost.

Werle came to the rescue of starter Vernon Law yesterday, holding the Cubs scoreless for two innings to preserve Pittsburgh's 6-4 victory in Chicago. That made it 10 scoreless innings this season for the 29-year-old native of Oakland, Calif.

Werle started right off on opening day, holding Cincinnati runless in 2 1/3 innings to safeguard a 4-3 victory for Cliff Chambers. He came right back the next day with three scoreless rounds against St. Louis to save a 5-4 game for Murry Dickson. In his next outing, he stopped a Cincinnati uprising in the seventh inning and was rewarded with the victory when the Pirates rallied for two runs in the ninth to snap a 5-5 deadlock.

Westlake Cracks Two

Werle yesterday shared honors with outfielder Wally Westlake, who accounted for four Pittsburgh runs with a three-run homer and a clutch single. The homer was Westlake's third. Cub rookie Omar (Turk) Lown was the loser.

The victory tied Pittsburgh with Chicago for second place, a half game behind the National League leading Dodgers, who were beaten, 7-4, by the Boston Braves in Brooklyn. The Cardinals edged into the first division with a 3-1 win over Cincinnati in St. Louis. The Phillies handed the New York Giants their sixth straight loss with a 6-4 victory under the Philadelphia lights.

Bob Feller kept the Indians in first place in the American League, stopping the surprising Chicago White Sox, 5-2, in Cleveland. Runnerup Washington remained a half game behind, upsetting the Red Sox, 7-5, in Boston's Fenway Park. The defending champion Yankees, behind the four-hit pitching of steady Eddie Lopat, shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0, in New York, to retain third place. Detroit and the St. Louis Browns were rained out.

Gordon Ruins Brooks

Sid Gordon's three run homer off reliefer Carl Erskine helped Boston come from behind to snap the Dodger five-game winning streak. Max Surkont went the route for his second victory.

Stan Musial broke out of a batting slump, cracking three singles to spark the Cards nine-hit attack against Willie Ramsdell and two successors. Veteran Max Lanier spaced eight hits in his first start for the winners. Musial had only two hits to show for 13 times at bat before yesterday.

Washington's Bob Kuzava became the second visiting southpaw to pitch the distance and win in Fenway Park this season. Alex Kellner of the A's was the other. Last year only two lefthanders—Hal Newhouser and Gene Bearden—did the trick.

Socking six assorted flingers for 12 hits including five doubles and a triple, the Phillies slapped the sixth straight defeat upon the skidding Giants. Bob Miller gained credit for the victory but needed Jim Konstanty to get the final out for him.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Batting — Wally Westlake, Pirates, clouted a home run and single to drive in four runs and lead Pittsburgh to a 6-4 victory over the Chicago Cubs.

Pitching — Ed Lopat, Yankees, doled out four hits in pitching New York to a 3-0 shutout over the Philadelphia Athletics.

Handball Stars In Semi-Finals

Philadelphia, April 25 (AP)—The top seeded players and an unseeded Philadelphian have reached the quarter finals of the Senior National AAU Handball singles tournament.

Don Farley of Philadelphia, former Middle Atlantic AAU titleholder, upset fourth-seeded Willard Badham, Los Angeles, 21-15, 21-5 yesterday at the Germantown YMCA to enter the quarter finals.

Dancer Again

Yonkers, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—Stanley Dancer, leading Yonkers Raceway driver, last night almost won both sections of the featured Katonah trot before a crowd of 14,368. Dancer tok the first division with Fast Talk, but was nipped in a photo finish with Snooting Star in the second division.

COLONIAL SOUTHPAW PROSPECT

This is Ismael Alvarado, a stylish young Puerto Rican southpaw, who figures to be one of Manager Hank Camelli's front line flingers in the coming Canadian-American League season. Alvarado is a native of Puerto Rico who is making his first visit to the United States. In workouts to date he has shown a good fast ball and control. He figures largely in Manager Camelli's pitching plans and at the moment is anxious to meet anyone who can speak Spanish. Alvarado's command of the English language is strictly limited at the present time. (Freeman Photo)

Red Overtures Hint Bid for '52 Olympics

New York, April 25 (AP)—Russia has posed some mighty absorbing questions by clearing the way to compete in the 1952 Olympic games.

Does this mean that the Kremlin has decided there is little likelihood of world war next year?

Does this mean that Russian athletes can now compete on a par with the world's best?

There is no way to answer the first question positively, but it can be safely assumed that Soviet sports stars will not enter international competition unless they are confident they will show up well against the athletes from the democracies.

It also can be safely assumed that if Russians compete, American interest in the games will be at the highest pitch ever.

Russia has been flirting with the Olympic games ever since World War II ended, and there was some expectation the Soviet might compete at London in 1948 but nothing came of it.

Slowly Russian amateur governing bodies have affiliated with the international federations— a necessary prelude to Olympic competition.

But until now there has been no central Olympic committee in Russia. Now it has been created and has applied for recognition. Approval seems certain.

Status In Doubt

There may be some question raised as to just how amateur are Russian sports. As Avery Brundage, U. S. Olympic president points out, cash payments to athletes and special training camps are prohibited. There have been reports of such goings-on in Russia.

"But there is no reason why Russia should not participate in the Olympic games if it complies with Olympic rules," says Brundage.

Brundage leaves today for an Olympic meeting in Vienna.

Imperial Russia competed in the 1912 games but since the revolution Russian contacts with the outside sports world have been very few until last year.

Russia is known to have excellent women track athletes, and good soccer teams, but its strength in other sports is problematical. For instance on Monday the International Amateur Athletic Federation recognized eight new track records—four by American men, three by Russian women and one by a Swedish girl. Women's track is one of America's weakest sports.

Japan — Always powerful in men's swimming and with eager athletes in other divisions—is edging back into the Olympic picture and western Germany may have a team at the next games. South America led by Argentina, is more Olympic minded than ever before.

All this means that the winter sports at Oslo and the games themselves at Helsinki next year may draw the biggest and best entry lists ever—and produce the fiercest competition.

Vejar Favored

New York, April 25 (AP)—Undefeated Chico Vejar rated a big favorite to chalk up his 28th straight victory tonight against hard-hitting Billy Murphy in the main eight rounder at St. Nicholas Arena. The 19-year-old Stamford (Conn.) schoolboy sensation has won all 27 of his pro starts, 17 of them by knockouts. Murphy, a 24-year-old New Yorker with a stiff wallop in his left hand, represents Chico's toughest opposition so far.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

There is no more tragic moment in life than the loss of a warm and sincere friend. The late Rev. Henry E. Herdegen was that kind of man and his sudden death came as a tremendous shock and loss to the community.

He was the "Golfing Padre" with whom we shared many happy moments on the golf course and in locker room bantering about his beloved New York Giants. Father Herdegen, born to the cloth, was cut from that mould which enables some men to rise far above others.

A real lover of sports, particularly golf and baseball, he exerted a profound influence among the young men of his parish and was a dominant force in the growth and expansion of CYO activities in Ulster county.

There are many memorable things about Father Herdegen that left an indelible impression on our mind . . . things like his picture swing in golf, a masterful introduction of Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame; his advent to the finals of the Twaalfskill Golf Club championship finals; his first "600" bowling triple, our annual treks to Wykagyl in Westchester for the annual Palm Beach Goodall tournament; his incessant practice sessions with Alex Gerlak and almost daily tours of Twaalfskill with the Rev. Father Joseph A. Geis. And countless other incidents that make the memory of his friendship, joviality and kindness one to be treasured.

A man of culture and rhetorical brilliance, Father Herdegen once introduced Coach Frank Leahy to a Kingston Athletic Association banquet with such magnificent rhetorics that the famed Notre Dame mentor, one of the great sports orators of our time, was absolutely flabbergasted upon rising before the audience.

Those who were privileged to hear Father Herdegen's introduction in person or on the radio that night will agree with us that it must surely rank among the all-time great addresses in Kingston. Its sheer brilliance and impact, its humor and profundity created a tremendous impression. We were swamped with requests for copies of the speech and many persons suggested that we publish it on the sports pages. But, there was no script. Father Herdegen had spoken extemporaneously and from the heart. We pleaded with him to sit down and try to re-create that stirring message, but he frankly admitted he could not recapture it verbatim.

As a golfer, he was above average and once battled John Van Gonsic 19 holes for the Twaalfskill championship. There developed an incident during that hectic struggle on No. 18 hole. Van Gonsic hooked his tee shot into a soft spot to the right of No. 5 fairway, just below the first level of the hill. The ball became imbedded in the soft terrain. A difference of opinion ensued as to whether the ball was in a "water hazard" or had to be played from the spot. It was an honest disagreement between John and the padre but we will never forget the dignity and firmness with which Father Herdegen pleaded his case. And Alex Gerlak, who was summoned from the clubhouse to act as arbiter, ruled in favor of Father Herdegen.

The match and title were decided on the 19th hole, when Father Herdegen's second shot from the top of the hill on No. 1 hole had apparently landed hole-high. At the last second it took a crazy bounce against the lightning-fast, late-season green and skidded across the carpet into the ditch on the other side. He took a five while Van Gonsic was down in the regulation four.

A keen student of golf and golf form, the good padre forever sough more distance. He had one of the sweetest swings and follow-throughs we have ever seen in local golf, but his frail body never produced enough distance to satisfy him. He spent hours with Alex Gerlak and must have hit thousands of balls trying to pick up those few extra yards that never came within his grasp.

He delighted in making the anual sojourn to Wykagyl Country Club in New Rochelle for the Palm Beach tournament, there to study the masters like Nelson, Hogan, Demaret and Snead. He would look on with almost boyish enthusiasm and rapture as Snead and Hogan blasted booming shots off the tees. Yet, he never had to make an apology for his swing.

Father Herdegen had an almost passionate interest in the trials and tribulations of the New York Giants, and truly they have had their share for the past 14 years. For him, like thousands of other Giant rooters, the dawn of a new season, was the dawn of new hopes, new dreams. When the Giants announced the signing of Leo Durocher as manager, we kidded him about having to wrestle with his conscience to accept Leo the Lip in the hallowed tradition of John McGraw. But invariably, he parried our jibes by painting a rosy picture about Giant pennant hopes.

Such was the man whose death is a profound loss to the community and sportsdom. We never again expect to meet anyone who will be a greater symbol of the truly great attributes in this life.

Roe Out For Week

Brooklyn, April 25 (AP)—Preacher Roe, star southpaw pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, may be lost to the team for a week. Roe aggravated a pulled leg muscle while working against the Boston Braves yesterday. He retired after the seventh inning. Trainer Doc Wendler said "I'd guess right now he'd be out at least a week, but we'll have to wait and see how much it tightens up."

Savitt Wins

Paris, April 25 (AP)—Dick Savitt of East Orange, N. J., is in the quarter finals today of the Paris International tennis tournament. The brawny netsman, sixth-ranking American player, yesterday defeated Christian Grandet of France, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4. Savitt faces France's Marcel Bernard today for the right to meet Budge Patty of Los Angeles, who already has earned a spot in the semifinals.

Pat O'Sullivan Gets Good Start

Pinehurst, N. C., April 25 (AP)—Defending champion Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and nearby Southern Pines still looked like the girl to beat as the eight-match second round of the North and South Women's amateur golf tournament got under way today.

The long-driving Miss O'Sullivan, winner of the Augusta Titleholders tournament last month, played the best golf of yesterday's opening round when she stayed even with par in winning from Mrs. W. B. Cocke, Charlotte, 4 and 3, to pace the favored performers through the opening test.

Her second round upper bracket opponent today was Carol Diringer, 8 and 7 winner over Mrs. Elizabeth Robson, Fort Wayne, Ind. Miss Diringer, who makes her home in Tiffin, Ohio, spent the past winter working at the desk of a Southern Pines resort hotel along with Miss O'Sullivan.

One of the top matches of the tournament loomed in the upper bracket pairing of Grace Lenczyk, Hartford, Conn., and medalist Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga. Each won without much trouble yesterday. Miss Lenczyk beat Mrs. George Trainor, Rochester, N. Y., 6 and 5, and Miss Faulk won from Jane Thomas, Salisbury, N. C., 5 and 3.

Joe Wilman Bids For ABC Title

St. Paul, Minn., April 25 (AP)—Joe Wilman, the latest addition to bowling's hall of fame, starts shooting for an American bowling Congress record tonight.

The veteran Berwyn, Ill., kegler, to compete in the ABC tournament tonight with the Tri-Par Radio five of Chicago in the team event, will be aiming for the individual ABC 10-year-average record of 207-1. That mark was set last week-end by Junie McMahon of Chicago.

Wilman needs a 1,759 total for his nine games. He rolls his singles and doubles Thursday.

And that doesn't seem too high a mark for the likeable Joe, who is currently sporting a 206-62 average for 90 games. He won the ABC all-events crown in 1939 with a 2,028 total and again in 1946 with a 2,054 count. He is the only man to score over 2,000 twice in the ABC all-events.

We were swamped with requests for copies of the speech and many persons suggested that we publish it on the sports pages. But, there was no script. Father Herdegen had spoken extemporaneously and from the heart. We pleaded with him to sit down and try to re-create that stirring message, but he frankly admitted he could not recapture it verbatim.

As a golfer, he was above average and once battled John Van Gonsic 19 holes for the Twaalfskill championship. There developed an incident during that hectic struggle on No. 18 hole. Van Gonsic hooked his tee shot into a soft spot to the right of No. 5 fairway, just below the first level of the hill. The ball became imbedded in the soft terrain. A difference of opinion ensued as to whether the ball was in a "water hazard" or had to be played from the spot. It was an honest disagreement between John and the padre but we will never forget the dignity and firmness with which Father Herdegen pleaded his case. And Alex Gerlak, who was summoned from the clubhouse to act as arbiter, ruled in favor of Father Herdegen.

The match and title were decided on the 19th hole, when Father Herdegen's second shot from the top of the hill on No. 1 hole had apparently landed hole-high. At the last second it took a crazy bounce against the lightning-fast late-season green and skidded across the carpet into the ditch on the other side. He took a five while Van Gonsic was down in the regulation four.

A keen student of golf and golf form, the good padre forever sough more distance. He had one of the sweetest swings and follow-throughs we have ever seen in local golf, but his frail body never produced enough distance to satisfy him. He spent hours with Alex Gerlak and must have hit thousands of balls trying to pick up those few extra yards that never came within his grasp.

He delighted in making the anual sojourn to Wykagyl Country Club in New Rochelle for the Palm Beach tournament, there to study the masters like Nelson, Hogan, Demaret and Snead. He would look on with almost boyish enthusiasm and rapture as Snead and Hogan blasted booming shots off the tees. Yet, he never had to make an apology for his swing.

Father Herdegen had an almost passionate interest in the trials and tribulations of the New York Giants, and truly they have had their share for the past 14 years. For him, like thousands of other Giant rooters, the dawn of a new season, was the dawn of new hopes, new dreams. When the Giants announced the signing of Leo Durocher as manager, we kidded him about having to wrestle with his conscience to accept Leo the Lip in the hallowed tradition of John McGraw. But invariably, he parried our jibes by painting a rosy picture about Giant pennant hopes.

Such was the man whose death is a profound loss to the community and sportsdom. We never again expect to meet anyone who will be a greater symbol of the truly great attributes in this life.

Roe Out For Week

Brooklyn, April 25 (AP)—Preacher Roe, star southpaw pitcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, may be lost to the team for a week. Roe aggravated a pulled leg muscle while working against the Boston Braves yesterday. He retired after the seventh inning. Trainer Doc Wendler said "I'd guess right now he'd be out at least a week, but we'll have to wait and see how much it tightens up."

Savitt Wins

Paris, April 25 (AP)—Dick Savitt of East Orange, N. J., is in the quarter finals today of the Paris International tennis tournament. The brawny netsman, sixth-ranking American player, yesterday defeated Christian Grandet of France, 6-3, 6-0, 6-4. Savitt faces France's Marcel Bernard today for the right to meet Budge Patty of Los Angeles, who already has earned a spot in the semifinals.

Pat O'Sullivan Gets Good Start

Pinehurst, N. C., April 25 (AP)—Defending champion Pat O'Sullivan of Orange, Conn., and nearby Southern Pines still looked like the girl to beat as the eight-match second round of the North and South Women's amateur golf tournament got under way today.

The long-driving Miss O'Sullivan, winner of the Augusta Titleholders tournament last month, played the best golf of yesterday's opening round when she stayed even with par in winning from Mrs. W. B. Cocke, Charlotte, 4 and 3, to pace the favored performers through the opening test.

Her second round upper bracket opponent today was Carol Diringer, 8 and 7 winner over Mrs. Elizabeth Robson, Fort Wayne, Ind. Miss Diringer, who makes her home in Tiffin, Ohio, spent the past winter working at the desk of a Southern Pines resort hotel along with Miss O'Sullivan.

One of the top matches of the tournament loomed in the upper bracket pairing of Grace Lenczyk, Hartford, Conn., and medalist Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga. Each won without much trouble yesterday. Miss Lenczyk beat Mrs. George Trainor, Rochester, N. Y., 6 and 5, and Miss Faulk won from Jane Thomas, Salisbury, N. C., 5 and 3.

Joe Wilman Bids For ABC Title

St. Paul, Minn., April 25 (AP)—Joe Wilman, the latest addition to bowling's hall of fame, starts shooting for an American bowling Congress record tonight.

The veteran Berwyn, Ill., kegler, to compete in the ABC tournament tonight with the Tri-Par Radio five of Chicago in the team event, will be aiming for the individual ABC 10-year-average record of 207-1. That mark was set last week-end by Junie McMahon of Chicago.

Wilman needs a 1,759 total for his nine games. He rolls his singles and doubles Thursday.

And that doesn't seem too high a mark for the likeable Joe, who is currently sporting a 206-62 average for 90 games. He won the ABC all-events crown in 1939 with a 2,028 total and again in 1946 with a 2,054 count. He is the only man to score over 2,000 twice in the ABC all-events.

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

There is no more tragic moment in life than the loss of a warm and sincere friend. The late Rev. Henry E. Herdegen was that kind of man and his sudden death came as a tremendous shock and loss to the community.

He was the "Golfing Padre" with whom we shared many happy moments on the golf course and in locker room bantering about his beloved New York Giants. Father Herdegen, born to the cloth, was cut from that mould which enables some men to rise far above others.

A real lover of sports, particularly golf and baseball, he exerted a profound influence among the young men of his parish and was a dominant force in the growth and expansion of CYO activities in Ulster county.

There are many memorable things about Father Herdegen that left an indelible impression on our mind . . . things like his picture swing in golf, a masterful introduction of Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame; his advent to the finals of the Twaalfskill Golf Club championship finals; his first "600" bowling triple, our annual treks to Wykagyl in Westchester for the annual Palm Beach Goodall tournament; his incessant practice sessions with Alex Gerlak and almost daily tours of Twaalfskill with the Rev. Father Joseph A. Geis. And countless other incidents that make the memory of his friendship, joviality and kindness one to be treasured.

A man of culture and rhetorical brilliance, Father Herdegen once introduced Coach Frank Leahy to a Kingston Athletic Association banquet with such magnificent rhetorics that the famed Notre Dame mentor, one of the great sports orators of our time, was absolutely flabbergasted upon rising before the audience.

Those who were privileged to hear Father Herdegen's introduction in person or on the radio that night will agree with us that it must surely rank among the all-time great addresses in Kingston. Its sheer brilliance and impact, its humor and profundity created a tremendous impression. We were swamped with requests for copies of the speech and many persons suggested that we publish it on the sports pages. But, there was no script. Father Herdegen had spoken extemporaneously and from the heart. We pleaded with him to sit down and try to re-create that stirring message, but he frankly admitted he could not recapture it verbatim.

High School Nine Routs Windham 16-0 for Second Straight Victory

Four Hurlers Check Losers With 3 Hits

Four Kingston High school pitchers pooled their talents for a three-hit, 16-0, shutout of Windham High, yesterday at municipal stadium for the Maroon's second straight baseball victory of the season.

The collaborators were Frank Secreto, Bert Kuhn, Joe Turck and Mousey Telepas.

Coach Bill Burke's ash wielders raked two Windham hurlers for 14 safeties and were aided and abetted by a flock of Windham miscues.

A nine-run rally in the second inning, when the Maroons scored that total with only five hits, turned the game into a rout. The Burkemen picked up a pair in the third frame, added four tallies in the fourth and closed out their activities with a solo in the sixth.

Secreto Fans Four

Secreto struck out four batters during his tenure on the mound.

Moll Leonard was the Maroon's top batter with a triple and single. Three other players—Bob Engle, Red Hinkley and Don Lyons—came up with a pair of singles.

After Kingston's nine-run outburst in the second inning, Coach Burke resorted to the two platoon system and by the end of the contest had called on 21 different players.

The Maroon is scheduled to meet Stewart Field Prep in a return game here on Monday.

Four Hurlers Check Losers With 3 Hits

Four Kingston High school pitchers pooled their talents for a three-hit, 16-0, shutout of Windham High, yesterday at municipal stadium for the Maroon's second straight baseball victory of the season.

The collaborators were Frank Secreto, Bert Kuhn, Joe Turck and Mousey Telepas.

Coach Bill Burke's ash wielders raked two Windham hurlers for 14 safeties and were aided and abetted by a flock of Windham miscues.

A nine-run rally in the second inning, when the Maroons scored that total with only five hits, turned the game into a rout. The Burkemen picked up a pair in the third frame, added four tallies in the fourth and closed out their activities with a solo in the sixth.

Secreto Fans Four

Secreto struck out four batters during his tenure on the mound.

Moll Leonard was the Maroon's top batter with a triple and single. Three other players — Bob Engle, Red Hinkley and Don Lyons—came up with a pair of singles.

After Kingston's nine-run outburst in the second inning, Coach Burke resorted to the two platoon system and by the end of the contest had called on 21 different players.

The Maroon is scheduled to meet Stewart Field Prep in a return game here on Monday.

Stengel Ill

New York, April 25 (AP)—Casey Stengel, manager of the world champion New York Yankees, was hospitalized when seized by a kidney-stone attack. In his absence coaches Jim Turner and Frankie Crosetti directed the team against the Athletics.

Mississippi Is Still Threatening In Three States

(By The Associated Press)

Levees in danger spots along the flooding Mississippi river in three midwest states appeared holding today but the danger of serious overflows had not ended.

Rain was in prospect for some of the flood areas in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. The floods, which have made some 7,500 persons homeless and threatened another 24,000, were expected to cause serious damage in downstream cities in the three states later this week.

The big stream was rising slowly at Muscatine, Ia., but levees in the city of 20,000 showed no weak spots. Across the river at Drury, Ill., where the water neared the top of the levees, workers were extending the protective wall.

The river reached a stage of 17.95 feet at Keokuk, Ia., and threatened the shutdown of some factories.

Engineers at Davenport, Ia., and nearby Rock Island, Ill., said the crest expected today would not be as high as advance predictions. But the quad-cities area of Iowa-Illinois was one of the danger spots.

Rain fell early today from eastern Kansas and eastern Nebraska northeastward to lower Michigan. Some rain was predicted for much of the north central region during the day. Light rain or snow fell in southeastern Wyoming and nearby states. Other wet spots were parts of New York state and the Pacific Coast. It was fair weather in other sections of the country.

Mild weather continued from the lower Ohio valley southward to the Gulf and in the southern plains. Temperatures were seasonable in the far southwest and the Pacific northwest. The coolest spots were the central Rockies northeastward to the Great Lakes region.

Rats settled in America from both the Atlantic and Pacific shores.

Wharton Tabulates Answers To 16 Queries by Commentator

Voters of the country are apparently losing faith in the Truman administration according to the returns in a nation-wide public opinion radio poll conducted by Fulton Lewis Jr., radio commentator, who on April 9, submitted to his listeners a series of questions designed to sound out the public pulse in regard to certain policies of the administration in Washington.

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, representative from the 30th Congressional District, has submited a tabulation of the poll in relation to the returns from his district up to April 24. The returns from this district indicate a very strong opposition to many of the Truman policies.

A copy of the 16 questions which were turned over to every member of the Senate and House of Representatives and listeners were instructed to send in to their senators and representatives "yes" and "no" answers to the questions. Approximately 1,000 replied from the 30th Congressional district with the following results:

	Yes	No
As of today would you vote for Harry Truman for President?	0	935
Should President Truman be allowed to continue to receive the $50,000 tax exempt salary recently voted him by Congress ?	28	909
Do you believe that Congress should continue investigations such as the one into RFC loans and the Kefauver crime hearings and extend those investigations into other activities of government?	893	10
Are you in favor of keeping Dean Acheson as secretary of state?	18	772
Do you favor the United Nations being in final control of United States troops in Korea or elsewhere?	79	661
Should Chiang Kai-shek be permitted to send his Nationalist armies against the Chinese Communists?	885	17
Do you feel confident that Europe will fight to the end against communism?	96	785
Do you approve of the proposed continuation of economic, along with military, aid to North Atlantic pact nations?	231	643
Would you favor a requirement that nations receiving military or economic aid from us must agree to stop trading with Russia, Communist China, or any other Iron Curtain country?	887	28
Do you believe President Truman's statement that all Comunists and Communist sympathizers have been weeded out of government?	2	884
Are you in favor of a permanent peace time program of universal military training?	591	306
Do you believe President Truman is making a sincere effort to cut out unnecessary government spending?	12	813
Should wages be controlled along with prices?	842	59
Should the government prevent strikes in time of war emergency?	879	12
Are you in favor of calling General MacArthur home for a report to Congress on the Far Eastern situation?	745	55
Are you in favor of impeaching President Truman?	795	16

Following the submission of the questions The Freeman was besieged with calls from subscribers who asked for the names of our senators and representative so they might comunicate their opinions.

Cholera Epidemic Spreads

Calcutta, India, April 25 (AP)—Authorities today sought means to check a growing epidemic of cholera which has claimed 142 lives in Calcutta during the past two weeks. Combatting the ancient scourge is complicated by general objection of inoculation against cholera and by continued sale of food from open sidewalks stalls, despite city laws prohibiting this practice.

Dog Found Drowned

On April 11 a collie dog escaped from a crate at the West Hurley station where Station Agent Martin Haggerty was feeding the animal. The dog was last seen in the neighborhood of the West Hurley Inn. Tuesday boys playing in the area discovered the dog drowned in a well. Sheriff Cluett Schantz was notified and the dog warden of the town was asked to dispose of the animal.

Historic Portrait Unveiled; Loaned By Bar Association

Members of the Board of Trustees of the Senate House Association were hosts Tuesday afternoon at the Senate House Museum to members of the Ulster County Bar Association, state officials and guests at a reception commemorating the restoration by the Senate House Association of the large portrait of DeWitt Clinton by Ezra Eames.

The canvas, which is the property of the Ulster County Bar Association, formerly was in the county court house and has been loaned to the Senate House group for hanging in the Governors' Room at the museum on Fair street, this city.

The painting was taken to New York during the winter and a complete restoration project was done, including the addition of a new and suitable frame. Restoration experts at the Milch Galleries did the work.

Davis Makes Presentation

The presentation was made by Attorney Arthur Davis, president of the bar association, who pointed out that DeWitt Clinton, in addition to being a governor of New York state and a United States Senator, was a former student at Kingston Academy and was a member of the Ulster County Bar Association. He spoke of the pleasure which the law body felt in making the loan for the Senate House Association's valuable collection, which includes the most complete grouping of John Vanderlyn paintings anywhere.

Acceptance on behalf of the Senate House Association was made by Richard O. Gruver, secretary, who thanked the Ulster County Bar Association for its generosity. Gratitude also was expressed to the State of New York National Bank, whose board of directors loaned a Vanderlyn portrait of Jacob Burhans, former bank official, and to the Metropolitan Museum of Art for the loan of the Vanderlyn self-portrait.

The public is invited to view the paintings.

Officials Are Present

Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Albert Corey and Dr. and Mrs. Carl E. Guthe, of Albany. Dr. Corey is state historian and Dr. Guthe is director of the New York State Museum.

Former Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, confidential assistant to Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, represented the senator's office. Senator and Mrs. Wicks at present are on vacation in Florida.

Bus Drivers Strike

Glasgow, Scotland, April 25 (AP)—Bus conductors went on a "free fares for all" strike last night. But the sudden rush of thousands seeking free rides was more than any true Scot could stand. The conductors, who had been protesting against the dismissal of one of the number, called the whole thing off at midnight and hurriedly started collecting fares.

Historic Portrait Unveiled; Loaned By Bar Association

Members of the Board of Trustees of the Senate House Association were hosts Tuesday afternoon at the Senate House Museum to members of the Ulster County Bar Association, state officials and guests at a reception commemorating the restoration by the Senate House Association of the large portrait of DeWitt Clinton by Ezra Eames.

The canvas, which is the property of the Ulster County Bar Association, formerly was in the county court house and has been loaned to the Senate House group for hanging in the Governors' Room at the museum on Fair street, this city.

The painting was taken to New York during the winter and a complete restoration project was done, including the addition of a new and suitable frame. Restoration experts at the Milch Galleries did the work.

Davis Makes Presentation

The presentation was made by Attorney Arthur Davis, president of the bar association, who pointed out that DeWitt Clinton, in addition to being a governor of New York state and a United States Senator, was a former student at Kingston Academy and was a member of the Ulster County Bar Association. He spoke of the pleasure which the law body felt in making the loan for the Senate House Association's valuable collection, which includes the most complete grouping of John Vanderlyn paintings anywhere.

Acceptance on behalf of the Senate House Association was made by Richard O. Gruver, secretary, who thanked the Ulster County Bar Association for its generosity. Gratitude also was expressed to the State of New York National Bank, whose board of directors loaned a Vanderlyn portrait of Jacob Burhans, former bank official, and to the Metropolitan Museum of Art for the loan of the Vanderlyn self-portrait.

The public is invited to view the paintings.

Officials Are Present

Among those present were Dr. and Mrs. Albert Corey and Dr. and Mrs. Carl E. Guthe, of Albany. Dr. Corey is state historian and Dr. Guthe is director of the New York State Museum.

Former Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman, confidential assistant to Senate Majority Leader Arthur H. Wicks, represented the senator's office. Senator and Mrs. Wicks at present are on vacation in Florida.

Bus Drivers Strike

Glasgow, Scotland, April 25 (AP)—Bus conductors went on a "free fares for all" strike last night. But the sudden rush of thousands seeking free rides was more than any true Scot could stand. The conductors, who had been protesting against the dismissal of one of the number, called the whole thing off at midnight and hurriedly started collecting fares.

Mississippi Is Still Threatening In Three States

(By The Associated Press)

Levees in danger spots along the flooding Mississippi river in three midwest states appeared holding today but the danger of serious overflows had not ended.

Rain was in prospect for some of the flood areas in Iowa, Illinois and Missouri. The floods, which have made some 7,500 persons homeless and threatened another 24,000, were expected to cause serious damage in downstream cities in the three states later this week.

The big stream was rising slowly at Muscatine, Ia., but levees in the city of 20,000 showed no weak spots. Across the river at Drury, Ill., where the water neared the top of the levees, workers were extending the protective wall.

The river reached a stage of 17.95 feet at Keokuk, Ia., and threatened the shutdown of some factories.

Engineers at Davenport, Ia., and nearby Rock Island, Ill., said the crest expected today would not be as high as advance predictions. But the quad-cities area of Iowa-Illinois was one of the danger spots.

Rain fell early today from eastern Kansas and eastern Nebraska northeastward to lower Michigan. Some rain was predicted for much of the north central region during the day. Light rain or snow fell in southeastern Wyoming and nearby states. Other wet spots were parts of New York state and the Pacific Coast. It was fair weather in other sections of the country.

Mild weather continued from the lower Ohio valley southward to the Gulf and in the southern plains. Temperatures were seasonable in the far southwest and the Pacific northwest. The coolest spots were the central Rockies northeastward to the Great Lakes region.

Rats settled in America from both the Atlantic and Pacific shores.

Wharton Tabulates Answers To 16 Queries by Commentator

Voters of the country are apparently losing faith in the Truman administration according to the returns in a nation-wide public opinion radio poll conducted by Fulton Lewis Jr., radio commentator, who on April 9, submitted to his listeners a series of questions designed to sound out the public pulse in regard to certain policies of the administration in Washington.

Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, representative from the 30th Congressional District, has submited a tabulation of the poll in relation to the returns from his district up to April 24. The returns from this district indicate a very strong opposition to many of the Truman policies.

A copy of the 16 questions which were turned over to every member of the Senate and House of Representatives and listeners were instructed to send in to their senators and representatives "yes" and "no" answers to the questions. Approximately 1,000 replied from the 30th Congressional district with the following results:

	Yes	No
As of today would you vote for Harry Truman for President?	0	935
Should President Truman be allowed to continue to receive the $50,000 tax exempt salary recently voted him by Congress ?	28	909
Do you believe that Congress should continue investigations such as the one into RFC loans and the Kefauver crime hearings and extend those investigations into other activities of government?	893	10
Are you in favor of keeping Dean Acheson as secretary of state?	18	772
Do you favor the United Nations being in final control of United States troops in Korea or elsewhere?	79	661
Should Chiang Kai-shek be permitted to send his Nationalist armies against the Chinese Communists?	885	17
Do you feel confident that Europe will fight to the end against communism?	96	785
Do you approve of the proposed continuation of economic, along with military, aid to North Atlantic pact nations?	231	643
Would you favor a requirement that nations receiving military or economic aid from us must agree to stop trading with Russia, Communist China, or any other Iron Curtain country?	887	28
Do you believe President Truman's statement that all Comunists and Communist sympathizers have been weeded out of government?	2	884
Are you in favor of a permanent peace time program of universal military training?	591	306
Do you believe President Truman is making a sincere effort to cut out unnecessary government spending?	12	813
Should wages be controlled along with prices?	842	59
Should the government prevent strikes in time of war emergency?	879	12
Are you in favor of calling General MacArthur home for a report to Congress on the Far Eastern situation?	745	55
Are you in favor of impeaching President Truman?	795	16

Following the submission of the questions The Freeman was besieged with calls from subscribers who asked for the names of our senators and representative so they might comunicate their opinions.

Cholera Epidemic Spreads

Calcutta, India, April 25 (AP)—Authorities today sought means to check a growing epidemic of cholera which has claimed 142 lives in Calcutta during the past two weeks. Combatting the ancient scourge is complicated by general objection of inoculation against cholera and by continued sale of food from open sidewalks stalls, despite city laws prohibiting this practice.

Dog Found Drowned

On April 11 a collie dog escaped from a crate at the West Hurley station where Station Agent Martin Haggerty was feeding the animal. The dog was last seen in the neighborhood of the West Hurley Inn. Tuesday boys playing in the area discovered the dog drowned in a well. Sheriff Cluett Schantz was notified and the dog warden of the town was asked to dispose of the animal.

Says Threat Was Made

Los Angeles, April 25 (AP)—Pola Negri, onetime actress, says she was threatened with bodily harm if she failed to pay New York perfumer Gas Fragus $4,475. Fragus filed suit two weeks ago saying he loaned that amount to Miss Negri. She promised to pay him after she sold some jewels Nazis abandoned in her village in France, he said, but later told him she made up the story to obtain the money. In an answer to the suit, Miss Negri said yesterday she didn't owe Fragus any money. Besides, she said, he waited too long to have the legal right to collect the alleged debt. Fragus said he made the loans between March 1, 1946 and Feb. 9, 1948.

sidewalks to be repaired at the cost of the adjacent owner. To compel everyone to have a sidewalk as smooth as a ballroom floor would involve a tremendous cost to property owners without a commensurate benefit to the public at large.

"One of the practical difficulties that confronts us under the existing law is that a person has ninety days within which to file a claim against the city. Many people wait until near the end of the ninety day period to file a claim, and in such cases the first time the city has knowledge of a sidewalk fall is almost ninety days after the accident. Investigation by the city at that time is most difficult. The ninety day period cannot be changed by the City of Kingston since state law governs, and I merely advert to it in order to present a difficulty that confronts us.

"The liability of the city in sidewalk cases can be regulated by statute. At the present time Local Law No. 1 of the Laws of 1925 imposes conditions upon suits against the city because of falls on sidewalks resulting from snow and ice. No limitations are imposed on suits because of falls from allegedy defective sidewalks.

"I have made some investigation of the law in other cities and find that many cities have limited their liability.

"For example, Section 200 of the charter of the City of Poughkeepsie provides:

"'Sec. 200. The City of Poughkeepsie shall not be liable for the damage or injury sustained by any person in consequence of any street, highway, bridge, culvert, sidewalk or crosswalk in said city being out of repair, unsafe, dangerous, or obstructed by snow, ice or otherwise, in any way or manner, unless actual notice of the defective, unsafe, dangerous or obstructed condition of said street, highway, bridge, culvert or crosswalk shall have been given to the superintendent of public works or the superintendent of streets, of said city, at least twenty-four hours previous to such damage or injury.'

"I point out the above as illustrative, and do not suggest the adoption of the exact language since it includes all falls, and falls from snow and ice are already covered in our Charter.

"The City of Geneva has adopted the following local law:

"'No civil action shall be maintained against the City for damages or injuries to person or property sustained in consequence of a defective or unsafe condition of any sidewalk, street, highway, crosswalk, grating, opening, bridge, culvert, drain or sewer unless, previous to the occurrence resulting in such damage or injuries, written notice of the defective or unsafe condition relating to the particular place, shall have been filed in the office of the board of public works of the city and it shall be made to appear that there was a failure or neglect to remedy such condition within a reasonable time after the filing of such notice.'

"This statute has been approved by the courts. See: Ellis v. City of Geneva, 259 App. Div. 502 (Fourth Dept., 1940); affirmed by Court of Appeals, 288 N. Y. 478 (1942).

"I recommend a study of the advisability of a new local law limiting liability in sidewalk fall cases.

"Respectfully submitted,
"JAMES G. CONNELLY
"Corporation Counsel."

begin to settle down. They're not swayed so easily. They have a better understanding of what they want to do. They pay closer attention to what a teacher says and they don't accept his conclusions without thinking them through for themselves."

Achieve Independence

Service in the armed forces has shown, says Case, that young men placed on their own for a year or two achieved relative independence and proved themselves while away from their families.

"The army," he pointed out, "supplied the elements of responsibility that were once a part of family life."

Case said colleges have long recognized immaturity as one cause of failure.

"Many educators have suspended such youth and told them to go out and get a job; gain maturity and learn responsibility before they would be permitted to return to college. It worked, too. When reinstated, these men backed by a motivation they lacked earlier, set a more rapid pace and achieved high scholastic standing."

Another Side Mentioned

There is another side to the situation, however:

"In many instances (veteran) students are less interested in obtaining an education than in the benefits of a degree. During the war they saw how college men were preferred as officers; how the best jobs went to men with degrees. That's why enrollments in business administration and engineering skyrocketed. That is why many veterans scoffed at the arts and social science courses."

Why place such great emphasis on maturity?

"Because," said Case, "the man in college has an obligation greater than merely passing his course work. He must prepare to live not only with himself, but with his associates and neighbors. Education should provide a guide and pattern for life as well."

reappeared and showed the proof sought by Thomas, the apostle believed and said: "My Lord and my God.")

Earlier in the interview, Whitney said that all top army, navy and air commanders in Korea had shared MacArthur's desire to use Chinese Nationalist troops. He said these included MacArthur's successor, Lt. Gen. Matthew Ridgway.

Whitney also said he "assumed" MacArthur included Gen. Omar Bradley in his reference before Congress last week about the joint chiefs of staff.

Bradley 'Shared' Views

MacArthur had said he understood his views on the Far East were shared from a military standpoint "in the past" by the joint chiefs of staff, of which Bradley is chairman.

Bradley, without mentioning MacArthur's name, expressed his opposition to the MacArthur viewpoint in Chicago last week.

Whitney also told reporters yesterday that "approval by the joint chiefs of staff" came "some time after Red China entered the war."

Details of MacArthur's visits with Taft and Luce were scanty.

The senator said he happened to be at the Waldorf-Astoria as a guest of a newspaper publisher and just paid a "courtesy call" on MacArthur.

Taft said he spent "10 or 15 minutes" with MacArthur.

Whitney said Luce spent "10 or 15 minutes" with the general, calling at a different hour than Taft. Luce's visit also was described as a "courtesy call."

MacArthur leaves tomorrow for a reception in Chicago, followed by a welcome ceremony in Milwaukee Friday. He will participate in a "Loyalty Day" parade here on Saturday.

Then on Monday, his 14th wedding anniversary, he goes to Mrs. MacArthur's home-town, Murfreesboro, Tenn., for a day-long flying visit.

On Thursday, May 3, he is to appear before two Senate committees investigating the Far East situation.

Tuttle Is President Of Republican Club

New York, April 25 (AP)—Charles H. Tuttle, one-time candidate for governor of New York, was elected president of the National Republican Club last night. He received 832 votes to 585 for his opponent, Victor D. Werner, the retiring first vice president.

Tuttle succeeds Bernard Katzen, who retired after heading the club for the last two years.

Tuttle, counsel to the State Agricultural Commission, was the regular candidate of the club's nominating committee. Werner, a Manhattan attorney, ran as an independent.

Elected without opposition were: Kurt Reisinger, first vice president; Daniel J. Reisner, Jr., second vice president; George Reilly, third vice president; William Luman, of 1181 Post Road, Scarsdale, N. Y. corresponding secretary; John Evans, of Westfield, N. J., recording secretary; and Samuel Lehrer, treasurer.

Tuttle served as United States attorney for the southern district of New York under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, resigning to run for governor in 1930. His term as head of the club begins immediately and continues for one year.

The club is social in character, and is not an official organ of the Republican Party.

12 Firemen Are Hurt

Rochester, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—The interior of a downtown furniture store was wrecked last night in a two-hour fire in which 12 firemen were injured. There was no official damage figure but estimates ran as high as $500,000. The building, at the corner of State and Church streets, was occupied by the Union Outfitting Co., Inc. The first two floors were used as furniture showrooms and the other four floors for storage. Three of the injured firemen were hospitalized, but none was reported in serious condition.

Says Threat Was Made

Los Angeles, April 25 (AP)—Pola Negri, onetime actress, says she was threatened with bodily harm if she failed to pay New York perfumer Gas Fragus $4,475. Fragus filed suit two weeks ago saying he loaned that amount to Miss Negri. She promised to pay him after she sold some jewels Nazis abandoned in her village in France, he said, but later told him she made up the story to obtain the money. In an answer to the suit, Miss Negri said yesterday she didn't owe Fragus any money. Besides, she said, he waited too long to have the legal right to collect the alleged debt. Fragus said he made the loans between March 1, 1946 and Feb. 9, 1948.

sidewalks to be repaired at the cost of the adjacent owner. To compel everyone to have a sidewalk as smooth as a ballroom floor would involve a tremendous cost to property owners without a commensurate benefit to the public at large.

"One of the practical difficulties that confronts us under the existing law is that a person has ninety days within which to file a claim against the city. Many people wait until near the end of the ninety day period to file a claim, and in such cases the first time the city has knowledge of a sidewalk fall is almost ninety days after the accident. Investigation by the city at that time is most difficult. The ninety day period cannot be changed by the City of Kingston since state law governs, and I merely advert to it in order to present a difficulty that confronts us.

"The liability of the city in sidewalk cases can be regulated by statute. At the present time Local Law No. 1 of the Laws of 1925 imposes conditions upon suits against the city because of falls on sidewalks resulting from snow and ice. No limitations are imposed on suits because of falls from allegedy defective sidewalks.

"I have made some investigation of the law in other cities and find that many cities have limited their liability.

"For example, Section 200 of the charter of the City of Poughkeepsie provides:

"'Sec. 200. The City of Poughkeepsie shall not be liable for the damage or injury sustained by any person in consequence of any street, highway, bridge, culvert, sidewalk or crosswalk in said city being out of repair, unsafe, dangerous, or obstructed by snow, ice or otherwise, in any way or manner, unless actual notice of the defective, unsafe, dangerous or obstructed condition of said street, highway, bridge, culvert or crosswalk shall have been given to the superintendent of public works or the superintendent of streets, of said city, at least twenty-four hours previous to such damage or injury.'

"I point out the above as illustrative, and do not suggest the adoption of the exact language since it includes all falls, and falls from snow and ice are already covered in our Charter.

"The City of Geneva has adopted the following local law:

"'No civil action shall be maintained against the City for damages or injuries to person or property sustained in consequence of a defective or unsafe condition of any sidewalk, street, highway, crosswalk, grating, opening, bridge, culvert, drain or sewer unless, previous to the occurrence resulting in such damage or injuries, written notice of the defective or unsafe condition relating to the particular place, shall have been filed in the office of the board of public works of the city and it shall be made to appear that there was a failure or neglect to remedy such condition within a reasonable time after the filing of such notice.'

"This statute has been approved by the courts. See: Ellis v. City of Geneva, 259 App. Div. 502 (Fourth Dept., 1940); affirmed by Court of Appeals, 288 N. Y. 478 (1942).

"I recommend a study of the advisability of a new local law limiting liability in sidewalk fall cases.

"Respectfully submitted,
"JAMES G. CONNELLY
"Corporation Counsel."

begin to settle down. They're not swayed so easily. They have a better understanding of what they want to do. They pay closer attention to what a teacher says and they don't accept his conclusions without thinking them through for themselves."

Achieve Independence

Service in the armed forces has shown, says Case, that young men placed on their own for a year or two achieved relative independence and proved themselves while away from their families.

"The army," he pointed out, "supplied the elements of responsibility that were once a part of family life."

Case said colleges have long recognized immaturity as one cause of failure.

"Many educators have suspended such youth and told them to go out and get a job; gain maturity and learn responsibility before they would be permitted to return to college. It worked, too. When reinstated, these men backed by a motivation they lacked earlier, set a more rapid pace and achieved high scholastic standing."

Another Side Mentioned

There is another side to the situation, however:

"In many instances (veteran) students are less interested in obtaining an education than in the benefits of a degree. During the war they saw how college men were preferred as officers; how the best jobs went to men with degrees. That's why enrollments in business administration and engineering skyrocketed. That is why many veterans scoffed at the arts and social science courses."

Why place such great emphasis on maturity?

"Because," said Case, "the man in college has an obligation greater than merely passing his course work. He must prepare to live not only with himself, but with his associates and neighbors. Education should provide a guide and pattern for life as well."

reappeared and showed the proof sought by Thomas, the apostle believed and said: "My Lord and my God.")

Earlier in the interview, Whitney said that all top army, navy and air commanders in Korea had shared MacArthur's desire to use Chinese Nationalist troops. He said these included MacArthur's successor, Lt. Gen. Matthew Ridgway.

Whitney also said he "assumed" MacArthur included Gen. Omar Bradley in his reference before Congress last week about the joint chiefs of staff.

Bradley 'Shared' Views

MacArthur had said he understood his views on the Far East were shared from a military standpoint "in the past" by the joint chiefs of staff, of which Bradley is chairman.

Bradley, without mentioning MacArthur's name, expressed his opposition to the MacArthur viewpoint in Chicago last week.

Whitney also told reporters yesterday that "approval by the joint chiefs of staff" came "some time after Red China entered the war."

Details of MacArthur's visits with Taft and Luce were scanty.

The senator said he happened to be at the Waldorf-Astoria as a guest of a newspaper publisher and just paid a "courtesy call" on MacArthur.

Taft said he spent "10 or 15 minutes" with MacArthur.

Whitney said Luce spent "10 or 15 minutes" with the general, calling at a different hour than Taft. Luce's visit also was described as a "courtesy call."

MacArthur leaves tomorrow for a reception in Chicago, followed by a welcome ceremony in Milwaukee Friday. He will participate in a "Loyalty Day" parade here on Saturday.

Then on Monday, his 14th wedding anniversary, he goes to Mrs. MacArthur's home-town, Murfreesboro, Tenn., for a day-long flying visit.

On Thursday, May 3, he is to appear before two Senate committees investigating the Far East situation.

Tuttle Is President Of Republican Club

New York, April 25 (AP)—Charles H. Tuttle, one-time candidate for governor of New York, was elected president of the National Republican Club last night. He received 832 votes to 585 for his opponent, Victor D. Werner, the retiring first vice president.

Tuttle succeeds Bernard Katzen, who retired after heading the club for the last two years.

Tuttle, counsel to the State Agricultural Commission, was the regular candidate of the club's nominating committee. Werner, a Manhattan attorney, ran as an independent.

Elected without opposition were: Kurt Reisinger, first vice president; Daniel J. Reisner, Jr., second vice president; George Reilly, third vice president; William Luman, of 1181 Post Road, Scarsdale, N. Y. corresponding secretary; John Evans, of Westfield, N. J., recording secretary; and Samuel Lehrer, treasurer.

Tuttle served as United States attorney for the southern district of New York under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, resigning to run for governor in 1930. His term as head of the club begins immediately and continues for one year.

The club is social in character, and is not an official organ of the Republican Party.

12 Firemen Are Hurt

Rochester, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—The interior of a downtown furniture store was wrecked last night in a two-hour fire in which 12 firemen were injured. There was no official damage figure but estimates ran as high as $500,000. The building, at the corner of State and Church streets, was occupied by the Union Outfitting Co., Inc. The first two floors were used as furniture showrooms and the other four floors for storage. Three of the injured firemen were hospitalized, but none was reported in serious condition.

Says Threat Was Made

Los Angeles, April 25 (AP)—Pola Negri, onetime actress, says she was threatened with bodily harm if she failed to pay New York perfumer Gas Fragus $4,475. Fragus filed suit two weeks ago saying he loaned that amount to Miss Negri. She promised to pay him after she sold some jewels Nazis abandoned in her village in France, he said, but later told him she made up the story to obtain the money. In an answer to the suit, Miss Negri said yesterday she didn't owe Fragus any money. Besides, she said, he waited too long to have the legal right to collect the alleged debt. Fragus said he made the loans between March 1, 1946 and Feb. 9, 1948.

Corporation Counsel Asks . . .

sidewalks to be repaired at the cost of the adjacent owner. To compel everyone to have a sidewalk as smooth as a ballroom floor would involve a tremendous cost to property owners without a commensurate benefit to the public at large.

"One of the practical difficulties that confronts us under the existing law is that a person has ninety days within which to file a claim against the city. Many people wait until near the end of the ninety day period to file a claim, and in such cases the first time the city has knowledge of a sidewalk fall is almost ninety days after the accident. Investigation by the city at that time is most difficult. The ninety day period cannot be changed by the City of Kingston since state law governs, and I merely advert to it in order to present a difficulty that confronts us.

"The liability of the city in sidewalk cases can be regulated by statute. At the present time Local Law No. 1 of the Laws of 1925 imposes conditions upon suits against the city because of falls on sidewalks resulting from snow and ice. No limitations are imposed on suits because of falls from allegedy defective sidewalks.

"I have made some investigation of the law in other cities and find that many cities have limited their liability.

"For example, Section 200 of the charter of the City of Poughkeepsie provides:

"'Sec. 200. The City of Poughkeepsie shall not be liable for the damage or injury sustained by any person in consequence of any street, highway, bridge, culvert, sidewalk or crosswalk in said city being out of repair, unsafe, dangerous, or obstructed by snow, ice or otherwise, in any way or manner, unless actual notice of the defective, unsafe, dangerous or obstructed condition of said street, highway, bridge, culvert or crosswalk shall have been given to the superintendent of public works or the superintendent of streets, of said city, at least twenty-four hours previous to such damage or injury.'

"I point out the above as illustrative, and do not suggest the adoption of the exact language since it includes all falls, and falls from snow and ice are already covered in our Charter.

"The City of Geneva has adopted the following local law:

"'No civil action shall be maintained against the City for damages or injuries to person or property sustained in consequence of a defective or unsafe condition of any sidewalk, street, highway, crosswalk, grating, opening, bridge, culvert, drain or sewer unless, previous to the occurrence resulting in such damage or injuries, written notice of the defective or unsafe condition relating to the particular place, shall have been filed in the office of the board of public works of the city and it shall be made to appear that there was a failure or neglect to remedy such condition within a reasonable time after the filing of such notice.'

"This statute has been approved by the courts. See: Ellis v. City of Geneva, 259 App. Div. 502 (Fourth Dept., 1940); affirmed by Court of Appeals, 288 N. Y. 478 (1942).

"I recommend a study of the advisability of a new local law limiting liability in sidewalk fall cases.

"Respectfully submitted,
"JAMES G. CONNELLY
"Corporation Counsel."

begin to settle down. They're not swayed so easily. They have a better understanding of what they want to do. They pay closer attention to what a teacher says and they don't accept his conclusions without thinking them through for themselves."

Achieve Independence

Service in the armed forces has shown, says Case, that young men placed on their own for a year or two achieved relative independence and proved themselves while away from their families.

"The army," he pointed out, "supplied the elements of responsibility that were once a part of family life."

Case said colleges have long recognized immaturity as one cause of failure.

"Many educators have suspended such youth and told them to go out and get a job; gain maturity and learn responsibility before they would be permitted to return to college. It worked, too. When reinstated, these men backed by a motivation they lacked earlier, set a more rapid pace and achieved high scholastic standing."

Another Side Mentioned

There is another side to the situation, however:

"In many instances (veteran) students are less interested in obtaining an education than in the benefits of a degree. During the war they saw how college men were preferred as officers; how the best jobs went to men with degrees. That's why enrollments in business administration and engineering skyrocketed. That is why many veterans scoffed at the arts and social science courses."

Why place such great emphasis on maturity?

"Because," said Case, "the man in college has an obligation greater than merely passing his course work. He must prepare to live not only with himself, but with his associates and neighbors. Education should provide a guide and pattern for life as well."

About 444,000 acres of sweet potatoes are expected to be grown on U. S. farms in 1951.

Aide Says General

reappeared and showed the proof sought by Thomas, the apostle believed and said: "My Lord and my God.")

Earlier in the interview, Whitney said that all top army, navy and air commanders in Korea had shared MacArthur's desire to use Chinese Nationalist troops. He said these included MacArthur's successor, Lt. Gen. Matthew Ridgway.

Whitney also said he "assumed" MacArthur included Gen. Omar Bradley in his reference before Congress last week about the joint chiefs of staff.

Bradley 'Shared' Views

MacArthur had said he understood his views on the Far East were shared from a military standpoint "in the past" by the joint chiefs of staff, of which Bradley is chairman.

Bradley, without mentioning MacArthur's name, expressed his opposition to the MacArthur viewpoint in Chicago last week.

Whitney also told reporters yesterday that "approval by the joint chiefs of staff" came "some time after Red China entered the war."

Details of MacArthur's visits with Taft and Luce were scanty.

The senator said he happened to be at the Waldorf-Astoria as a guest of a newspaper publisher and just paid a "courtesy call" on MacArthur.

Taft said he spent "10 or 15 minutes" with MacArthur.

Whitney said Luce spent "10 or 15 minutes" with the general, calling at a different hour than Taft. Luce's visit also was described as a "courtesy call."

MacArthur leaves tomorrow for a reception in Chicago, followed by a welcome ceremony in Milwaukee Friday. He will participate in a "Loyalty Day" parade here on Saturday.

Then on Monday, his 14th wedding anniversary, he goes to Mrs. MacArthur's home-town, Murfreesboro, Tenn., for a day-long flying visit.

On Thursday, May 3, he is to appear before two Senate committees investigating the Far East situation.

Tuttle Is President Of Republican Club

New York, April 25 (AP)—Charles H. Tuttle, one-time candidate for governor of New York, was elected president of the National Republican Club last night. He received 832 votes to 585 for his opponent, Victor D. Werner, the retiring first vice president.

Tuttle succeeds Bernard Katzen, who retired after heading the club for the last two years.

Tuttle, counsel to the State Agricultural Commission, was the regular candidate of the club's nominating committee. Werner, a Manhattan attorney, ran as an independent.

Elected without opposition were: Kurt Reisinger, first vice president; Daniel J. Reisner, Jr., second vice president; George Reilly, third vice president; William Luman, of 1181 Post Road, Scarsdale, N. Y., corresponding secretary; John Evans, of Westfield, N. J., recording secretary; and Samuel Lehrer, treasurer.

Tuttle served as United States attorney for the southern district of New York under Presidents Coolidge and Hoover, resigning to run for governor in 1930. His term as head of the club begins immediately and continues for one year.

The club is social in character, and is not an official organ of the Republican Party.

12 Firemen Are Hurt

Rochester, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—The interior of a downtown furniture store was wrecked last night in a two-hour fire in which 12 firemen were injured. There was no official damage figure but estimates ran as high as $500,000. The building, at the corner of State and Church streets, was occupied by the Union Outfitting Co., Inc. The first two floors were used as furniture showrooms and the other four floors for storage. Three of the injured firemen were hospitalized, but none was reported in serious condition.

Most of New York To Use 'Fast' Time Beginning Sunday

Albany, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—Most of New York state will go on Daylight Saving Time at 2 a. m. Sunday—the bitter wrangling of past years apparently all but forgotten.

Protest to "fast" time still come from farmers, who claim cows refuse to adjust their milking schedules to the "newfangled" system. But the practice of setting clocks ahead an hour to take advantage of summer daylight has won over most of the Empire State's 15,000,000 people.

Only some rural towns in northern and western New York are expected to observe Standard Time this summer. ....

Daylight Time was a big issue after World War One. It had been adopted nationally by Congress in 1917 to give people more time to work in their "war gardens" and to help conserve fuel and power.

Powerful farm groups convinced Congress to end the experiment in 1919, but many sections of New England and the Middle Atlantic States clung to it.

New York's Legislature made it mandatory for the entire state in 1920. But that raised a storm of protests in upstate rural areas.

The mandatory law was repealed in 1921. The repeal bill, however, provided that each city, town and village could use the time, if it wished, beginning not earlier than the last Sunday in March, and ending not later than the last Sunday in October.

Sporadic attempts have been made to change or kill the basic law. All have failed.

Daylight Saving Time was restored temporarily by Congress on a national, year-around basis during World War 2.

County Had 36,742

the state of New York on December 31, 1950 was 3,882,155 for which fees of $75,430,151.22 was paid in to the state for registration and other fees, including chauffeurs' and operators' licenses.

The total number of operator licenses in force in the state as of December 31, 1950, was 4,000,385 and chauffeur licenses in force at that time was 1,212,722. There were also 76,884 junior operator licenses, making a total of 5,279,991 persons in the state having licenses to operate vehicles. Since chauffeur and operator licenses are now issued for a three-year term there is annually a large number being renewed.

In the state there were 9 snowmobiles licensed. Driving schools, including 80 private Service Bureaus, contributed a total of $4,050 in fees. The total number of dealers in the state, including 325 transporters, is 7,428, of which 1,915 are located in New York city. The county having the lowest number of dealers is Hamilton with a listing of only seven dealers.

A copy of the motor vehicle and motorcycle registrations, chauffeur and operators licenses together with a complete breakdown of the fees collected and the deductions and net amount for distribution in the state has been received by County Treasurer John T. Groves from the New York State Department of Taxation and Finance, Bureau of Motor Vehicles. This list shows the facts by counties in a complete "breakdown" table.

Most of New York To Use 'Fast' Time Beginning Sunday

Albany, N. Y., April 25 (AP)—Most of New York state will go on Daylight Saving Time at 2 a. m. Sunday—the bitter wrangling of past years apparently all but forgotten.

Protest to "fast" time still come from farmers, who claim cows refuse to adjust their milking schedules to the "newfangled" system. But the practice of setting clocks ahead an hour to take advantage of summer daylight has won over most of the Empire State's 15,000,000 people.

Only some rural towns in northern and western New York are expected to observe Standard Time this summer.

Daylight Time was a big issue after World War One. It had been adopted nationally by Congress in 1917 to give people more time to work in their "war gardens" and to help conserve fuel and power.

Powerful farm groups convinced Congress to end the experiment in 1919, but many sections of New England and the Middle Atlantic States clung to it.

NEXT WINTER CAN BE COMFORTABLE, TOO
You people who bought your fuel oil from us had nice warm houses last winter, didn't you? Even though there was lots of snow, ice and cold, our trucks kept oil in your tanks and the quality of the fuel oil was right for dependable, efficient oil-burner operation. That's so, isn't it . . . even if we do say so ourselves?
AND TO MAKE SURE THAT NEXT WINTER IS COMFORTABLE, TOO,
HERE ARE 2 IMPORTANT THINGS YOU CAN DO NOW:
1. HAVE YOUR OIL BURNER SERVICED FOR CARE-FREE, EFFICIENT OPERATION NEXT WINTER.
2. HAVE YOUR TANK FILLED NOW. It will help you budget your fuel cost over the year. And a full tank helps prevent condensation and rust.

2 Big Reasons Why
Pittsburgh SUN-PROOF
House Paint Looks Better Longer!
1. Resists coal smoke and industrial fumes! 2. Washes itself with each rain!

• There's longer wear in every brushful of new SUN-PROOF house paint. Not only does it give you a film of unusual whiteness, but it really stays whiter longer!
Coal smoke or industrial fumes will not darken or discolor SUN-PROOF because it's fume-proof. That's why it's especially good for painting homes in industrial areas where paint is often attacked by factory gases. SUN-PROOF is self-cleaning, too—surface dirt is carried off with each rain. Special "Vitolized Oils" keep paint film tough and elastic, providing long-lasting live-paint protection.
